Selvanathan,2024-07-05 This book analyzes consumption patterns in Asian countries that are at different stages of economic development and highlights the similarities and disparities of consumption patterns across countries using a system wide framework In a departure from previous studies in the literature which mainly present only single country analysis this book aims to provide a comprehensive analysis of cross country consumption patterns considering several Asian countries using the most recent consumption expenditure data for aggregate commodity groups In comparing consumption patterns across countries the book use unit free measurements such as budget shares and changes in logarithms of price and quantities thus avoiding problems associated with exchange rate conversions The book also analyses the dynamic behaviour in the consumption patterns of the Asian consumers The findings of this book will be invaluable to researchers in development economics as well as policymakers in the formulation of fiscal policy or other types of economic control

Rao,E.A. Selvanathan,2016-07-27 An authoritative survey with exciting new insights of special interest to economists and econometricians who analyse intertemporal and interspatial price relationships Professor Angus Maddison Groningen University This book presents a comprehensive review of recent developments in the theory and construction of index numbers using the stochastic approach demonstrating the versatility of this approach in handling various index number problems within a single conceptual framework It also contains a brief but complete review of the existing approaches to index numbers with illustrative numerical examples The stochastic approach considers the index number problem as a signal extraction problem The strength and reliability of the signal extracted from price and quantity changes for different commodities depends upon the messages received and the information content of the messages The most important applications of the new approach are to be found in the context of measuring rate of inflation fixed and chain base index numbers for temporal comparisons and for spatial intercountry comparisons the latter generally require special index number formulae that result in transitive and base invariant comparisons International Bibliography of Economics 1994
