Regulation And The Nature Of Postal And Delivery Services:

Regulation and the Nature of Postal and Delivery Services Michael A. Crew, Paul R. Kleindorfer, 2012-12-06 This book is based on a conference on Regulation and the Evolving Nature of Postal and Delivery Services 1992 and Beyond held at Village PTT La Londe les Maures France on March 18 1992 Leading practitioners worldwide postal administrations and the express delivery industry as well as a number of regulators academic economists and lawyers examine the important policy and regulatory issues facing the postal and delivery industries This includes such issues as international postal policy and the role of the Universal Postal Union regulation and terminal dues competition entry and the role of scale and scope economies the nature and role of costs analysis in postal service productivity and service standards Regulation, Deregulation, Reregulation Claude Ménard, Michel Ghertman, 2009 After 25 years of industry restructuring regulatory reform and deregulation across many industrial sectors in many countries it is an appropriate time to take stock of the impacts of these reforms on consumers producers and overall economic performance This book contains the latest thinking on these issues by a distinguished international group of scholars It is a collection of essays for our time that is well worth reading Paul L Joskow Massachusetts Institute of Technology US The most exciting development in the study of regulation in the past quarter century is research on the incentives that are created by the details of the procedures for creating and enforcing regulatory rules This book brings together a rich collection of studies that collectively advance our understanding of the effect of regulatory governance on the performance of regulated firms with important lessons about how to design more effective regulatory instruments and processes Roger G Noll Stanford University US Cycles of poorly designed or weakly enforced regulation disappointing performance and political over reaction are now familiar to students of regulated industries Nourished by recent developments in the economics of incentives including their transaction costs and property rights dimensions and written by renowned experts in the field Regulation Deregulation Reregulation is a must read for all those interested in the economics and politics of regulation A timely book the publication of which coincides with the designing of a post subprime regulatory framework for the financial industry Jean Tirole Toulouse School of Economics France Building on Oliver Williamson's original analysis the contributors introduce new ideas different perspectives and provide tools for better understanding changes in the approach to regulation the reform of public utilities and the complex problems of governance They draw largely upon a transaction cost approach highlighting the challenges faced by major economic sectors and identifying critical flaws in prevailing views on regulation Deeply rooted in sector analysis the book conveys a central message of new institutional economics that theory should be continuously confronted by facts and reformed or revolutionized accordingly With its emphasis on the institutional embeddedness of regulatory issues and the problems generated by the benign neglect of institutional factors in the reform of major public utilities this book will provide a wide ranging audience with challenging views on the dynamics of regulatory approaches Economists political scientists postgraduate students researchers and policymakers with an interest in institutional economics and economic organization will find the book to be a stimulating and enlightening read Deregulation of Electric Utilities Georges

Zaccour,2012-12-06 Deregulation of Electric Utilities reviews the main issues relating to the changing environment in the utility industry Topics covered in depth include compensation for stranded costs efficiency gains institutional design pricing economics of scale and network externalities In addition this book assesses early experiences in electricity deregulation in continental Europe New Zealand North America and the United Kingdom Governing Global Networks Mark W.

Zacher,Brent A. Sutton,1996 Governing Global Networks argues that most international regimes are grounded in states mutual cooperation and not in the dictates of the most powerful states It focuses on the regimes for four important international industries shipping air transport telecommunications and postal services Of particular importance to these regimes have been states interests in both the free flow of commerce and their policy autonomy The authors examine the relationship between these potentially conflicting goals In particular they trace the impact of deregulation which has led some states increasingly to place gains from economic openness ahead of their desire to maintain a high degree of control of their own economies and to the decline of the traditional cartel elements of these regimes This analysis is an important contribution to theoretical debates between neo realists and neo liberals in the study of international organisations and international political economy Utilities Reform in Twenty-First Century Australia Malcolm Abbott,Bruce

Cohen,2021 The book traces the development and consequences of the economic reform measures undertaken in the utilities sector in Australia communications energy water wastewater services and transport in the last years of the 20th century and early decades of the 21st century Structural Reforms Without Prejudices Tito Boeri,Micael Castanheira,Riccardo

Faini,Vincenzo Galasso,2006-06-15 Our economies face constant challenges from many different directions Structural reforms are implemented every day either to grasp the benefits of globalization and technological change or to avoid foundering on unaffordable welfare systems or the rise of new economies Despite this flurry of reforms many of their effects are insufficiently understood What makes reforms a success or a failure Why do we witness systematically ambivalent attitudes to reforms Can governments implement reforms differently without inflicting prejudice to large fringes of the population This book explores these issues by comparing a number of reforms across a large set of countries and sectors First through an innovative multisectorial input output analysis the authors compare the effects of liberalisation reforms in the telecommunication and electricity sectors across Europe Surprisingly they find that very similar and well intended reforms can generate highly contrasted outcomes It is also shown that governments must consider the effects of each reform on all sectors of the economy Second the authors explore how governments can tailor their reform strategy to alter the redistributive effects of reforms They show that the government s approach to reforms has been very different across time and across countries A government s approach depends on local institutions on the nature of the opposition and on the scope of the reform under way The authors however show that governments do have alternatives Often there are ways to tailor reforms so as to protect specific parts of the population and there are ways to experiment gradually to avoid costly policy mistakes

Opening Networks to Competition David Gabel, David F. Weiman, 2012-12-06 David Gabel and David F. Weiman The chapters in this volume address the related problems of regulating and pricing access in network industries Interconnection between network suppliers raises the important policy questions of how to sustain competition and realize economic efficiency To foster rivalry in any industry suppliers must have access to customers But unlike in other sectors the very organization of network industries creates major impediments to potential entrants trying to carve out a niche in the market In traditional sectors such as gas electric rail and telephone services these barriers take the form of the large private and social costs necessary to duplicate the physical infrastructure of pipelines wires or tracks Few firms can afford to finance such an undertaking because the level of sunk costs and the very large scale economies make it extremely risky In other newer sectors entrants face less tangible but no less pressing constraints In the microcomputer industry for example high switching costs can prevent users from experimenting with alternative but perhaps more efficient hardware platforms or operating systems Although gateway technologies can reduce these barriers the installed base of an incumbent can create powerful bandwagon effects that reinforce its advantage such as the greater availability of compatible peripherals and software applications In the era of electronic banking entrants into the automated teller machine A TM and credit card markets face a similar problem of establishing a ubiquitous presence

Atomic Energy Costing Warren Young, 2012-12-06 In the centennial year of the birth of Sir John Cockcroft first master of my Cambridge College Churchill and the first man to split the atomic nucleus by artificial means it is indeed relevant to consider the outcome of his efforts at developing atomic power From the earliest days of the construction of Calder Hall the first nuclear power station in Britain and the establishment of the British Atomic Research Center at Harwell and the Chalk River Nuclear Station in Canada through the Windscale nuclear accident in Britain up to the present when some 20% of UK energy is derived from nuclear power the Cockcroft legacy is felt As the British historian Mark Goldie put it in the pure and sanguine 1950s Cockcroft had almost absolute faith in peaceful atoms and in the boundless almost cost free energy that atoms would soon produce Goldie 1997 p 21 But as the eminent economist Frank Hahn recalled the only failing Cockcroft had was that he wasn't up to much in economics Indeed Hahn recalled that he had to explain to Cockcroft the economic notion of optimum durability as it related to the interest rate in the context of building Churchill College with hand made bricks After his explanation as Hahn recalled Cockcroft smiled and proceeded to order more hand made bricks Hahn 1997 p 27

The Virtual Utility Shimon Awerbuch, Alistair Preston, 2012-12-06 In the winter of 1996 after 4 years of planning and research the Symposium on the Virtual Utility was held in Saratoga Springs New York It was sponsored by Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation Co sponsored by CSC Index and the New York State Energy Research and Development Authority and hosted by Rensselaer Poly technic Institute Troy NY The symposium sought to identify new areas of inquiry by presenting cutting edge academic and practitioner research intended to further our understanding of the strategic technologically driven issues confronting the electricity production and distribution process The program sought to offer new insights into rapid changes in the utility industry in part by examining analogues from manufacturing and telecommunications In addition to identifying new research areas the symposium yielded a number of important findings and conclusions This volume contains the presented papers of the meeting the discussant reports and two special papers prepared by the meeting rapporteurs who performed superbly in analyzing synthesizing explaining and generally bringing a cohesive perspective to the interesting yet complex set of ideas presented at this unique meeting We would like to acknowledge the people and organizations that contributed to this effort We thank Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation and Albert Budney its President Chief Operating Officer for sponsoring this project and Andrew Vesey Vice President I whose vision support and championing made this project possible

The Regulation of the State in Competitive Markets in the EU Erika Szyszczak, 2007-08-31 This book looks at the changing role and nature of the regulation of State intervention in the liberalised and privatised markets of the European Union It examines how the traditional role of the State is now challenged by European Union law and the implications for traditional public services provided by the State For the first time in an academic work the book brings together the interaction of the Internal Market and the Competition rules of the European Union when they are applied to State economic activity Individual chapters examine specific rules which address squarely the permissible role of State activity in competitive markets for example an examination of the State aid rules the rules in Article 86 EC regulating State monopolies and the controversial application of Articles 81 and 82 EC to the State Other chapters examine the processes of privatisation and liberalisation with case studies on the postal sector utilities and telecommunications

The Service Productivity and Quality Challenge P.T. Harker, 2012-12-06 3 While all of these explanations seem to have merit there is one dominant reason why the percentage of GDP and employment dedicated to services has continued to increase low productivity According to Baumol's cost disease hypothesis Baumol Blackman and Wolff 1991 the growth in services is actually an illusion The fact is that service sector productivity is improving slower than that of manufacturing and thus it seems as if we are consuming more services in nominal terms However in real terms we are consuming slightly less services That is the increase in the service sector is caused by low productivity relative to manufacturing The implication of Baumol s cost disease is the following Assuming historical productivity increases for manufacturing agriCulture education and health care Baumol 1992 shows that the U S can triple its output in all sectors within 50 years However due to the higher productivity level for manufacturing and agriculture it will take substantially more employment in services to achieve this increase in output To put this argument in perspective simply roll back the clock 100 years or so and replace the words manufacturing with agriculture and services with manufacturing The phenomenal growth in agricultural productivity versus manufacturing caused the employment levels in agriculture in the U S to decrease rapidly while producing a truly unbelievable amount of food It is the low productivity of services that is the real culprit in its growth of GDP and employment share     Privacy Act Issuances ...
