The Regulation of Services and Intellectual Property Bryan C. Mercurio, 2017-07-05 International rules on trade in services and intellectual property are new additions to the multilateral trading system but both have played an important role in the system since their entry. Accompanied by a detailed introduction, this volume contains essays which cover not only the law and jurisprudence of these topics but also the underlying economics and politics behind their incorporation into the multilateral system and continued prominence. The volume provides readers with a comprehensive overview of the development of these controversial and increasingly important areas of international trade law.

Regulatory Autonomy and International Trade in Services Bregt Natens, 2016-07-27 This book considers how the interplay between multilateral and preferential liberalisation of trade in services increasingly raises concerns both from the perspective of the beneficiaries of such liberalisation whose rights are uncertain and that of regulators whose regulatory autonomy is constrained. The author shows how these concerns lead to vast underutilisation of and strong prejudices against the benefits of services liberalisation. The book meticulously analyses and compares the EU's obligations under the GATS and the services chapters of several RTAs to finally assess the merits of the raised concerns.

WTO Domestic Regulation and Services Trade Aik Hoe Lim, Bart De Meester, 2014-03-13 Domestic regulation of services sectors has a significant impact on services trade liberalization which is why General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS) disciplines are negotiated in the WTO. With the help of analyses and case studies from academics, regulators and trade experts, this book explores the scope and limits of WTO legal principles to promote domestic regulatory reform. Case studies discuss country specific challenges and experiences of regulating important service sectors such as finance, telecommunications, distribution, legal, education, health, postal and logistics services as well as the role of regulatory impact assessments. The findings will interest trade officials, policy makers, regulators, think tanks and businesses concerned with the implications of domestic regulation on access to services markets and with the opportunities for formulating trade disciplines in this area. It is also a useful resource for academics and students researching regulatory approaches and practices in services sectors.

Regulatory Reforms in Italy Dieter Kerwer,2018-01-18 This title was first published in 2001 The question this thesis attempts to answer is summarized as follows what accounts for the amazing stability of Italian transport policy in the face of European challenges given the fact that as most national and European policy makers readily believe it is not capable of addressing the problem of the sector This study analyzes the transport policy in Italy from the 1990s into the 21st century It looks at how the two sub sectors of surface transport road haulage and railways have been managed by the public and private actors involved In both sectors the policy appears to have failed either by not offering a remedy to problems or by aggravating them further The author believes that studying transport policy in Italy will shed light on the wider question of how national policy making patterns are influenced by developments in the international environment in this case looking closely at the influence of the European Union

National Regulation and Trade Liberalization in Services Markus Krajewski,2003-01-01 Like tariffs and other border measures national regulatory barriers impede international trade Unlike tariffs however such barriers usually indicate an important domestic policy choice This conflict of interest has emerged as a crucial issue in international law particularly with regard to services such as telecommunications and health services This study is the first to analyze the potential impact of incompatibilities between national regulatory regimes and the rules and obligations imposed by the General Agreement on Trade in Services GATS In the process of arriving at his challenging concluding theses the author investigates such relevant concepts as the following the political and ideological dynamics of GATS negotiations services trade liberalization in regional integration systems particularly in EC law policies common to diverse national regulatory systems the notions of deregulation and privatization the human rights implications of international trade law the GATS obligations of market access national treatment and most favoured nation treatment the role of the WTO's dispute settlement organs GATS transparency obligations Professor Krajewski's study is of enormous significance to specialists in regulatory policies and instruments at all national and sectoral levels especially in the context of ongoing GATS negotiations As the author warns Unless GATS negotiators and national regulators have a thorough understanding of the relationship between GATS obligations and regulatory policies and instruments they cannot effectively use the flexible elements of GATS and could reach an agreement which they may later regret SEC Docket United States.
