Between the Wars Jenny Hazelgrove,2000-09-02 Historians of modern British culture have long assumed that under pressure from secular forces interest in spiritualism had faded by the end of the Great War Jenny Hazelgrove challenges this assumption and shows how spiritualism grew between the wars and became part of the fabric of popular culture This book provides a fascinating and lively insight into an alternative culture that flourished and continues to flourish alongside more conventional outlets for spiritual beliefs and needs *Catalog of Copyright Entries. daughter Shao Xiaohong include long essays such as One Man Talking and A Year in Shanghai as well as several shorter essays on subjects as diverse as the caricatures of Miguel Covarrubias woodblock printing and pictorial magazines all of which were published in Shao's own magazines. Although his essays may be less well known than those of other writers of the same period without his unique and valuable contribution the literary artistic and poetic worlds of twentieth century Shanghai would have been very different indeed.
