Handbook of Research and Policy in Art Education Elliot W. Eisner, Michael D. Day, 2004-04-12

The Handbook of Research and Policy in Art Education marks a milestone in the field of art education Sponsored by the National Art Education Association and assembled by an internationally known group of art educators this 36 chapter handbook provides an overview of the remarkable progress that has characterized this field in recent decades Organized into six sections it profiles and integrates the following elements of this rapidly emerging field history policy learning curriculum and instruction assessment and competing perspectives Because the scholarly foundations of art education are relatively new and loosely coupled this handbook provides researchers students and policymakers both inside and outside the field an invaluable snapshot of its current boundaries and rapidly growing content In a nutshell it provides much needed definition and intellectual respectability to a field that as recently as 1960 was more firmly rooted in the world of arts and crafts than in scholarly research

The Socially Just School John Smyth, Barry Down, Peter McInerney, 2014-07-08

This book explores schools and how they can function as social institutions that advance the interests and life chances of all young people especially those who are already the most marginalized and at an educational disadvantage Social justice is a key theme as the book examines the needs of youth the concept of school culture school community relations socially critical pedagogy curriculum and leadership and a socially critical approach to work The Socially Just School is based upon four decades of intensive writing and researching of young lives This work presents an alternative to the damaging school reform in which schools are made to serve the interests of the economy education systems the military corporate or national interests Readers will discover the hallmarks of socially just schools They educationally engage young people regardless of class race family or neighbourhood location and they engage them around their own educational aspirations They regard all young people as being morally entitled to a rewarding and satisfying experience of school not only those whose backgrounds happen to fit with the values of schools They treat young people as having strengths and being at promise rather than being at risk and with deficits or as bundles of pathologies to be remedied or fixed They are active listeners to the lives and cultures of their students and communities and they construct learning experiences that are embedded in young lives This highly readable book will appeal to students and scholars in education and sociology as well as to teachers and school administrators with an interest in social justice      Curricular Conversations Margaret Macintyre Latta,2013 Curricular Conversations is about play as a medium for teaching and learning that asks teachers and students to participate through adapting changing building and creating meaning      The Arts and the Creation of Mind Elliot W.
