In return, the Skoodaddles give Hobee a map of the Northern Pacific Ocean floor and the secrets to the hidden Gates of Ambiguous that lead to unknown Oceans. In their explorations, they find a small island called the Island of Pretend The King, where there is a bully and makes others do things they don't want to do. In their search of the small island, they find out how to navigate by using the stars and find more clues left by the Marching Rodent Explorers. This is only the beginning for Hobee, Bobit, and their cycle sub. Join them for more heroic adventures in Hobee's Quest in the Deep and help bring peace and prosperity to creatures all over the world. Robert B. Chambers's characters continue to impart important life lessons for children wrapped in creative and captivating travel adventures. This book continues this tradition with relevant, accurate, and fascinating historical and geographical information that separates it from the earlier books. His third book in the Hobee's Quest series reveals Mr. Chambers' growth as a writer and leader in the nonviolent adventure series genre as he continues to help children develop the confidence, courage, and practical problem-solving skills they need to navigate the social challenges of growing up.

Basking Sharks Scott Wallace, Brian Gisborne, 2006 The basking shark, a fish the size of a London bus, used to appear off the BC coast every spring. During World War II, the fish became a nuisance to commercial nets and fishing trollers. Gliding just below the surface, the basking shark was an easy target for a new pest eradication program that touted killing one of the plankton-eating monsters as great sport. By 1970, the basking shark was virtually eradicated in BC. Now, researchers Scott Wallace and Brian Gisborne have pieced together what there is to know about this locally extinct ocean denizen. Basking Sharks is Number 14 in the Transmontanus series of books edited by Terry Glavin.
