In 2005, Professor Lord Layard demonstrated for the first time that mental health should matter to the UK Treasury. Layard showed that the cost of untreated depression was huge due to welfare spending on invalidity benefits and that this was a social problem rising across the OECD, but more so in the UK. NICE had already published a clinical guideline recommending several talking therapies that were cost-effective. Why could no one still get them? In 2007, under New Labour, the world's first universal free at the point of need service was launched to remedy this. IAPT (Improving Access to Psychological Therapies) thus began a race against depression, predicted by the World Health Organisation to become the leading cause of disability worldwide by 2020. But on the eve of NICE's new guideline for depression due in 2021, it is now clear that across large parts of the UK, we are set to lose this race. Badly. Why? What went wrong? Clarke, Cundy, and Yakeley have brought together a group of researchers and experts in this collection who address some of the fundamental flaws in the policy design for IAPT. By drawing attention to neglected social and interpersonal origins of depression, pointing us towards more effective approaches, and seeking to pinpoint some of the gaps in thinking during IAPT's first decade, this book offers alternative answers to what still remains Britain's biggest social problem. Understanding Human Ecology Robert Dyball, Barry Newell, 2023-06-30 Understanding Human Ecology offers a coherent conceptual framework for human ecology, a clear approach for understanding the many systems we are part of and for how we frame and understand the problems we face. Blending natural social and cognitive sciences with dynamical systems theory, this key text offers systems approaches that are accessible to all, from the undergraduate student to policymakers and practitioners across government, business, and community. In the first edition, road-tested and refined over a decade of teaching and workshops, the authors built a clear, inspiring, and important framework for anyone approaching the management of complex problems and the transition to sustainability. Fully updated for the second edition, the book now goes further in using systems thinking principles to explain fundamental processes of change in social ecological systems. Revised case examples provide a working application of these principles, whilst a new discussion of the hierarchical structure of complex systems is included to guide practical policymaking. This new edition is essential reading for students and scholars of human ecology, environmental ethics, and sustainability studies. Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, Jhumpa Lahiri, 2009-05-01. This book is made up of twenty-three stories, each from a different author from across the globe. All belong to one world, united in their diversity and ethnicity. And together they have one aim: to involve and move the reader. The range of authors takes in such literary greats as Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie and Jhumpa Lahiri, and emerging authors such as Elaine Chiew, Petina Gappah, and Henrietta Rose Innes. The members of the collective are Elaine Chiew (Malaysia), Molar Wood (Nigeria), Jhumpa Lahiri (United States), Martin A. Ramos (Puerto Rico), Lauri Kubutse (Botswana), Chika Unigwe (Nigeria), Ravi Mangla (United States), Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie (Nigeria), Skye Brannon (United States), Jude Dibia (Nigeria), Shabnam Nadiya (Bangladesh), Petina Gappah (Zimbabwe), Ivan Gabirel Reborek (Australia), Vanessa Gebbie (Britain), Emmanuel Dipita Kwa (Cameroon), Henrietta Rose Innes (South Africa), Lucinda Nelson (India), Adetokunbo Abiola (Nigeria), Wadzanai Mhute (Zimbabwe), Konstantinos Tzikas (Greece), Ken Kamoche (Kenya), Sequoia Nagamatsu (United States), and Owo Adagha (Nigeria). From the Introduction: The concept of One World is often a multi-colored tapestry into which sundry, if not contending, patterns can be woven for those of us who worked on this project. One World goes beyond the everyday notion of the globe as a physical geographic entity. Rather, we understand it as a universal idea, one that transcends national boundaries to comment on the most prevailing aspects of the human condition. This attempt to redefine the borders of the world we live in through the short story recognizes the many conflicting issues of race, language, economy, gender, and ethnicity which separate and limit us. We readily acknowledge, however, that regardless of our differences or the disparities in our stories, we are united by our humanity. We invite the reader on a personal journey across continents, countries, cultures, and landscapes to reflect on these beautiful, at times chaotic, renditions on the human experience. We hope the reach of this path will transcend the borders of each story and perhaps function as an agent of change. Welcome to our world.
