Making Of The European Spatial Development Perspective:

The Making of the European Spatial Development Perspective Andreas Faludi, Bas Waterhout, 2002 This book explores the processes that led to the preparation of the document and outlines the differing perspectives of the European member states

The Making of the European Spatial Development Perspective Andreas Faludi, Bas Waterhout, 2012-11-12 The European Spatial Development Perspective ESDP is published in eleven official EU languages and so is the most international planning policy document that exists This book is the only comprehensive account of the process of preparing negotiating and adopting this document It outlines the differing perspectives of the European member states and shows that the last thing its proponents wanted is a masterplan The Making of the European Spatial Development Perspective is a unique book offering a snapshot of contemporary European spatial planning

Making the european spatial development perspective , Making European Space Ole B. Jensen, Tim Richardson, 2004-08-02 Making European Space explores how future visions of Europe's physical space are being decisively shaped by transnational politics and power struggles which are being played out in new multi level arenas of governance across the European Union At stake are big ideas about mobility and friction about relations between core and peripheral regions and about the future Europe's cities and countryside The book builds a critical narrative of the emergence of a new discourse of Europe as monopia revealing a very real project to shape European space in line with visions of high speed frictionless mobility the transgression of borders and the creation of city networks The narrative explores in depth how the particular ideas of mobility and space which underpin this discourse are being constructed in policy making and reflects on the legitimacy of these policy processes In particular it shows how spatial ideas are becoming embedded in the everyday practices of the social and political organisation of space in ways that make a frictionless Europe seem natural and part of a common European territorial identity

The Making of the European Union Max Haller, 2012-12-06 Outstanding social scientists economists sociologists political scientists and policy researchers discuss in this book the issue of the social aspects of European integration For each field they sketch out the main problems provide a survey on the relevant literature and point to areas wherein more research is needed The science and research policy of the European Union is examined critically both in terms of relevant social issues and in terms of its organizational efficacy

The Institutionalisation of European Spatial Planning B. Waterhout, 2008-06-05 The Institutionalisation of European Spatial Planning aims to clarify the enterprise of European spatial planning The emphasis of the book lies on the need for a better understanding of the process of European integration in general It particularly points at the emerging middle range theories that used concepts that were showing similarity to those that academics those writing about planning were accustomed to such as networks discourses and governance The focus of this book is mostly on the post European Spatial Development Perspective ESDP the Committee of Spatial Development from 1999 until now As it is collection of articles it has a different gestation process and does not tell a story from A to Z What this book is about however is merely the issue concerning the institutional capacity of the ESDP and whether this has evaporated or not The fact that this book exists at all suggests it has not Uncovering the Territorial Dimension of European Union Cohesion Policy Eduardo Medeiros, 2017-07-14 This book examines the territorial dimension of EU Cohesion Policy specifically assessing territorial impacts at the various spatial levels engaging theoretically and empirically with the notion and role of the territorial dimension within a strongly fragmented EU policymaking process

Connections Jean Hillier, Jonathan Metzger, 2017-05-15 The professional practice as well as the academic discipline of planning has been fundamentally re-invented all over the world in recent decades In this astonishing transition the thinking and scholarship of Patsy Healey appears as a constantly recurring influence and inspiration around the globe The purpose of this book is to present, discuss and celebrate Healey's seminal contributions to the development of the theory and practice of spatial planning The volume contains a selection of 13 less readily available but nevertheless key texts by Healey which have been selected to represent the trajectory of Patsy's work across the several decades of her research career 12 original chapters by a wide range of invited contributors take the ideas in the reprinted papers as points of departure for their own work tracing out their continuing relevance for contemporary and future directions in planning scholarship In doing so these chapters tease out the themes and interests in Healey's work which are still highly relevant to the planning project The title Connections symbolises relationality possibly the most outstanding element linking Patsy's ideas The book showcases the wide international influence of Patsy's work and celebrates the whole trajectory of work to show how many of her ideas on for instance the role of theory in planning processes of change networking as a mode of governance how ideas spread and ways of thinking planning democratically were ahead of their time and are still of importance Territorial Development,

Cohesion and Spatial Planning Neil Adams, Giancarlo Cotella, Richard Nunes, 2012-08-06 This book examines some of the evolving challenges faced by EU regional policy in light of enlargement and to assess some of the approaches and trends in terms of territorial development policy and practice that are emerging out of this process Focusing on the experiences on Central and Eastern Europe these chapters reflect on the diversity of approaches to spatial planning and the politics of policy formation and multi-level governance operations from local to trans-national agendas Promoting increased awareness and understanding of these issues is the main purpose of the book as well as harnessing the extensive capacity and knowledge within these countries that can greatly enrich the discourse within an enlarged epistemic community of European spatial planning academics practitioners and policy makers The recently acquired CEE dimension provides a unique opportunity to examine the evolution of existing epistemic communities as well as to explore the potential emergence of new ones The European Territory Jacques Robert, 2014-05-09 Originally published in French as Le territoire européen en des racines aux enjeux globaux this book reflects the enormous changes that Europe has seen in the past half century In a period of immense upheaval the continent has experienced increased integration largely through the development of the European
