Making Of The U K:

Uniting the Kingdom? Alexander Grant, Keith Stringer, 2002-11-01 In Uniting the Kingdom a group of the most distinguished historians from Britain and Ireland assemble to consider the question of British identity spanning the period from the Middle Ages to the present Traditional chronological and regional frontiers are broken down as medievalists early modernists and modernists debate the key issues of the British state the conflicting historiographies the nature of political tensions and the themes of expansion and contraction This outstanding collection of essays forms an illuminating introduction to the most up to date thinking about the problems of British histories and identities Muslims Making British Media Carl Morris, 2022-11-17 Drawing on original fieldwork Carl Morris examines Muslim cultural production in Britain with a focus on the performance based entertainment industries music comedy film television and theatre It is a seminal study that charts the growing agency and involvement of British Muslims in cultural production over the last two decades Morris sets this discussion within the context of wider religious social and cultural change with important insights concerning the sociological profile religious lives and public visibility of Muslims in contemporary Britain Morris draws on theoretical considerations concerning the mediatization of religion and cosmopolitanization in a globally connected world He argues that a new generation of media savvy and internationalist Muslim cultural producers in Britain are constructing counter narratives in the public sphere and are reshaping everyday religious lives within their own communities This is having a profound impact upon areas that range from Islamic authority and religious practice to political and public debate and understandings of Muslim identity and belonging The Making of the UK Richard Allison, Carole Brown, 1990

The UK's Changing Democracy Patrick Dunleavy, Alice Park, Ros Taylor, 2018-11-01 The UK's Changing Democracy presents a uniquely democratic perspective on all aspects of UK politics at the centre in Westminster and Whitehall and in all the devolved nations The 2016 referendum vote to leave the EU marked a turning point in the UK's political system In the previous two decades the country had undergone a series of democratic reforms during which it seemed to evolve into a more typical European liberal democracy The establishment of a Supreme Court adoption of the Human Rights Act Scottish Welsh and Northern Irish devolution proportional electoral systems executive mayors and the growth in multi party competition all marked profound changes to the British political tradition Brexit may now bring some of these developments to a juddering halt The UK's previous exceptionalism from European patterns looks certain to continue indefinitely Taking back control of regulations trade immigration and much more is the biggest change in UK governance for half a century It has already produced enduring crises for the party system Parliament and the core executive with uniquely contested governance over critical issues and a rapidly changing political landscape Other recent trends are no less fast moving such as the revival of two party dominance in England the re creation of some mass membership parties and the disruptive challenges of social media In this context an in depth assessment of the quality of the UK's democracy is essential Each of the 2018 Democratic Audit's 37 short chapters starts with clear criteria for what democracy requires in that part of the nation's political life and outlines key recent developments before a SWOT analysis of strengths weaknesses opportunities and threats crystallises the current situation A small number of core issues are then explored in more depth Set against the global rise of debased semi democracies the book's approach returns our focus firmly to the big issues around the quality and sustainability of the UK's liberal democracy

The Making of Eurosceptic Britain Chris Gifford,2017-11-30 Offering a radical interpretation of a major political issue Chris Gifford moves beyond existing narrative and institutional accounts of Britain and Europe to present a theoretically coherent and unique perspective on this troubled relationship He acknowledges that populist Euroscepticism has become fundamental to constituting Britain and Britishness in a post imperial context despite membership of the European Union Organized chronologically this interesting study provides lucid overviews of key periods in the British European Union relationship It combines political economy with political identity to illustrate how forms of Euroscepticism have become embedded across the British political class and culture The book focuses not on outlining history or the impact of British integration on British institutions but on the ways in which elite behaviour towards European integration should be analyzed as practices and discourses that use Euroscepticism to construct Britain and distinctive British political projects

The Making of England John Richard Green,2024-04-10 Reprint of the original first published in 1882

The Road to War in Iraq: Comparative Foreign Policy Analysis Chris Featherstone,2025-04-09 This book combines three Foreign Policy Analysis FPA models to explain both how and why the US and UK decided to invade Iraq in 2003 These three FPA models each examine a different but closely related aspect of the individual level of decision making Firstly Groupthink examines how pathologies of small group decision making affected the processes in the US and UK decision to invade Iraq Secondly the Leadership Style framework examines how the individual leader's style of exercising their leadership affected the navigation of the decision making process Thirdly analogical reasoning examines how decision makers frame their actions both in their own decision making and in how they present their decision to the wider public By achieving these objectives The Road to War contributes to the field of FPA and to our understanding of how the decision to invade Iraq was taken The comparative use of these FPA models within a single framework means that this book responds to the calls for multifactorial research within FPA proposing and testing a framework that provides more complex answers through adopting a multifactorial framework These more nuanced complex answers then reveal more about the role of the individuals involved in the decision to invade Iraq and how their cognition affected the process that led to the decision to invade

UK Communication Strategies for Afghanistan, 2001-2014 Thomas W. Cawkwell, 2016-03-09 The war in Afghanistan came to an end in 2014 after nearly thirteen years of conflict Throughout that period British officials have described UK operations there in various conflicting and often contradictory ways as a counter terrorism mission a stabilisation mission and a counter narcotics mission respectively This book investigates how the war was sold to the British public and how Britain s transnational foreign and defence policy impacted on the unfolding of UK strategy in Afghanistan and the way it was communicated It argues that because the UK s foreign and defence policy is transnationally oriented meaning that it is foundationally aimed at maintaining alliance with the United States and the institutional coherence of NATO UK strategy is contingent upon collective security and crucially is fundamentally concerned with the means of policy maintaining alliances over the ends using alliances to effect change Explaining the inalienability of collective security systems to national security is no easy task however and when faced with the adversities of Afghanistan the UK state has since 2008 instead opted to describe the significance of Afghanistan in narrow nation centric counter terrorist concerns in order to maintain public support for collective security operations there whilst paradoxically framing the conflict in a manner that avoids talking about the transnational structure and purpose of the mission This kind of strategic communication is increasingly becoming a focus of the UK state as it faces a transnational dilemma of maintaining its collective security bonds

Oxford Professional Practice: Handbook of Medical Leadership and Management Paula Murphy, Bradley Hillier, Peter Lachman, 2023 The Handbook of Medical Leadership and Management couples the essentials of clinical leadership with a practical approach to help readers be effective clinical leaders and managers. Beginning with a theoretical analysis, it then focuses on practical ways of being a good manager and leader and the day to day requirements of a consultant working within a multi professional clinical team. This is an essential resource for all those leading and managing a clinical team which covers a broad understanding of the requirements of effective leadership. This includes quality care, patient safety, ensuring good outcomes, using data for improvement, commissioning services and developing business cases as well as the development of person centred care as well as the education of the next generation of leaders. Writing British Muslims Rehana Ahmed, 2024-06-04 The Rushdie affair September 11 2001 and 7/7 pushed British Muslims into the forefront of increasingly fraught debate about multiculturalism. Stereotyping images have proliferated, reducing a heterogeneous minority group to a series of media soundbites. This book examines contemporary literary representations of Muslims by British writers of South Asian Muslim descent including Salman Rushdie, Hanif Kureishi, Monica Ali and Nadeem Aslam, to explore the contribution they make to urgent questions about multicultural politics and the place of Muslims within Britain. By focusing on class and its intersection with faith, race and gender in identity and community formation, it challenges the dichotomy of secular freedom versus religious oppression that constrains thinking about British Muslims and offers a more nuanced perspective on multicultural debates and controversies. Writing British Muslims will appeal to academics and postgraduate and final year undergraduate students in the fields of postcolonial studies, English studies and cultural studies.
