Mirrors William Iii And Mother Ireland:

Mirrors Belinda Loftus, 1990 Flag, Nation and Symbolism in Europe and America Thomas Hylland Eriksen, Richard Jenkins, 2007-10-18 Although the symbolic and political importance of flags has often been mentioned by scholars of nationalism there are few in depth studies of the significance of flags for national identities This multi disciplinary collection offers case studies and comparisons of flag history uses and controversies This book brings together a dozen scholars from varying national and disciplinary backgrounds to offers a cluster of close readings of flags in their social contexts mostly contemporary but also historical Case studies from Denmark England Northern Ireland Norway Sweden and the United States explore ways in which flags are contested stir up powerful emotions can be commercialised in some contexts but not in others serve as quasi religious symbols and as physical boundary markers how the same flag can be solemn and formal in one setting but stand for domestic bliss and informal cultural intimacy in another

The Routledge Companion to Irish Art Fionna Barber, Fintan Cullen, 2025-04-30 This companion contains new and innovative writing on Irish art and its history from c 1800 to the present day This book critically engages with Irish art in a period linked to key events in Irish history beginning with the Acts of Union between Britain and Ireland 1800 01 and the significant social and cultural changes that resulted The book also provides a precedent for a focus on the significance of art in relation to other subsequent key historical events such as the early twentieth century struggles for independence or the role of political conflict in Northern Ireland from the late 1960s onwards and its aftermath Key themes covered include tradition and innovation upheavals of history place location and artistic formations Irish art and the wider world and embodiment and identity The book expands the critical discourse around Irish art over this period both within Ireland and beyond and encourages the potential for future scholarship in fields and periods not covered This book will be of interest to scholars and students working in art history Irish studies and colonial studies

A Century of Irish Drama Stephen Watt, Eileen Morgan, Shakir Mustafa, 2000 Based on essays originally presented at a symposium entitled Nationalism and a national theatre 100 years of Irish drama convened at Indiana University May 26 29 1999

Light, Freedom and Song David Pierce, 2005-01-01 In this absorbing analysis of modern Irish writing an acknowledged expert considers the hybrid character of modern Irish writing to show how language culture and history have been affected by the colonial encounter between Ireland and Britain Examining the great themes of loss and struggle David Pierce traces the impact on Irish writing of the Great Famine and cultural nationalism and considers the way the work of Ireland s two leading writers W B Yeats and James Joyce complicate and elucidate our view of the harp and the crown The book draws a contrast between the West of Ireland in the 1930s when the new Irish State enjoyed its first full independent decade and the North of Ireland in the 1980s when the spectre of British imperialism threatened the stability of Ireland Pierce then surveys contemporary Irish writing and reflects on the legacy of the colonial encounter and on the passage to a postmodern or postnationalist Ireland in the work of such crucial living writers as John Banville Derek

Mahon and John McGahern Gender and Imperialism Clare Midgley, 1998-03-15 This book marks an important new intervention into a vibrant area of scholarship creating a dialogue between the histories of imperialism and of women and gender By engaging critically with both traditional British imperial history and colonial discourse analysis the essays demonstrate how feminist historians can play a central role in creating new histories of British imperialism Chronologically the focus is on the late eighteenth to early twentieth centuries while geographically the essays range from the Caribbean to Australia and span India Africa Ireland and Britain itself Topics explored include the question of female agency in imperial contexts the relationships between feminism and nationalism and questions of sexuality masculinity and imperial power

Narrative Performances of Mothering in South Asian Diasporic Fiction Sarah Knor, 2022-12-30 Examining a range of South Asian Anglophone diasporic fiction and poetry this monograph opens a new dialogue between diaspora studies and gender studies It shows how discourses of diaspora benefit from re examining their own critical relation to concepts of the maternal and the motherland Rather than considering maternity as a fixed or naturally given category it challenges essentialist conceptions and explores mothering as a performative practice which actively produces discursive meaning This innovative approach also involves an investigation of central metaphors in nationalist and diasporic rhetorics bringing critical attention to the strategies they employ and the unique aesthetic forms they produce All Dressed Up Joan FitzPatrick

Dean, 2014-11-25 In the early twentieth century publicly staged productions of significant historical political and religious events became increasingly popular and increasingly grand in Ireland These public pageants a sort of precursor to today s opening ceremonies at the Olympic games mobilized huge numbers of citizens to present elaborately staged versions of Irish identity based on both history and myth Complete with marching bands costumes fireworks and mock battles these spectacles were suffused with political and national significance Dean explores the historical significance of these pageants explaining how their popularity correlated to political or religious imperatives in twentieth century Ireland She uncovers unpublished archival findings to present scripts programs and articles covering these events The book also includes over thirty photographs of pageants program covers and detailed designs for costumes to convey the grandeur of the historical pageants at the beginning of the century and their decline in production standards in the 1970s and 1980s Tracing the Irish historical pageant phenomenon through the twentieth century Dean presents a nation contending with the violence and political upheaval of the present by reimagining the past Women in Ireland, 1800-1918 Maria Luddy, 1995 Women in Ireland 1800 1918 presents a valuable and significant collection of over 100 sources and documents relating to the public and private aspects of women s lives in Ireland during the period 1800 1918 The documents reveal aspects of the women s working lives educational experiences involvement in politics and of their private lives such as contraception childbirth love marriage and religion Each section has a comprehensive introduction which discusses the contents of the documents As the first major survey of Irish women s lives during this period it will appeal to those who want a deeper understanding of how women of all classes lived their lives and it will prove indispensable to second and third level students those attending women's studies courses as well as a wide general readership interested in assessing the role of women in nineteenth and early twentieth century Irish history Outsiders Inside Bronwen Walter, 2002-05-03 Outsiders Inside provides a basis for Irish women's experiences within the range of white and black ethnicities and links cultural constructs of gendered ethnicity and racism to material conditions of everyday life Thinking European(s) Margaret Keane, Maria Villanueva, 2020-06-12 Unthinking prejudice is a major challenge in an ever changing pluralist Europe where local and global identities intermingle and contested pasts clash The new geographies constructed in response to this are at the core of Thinking European(s) It has been written to bring these geographies alive and to foster active and reflective citizens who are able to work productively within Europe's changing cultural environment This integrated work provides a framework to stimulate students' critical thinking and to prompt reflection It seeks to stir geographical imaginations through case studies carried out in Austria Bulgaria Finland Ireland Poland Portugal Spain Turkey the United Kingdom and the United States The authors of Thinking European(s) cross cultures religions languages genders ideologies and political boundaries they stress dialogue negotiation and value multiple geographical knowledges University teachers and undergraduates will find Thinking European(s) a valuable resource for courses on Europe Regional Geography European Integration European Studies Cultural Studies Social Studies or Area Studies A New History of Ireland Volume VII J. R. Hill, 2003-12-04 A New History of Ireland is the largest scholarly project in modern Irish history In 9 volumes it provides a comprehensive new synthesis of modern scholarship on every aspect of Irish history and prehistory from the earliest geological and archaeological evidence through the Middle Ages down to the present day Volume VII covers a period of major significance in Ireland's history It outlines the division of Ireland and the eventual establishment of the Irish Republic It provides comprehensive coverage of political developments north and south as well as offering chapters on the economy literature in English and Irish the Irish language the visual arts emigration and immigration and the history of women The contributors to this volume all specialists in their field provide the most comprehensive treatment of these developments of any single volume survey of twentieth century Ireland

Differential Aesthetics Penny Florence, Nicola Foster, 2017-11-30 This title was first published in 2000 This is an interdisciplinary and international collection on aesthetics with contributions from artists and philosophers and the range of thinkers about art in between It aims to provide a forum for the kinds of question that used to be addressed within traditional aesthetics but which have until recently been sidelined in critical writing about art and indeed in many of the most important art practices The collection as a whole is situated in relation to feminists' approaches but the editors hope that it will not be read as limited to them Nationalism, Ethnicity and the State John Coakley, 2012-11-12 This exciting new book is the first to offer a truly comprehensive account of the vibrant topic of nationalism Packed with a series of rich illustrative examples the book examines this powerful and remarkable political force by exploring Definitions of nationalism Language and nationalism Religion and Nationalism Nationalist history The social roots of ideologies and the significance of race gender and class Nationalist movements from dominant majorities to peripheral minorities socio economic and sociological perspectives State responses to nationalism Supported by a number of helpful illustrations tables and diagrams the text is both engaging and highly informative Nationalism Ethnicity and the State Making and Breaking Nations will prove an insightful read for both undergraduate and postgraduate students and researchers in the area of Politics and International Relations

Gender, Identity and Place Linda McDowell, 2018-03-23 Feminist approaches within the social sciences have expanded enormously since the 1960s In addition in recent years geographic perspectives have become increasingly significant as feminist recognition of the differences between women their diverse experiences in different parts of the world and the importance of location in the social construction of knowledge has placed varied geographies at the centre of contemporary feminist and postmodern debates Gender Identity and Place is an accessible and clearly written introduction to the wide field of issues that have been addressed by geographers and feminist scholars It combines the careful definition and discussion of key concepts and theoretical approaches with a wealth of empirical detail from a wide ranging selection of case studies and other empirical research It is organized on the basis of spatial scale examining the relationships between gender and place from the body to the nation although the links between different spatial scales are also emphasized The conceptual division and spatial separation between the public and private spheres and their association with men and women respectively has been a crucial part of the social construction of gendered differences and its establishment maintenance and reshaping from industrial urbanization to the end of the millennium is a central linking theme in the eight substantive chapters The book concludes with an assessment of the possibilities of doing feminist research It will be essential reading for students in geography feminist theory women s studies anthropology and sociology

Breaking Enmities P. Grant, 2016-07-27 This book discusses relationships among religion literature and ethnicity in Northern Ireland since 1967 The introduction provides a theoretical account of how literature engages sectarian prejudices allowing these to be played out in ways that can help to dissolve or mitigate the alienating effects of traditional enmities Subsequent chapters deal with identity endogamy education gender and imprisonment Each chapter combines an analysis of specific cultural issues with a critical assessment of relevant works by key authors A conclusion offers an assessment of relationships between Northern Ireland and other modern societies facing analogous problems in a post modern world marked by rapid globalisation

Our Own Devices Ewan Morris, 2005 National symbols have long been highly contentious in Ireland and they remain so today While there have been a number of studies which have examined the role of symbols in the contemporary conflict in Northern Ireland as yet there has been no detailed study of debates about national symbols in twentieth century Ireland This book fills that gap outlining the historical background to the continuing controversy about national symbols in Ireland and shedding new light on the deep political divisions which have marked Irish society throughout this century Our Own Devices focuses on the crucial period from 1922 to 1939 which saw the creation and consolidation of new governments in the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland It also examines in detail the selection of official symbols of state by governments in both parts of Ireland and public responses to those symbols Having discussed the conflicts over symbols which took place in the early decades of the two states the book concludes by bringing the story up to date and relating earlier controversies about national symbols to current debates about the role of symbols in conflict and peacemaking in Northern Ireland This study is a pioneering work in this relatively new area of Irish history and is based on extensive original research using many sources which have not previously been cited in published works Art, Nation and Gender Síghle Bhreathnach-Lynch, 2018-01-18

This title was first published in 2003 The essay collection explores the conjunctions of nation gender and visual representation in a number of countries including Ireland Scotland Britain Canada Finland Russia and Germany during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The contributors show visual imagery to be a particularly productive focus for analysing the intersections of nation and gender since the nation and nationalism as abstract concepts have to be embodied in ways that make them imaginable especially through the means of art They explore how allegorical female figures personify the nation across a wide range of visual media from sculpture to political cartoons and how national architectures may also be gendered They show how through such representations art reveals the ethno cultural bases of nationalisms Through the study of such images the essays in this volume cast new light on the significance of gender in the construction of nationalist ideology and the constitution of the nation state In tackling the conjunctions of nation gender and visual representation the case studies presented in this publication can be seen to provide exciting new perspectives on the study of nations of gender and the history of art The range of countries chosen and the variety of images scrutinised create a broad arena for further debate Print and Popular Culture in Ireland, 1750-1850 Niall O Ciosáin, 2016-07-27 This highly acclaimed book is being published for the first time in paperback The author studies the cheap printed literature which was read in eighteenth and nineteenth century Ireland and the cultures of its audience It takes an interdisciplinary approach to a little known topic pursuing comparisons with other regions such as Brittany and Scotland By addressing questions such as the language shift and the unique social configuration of Ireland in this period it adds a new dimension to the growing body of studies of popular culture in Europe Women, States and Nationalism Sita Ranchod-Nilsson, Mary Ann Tetreault, 2003-09-02 Women

States and Nationalism counters this attitude and examines the many and contradictory ways in which women negotiate their places in the nation The volume includes theoretical essays that explore the multiple ways in which the very concept of nation is based upon notions of family sexuality and gender power which are often overlooked or downplayed by male stream scholarship It gathers together an outstanding panel of feminist scholars and area studies specialists who through a series of focused case studies analyse diverse issues which include gender and sectarian conflict in Northern Ireland the paradox of Israeli women soldiers women civic duty and the military in the USA the Hindu Right in India power agency and representation in Zimbabwe political identity and heterosexism This timely volume is a highly valuable resource for students and scholars of Nationalism Internationalism Studies and Women s Studies
