Stern,Liselotte Bendix Stern,2013-05-13 The culmination of over three decades of investigation into traumatic processes Repetition and Trauma is the late Max Stern s pioneering reconceptualization of trauma in the light of recent insights into the physiology and psychology of stress and the teleonomic character of human evolution in developing defenses against shock As such it is a highly original attempt to reformulate certain basic tenets of psychoanalysis with the findings of modern biology in general and neurobiology in particular At the core of Stern s effort is the integration of laboratory research into sleep and dreaming so as to clarify the meaning of pavor nocturnus In concluding that these night terrors represent a defense against stress caused by threatening nightmares he exploits though he interpretively departs from the laboratory research on dreams conducted by Charles Fisher and others in the 1960s From his understanding of pavor nocturnus as a compulsion to repeat in the service of overcoming a developmental failure to attribute meaning to states of tension Stern enlarges his inquiry to the phenomena of repetitive dreams in general In a brilliant reconstruction of Freud s Beyond the Pleasure Principle he suggests that Freud was correct in attributing the repetitive phenomena of traumatic dreams to forces operating beyond the pleasure principle but holds that these phenomena can be best illumined in terms of Freud s conception of mastery and Stern s own notion of reparative mastery The Sprig of Shillelah Dinny Blake,1852 Managing Pain in the Older Adult Michaelene P. Jansen, PhD, RN-C, GNP-BC, NP-C,2008-03-20 Our elderly population is the fastest growing segment of society and pain particularly chronic pain is one of the most common problems this group faces In Managing Pain in the Older Adult Dr Jansen provides treatment options designed for older adults Controlling pain can be challenging as the elderly in addition to the common physiologic changes of aging often have multiple health problems and take many medications Furthermore drugs are only rarely tested on older adults so pharmaceutical intervention often relies on a slow trial and error regime Drawing on her experience in critical care and neuroscience nursing as well as work as a GNP Dr Jansen adopts a multimodality approach to focus on the assessment diagnosis and treatment of acute and chronic pain among older adults with interventional non interventional pharmacotherapeutic and nonpharmacotherapeutic methods Managing Pain in the Older Adult addresses a myriad of factors pertaining exclusively to pain management among the elderly including The importance of early recognition of pain symptoms Environmental factors that influence pain and its perception Specific issues involved when treating the elderly Non pharmaceutical treatments physical therapy acupuncture and other complementary techniques Lack of resources for treating pain in the aged The book will serve as an invaluable reference for a wide range of health care providers working with our aging population

Moans, Groans, Cries, and Sighs Gian Carlo Menotti, 1991

To Have Nothing David Milnes, 2011-05 In a dark night of the soul a bourgeois citizen runs away from home; his life has been a lie, a waste, a wilful delusion. For forty days and forty nights he suffers and shivers alone in a derelict Notting Hill villa. Then the inevitable: A pre-Thatcherite workers' cooperative led by a minor aristocrat storms the villa and lays waste to his precious penance. Live and let live he cries. But no. If the workers cannot save him, they must damn him.
