Mother Time Women Aging And Ethics:

Mother Time Margaret Urban Walker, 1999 Fifteen original essays open up a novel area of inquiry the distinctively ethical dimensions of women's experiences of and in aging Contributors distinguished in the fields of feminist ethics and the ethics of aging explore assumptions experiences practices and public policies that affect women's well being and dignity in later life The book brings to the study of women's aging a reflective dimension missing from the empirical work that has predominated to date Ethical studies of aging have so far failed to emphasize gender And feminist ethics has neglected older women even when emphasizing other dimensions of difference Finally work on aging in all fields has focused on the elderly while this volume sees aging as an extended process of negotiating personal and social change

Mother Time Margaret Urban Walker, 2000-03-09 This collection of original essays opens up a novel area of inquiry the distinctively ethical dimension of women's experiences of aging Fifteen distinguished contributors here explore assumptions experiences practices and public policies that affect women's well being and dignity in later life The book brings to the study of women's aging a reflective dimension missing from the empirical work that has predominated to date Ethical studies of aging have so far failed to emphasize gender And feminist ethics has neglected older women even when emphasizing other dimensions of difference Finally work on aging in all fields has focused on the elderly while this volume sees aging as an extended process of negotiating personal and social change

Women Ageing. Literature and Experience Brian J. Worsfold, 2005 Se puede llegar a concebir el envejecimiento como un proceso diferencial según el género Aspectos analizados en diferentes narraciones sobre el envejecimiento femenino demuestran que así es Miradas al espejo revisiones de vida y la expresión de la sexualidad son rasgos distintivos del proceso vital femenino En este libro se revelan los sentimientos las preocupaciones las prioridades y las aspiraciones que moldean las distintas fases de las vidas de las mujeres

Women in Late Life Martha Holstein, 2015-03-19 Contemporary old age is fraught with contradiction and complexity women portrayed either as incompetent and cuddly grandmothers or as young women trapped in old bodies images that rarely reflect how women actually see themselves Women in Late Life explores the thorny issues related to gender and aging including prevailing but problematic cultural expectations body image ageism the experience of chronic illness threats to Social Security and the very possibility of a secure retirement while challenging a long term care system that disadvantages women Author Martha Holstein writes from a critical feminist perspective drawing on her many years of experience in gerontology as well as interviews and personal experience as a woman now in her seventies The book highlights how women's experience of late life is shaped by the effects of lifelong gender norms by contemporary culture from gender stereotypes to ageism and by the political context The book blends critique with proposals aimed at resisting damaging inequities resulting from being simultaneously old and a woman She focuses on changes needed on multiple levels societal cultural political and individual This interdisciplinary look at key questions around gender and aging is nuanced and beautifully written

for Our Elders David N. Weisstub, David C. Thomasma, S. Gauthier, G.F. Tomossy, 2013-06-29 Caring for Our Elders is the second of three volumes on Aging conceived for the International Library of Ethics Law and the New Medicine Leading scholars from a range of disciplines address some of the major issues in elder care facing modern nations familial duties of care the future of social welfare systems housing dementia abuse and neglect Re-Imagining Old Age: Wellbeing, care and participation Marian Barnes, Beatrice Gahagan, Lizzie Ward, 2018-05-15 The understanding that humans are relational beings is central to the development of an ethical perspective that is built around the significance of care in all our lives Our survival as infants is dependent on the care we receive from others And for all of us in particular in older age there are times when illness emotional or physical frailty mean that we require the care of others to enable us to deal with everyday life With this in mind this book presents the findings of a project that seeks to understand what wellbeing means to older people and to influence the practice of those who work with older people Its starting point was a shared commitment amongst researchers and an NGO collaborator to the value of working with older people in both research and practice to learn from them and be influenced by them rather than seeing them as the subjects of a research project Theoretically the authors draw upon a range of studies in critical gerontology that seek to understand how experiences of ageing are shaped by their social economic cultural and political contexts By employing a broad body of work that challenges normative assumptions of successful ageing the authors draw attention to how these assumptions have been constructed through neo liberal policies of active ageing Notably they also apply insights from feminist ethics of care which are based on a relational ontology that challenges neo liberal assumptions of autonomous individualism Influenced by relational ethics they are attentive to older people both as co researchers and research respondents By successfully applying this perspective to social care practice they facilitate the need for practitioners to reflect on personal aspects of ageing and care but also to bridge the gap between the personal and the professional Communities of Kinship Carlo Calleja, 2024-03-12 In Communities of Kinship Retrieving Christian Practices of Solidarity with Lepers as a Paradigm for Overcoming Exclusion of Older People Carlo Calleja describes kinship as a moral category arguing that practicing kinship with others can cultivate virtues that shape the character of the agent Contemporary Western society tends to focus on kinship as the sharing of blood ties or genetic material On the other hand the spiritual kinship that is proposed by religions tends to be exclusive and often nominal For this reason Calleja proposes practices and structures of solidaristic kinship which involves sharing in the suffering of the other person Finding parallels between the exclusion of lepers and the efforts of Christian communities to reforge kinship bonds with them in ancient and medieval times he argues that communities of kinship with older persons can help cultivate the virtues needed for the flourishing of oneself and society Learning to Be Old Margaret Cruikshank, 2013-02-14 Margaret Cruikshank's Learning to Be Old examines what it means to grow old in America today The book questions social myths and fears about aging sickness and the other social roles of the elderly the over medicalization of many older people and ageism In this book

Cruikshank proposes alternatives to the ways aging is usually understood in both popular culture and mainstream gerontology. Learning to Be Old does not propose the ideas of successful aging or productive aging but more the idea of learning how to age. Featuring new research and analysis, the third edition of Learning to be Old demonstrates more thoroughly than the previous editions that aging is socially constructed. Among texts on aging, the book is unique in its clear focus on the differences in aging for women and men as well as for people in different socioeconomic groups. Cruikshank is able to put aging in a broad context that not only focuses on how aging affects women but men as well. Key updates in the third edition include changes in the health care system, changes in how long older Americans are working, especially given the impact of the recession, and new material on the brain and mind/body interconnections. Cruikshank impressively challenges conventional ideas about aging in this third edition of Learning to be Old. This will be a must read for everyone interested in new ideas surrounding aging in America today.

Ethics, Aging, and Society Martha B. Holstein, Mark Waymack, Jennifer Parks, Jennifer A. Parks, 2010-11-01

Ethics Aging and Society is the first major work in ten years to critically address issues and methodologies in aging and ethics. This well organized volume begins theoretically and offers new ways of thinking about ethics that can handle the complexities and realities of aging in particular social contexts. Choice. This new research based book by experts in the field of ethics is excellent and much needed. I challenge you to consider reading this book and seeing all the ways in which you might be forced to rethink things that most of us take as given for ethics and aging. I know you will not be disappointed and I guarantee you will end up thinking long and hard about personal and professional decisions you may have made as well as your assumptions about aging in America.

CFLE Network Newsletter National Council on Family Relations

This is a book that should be required reading for all involved in the ethical provision of services to the aging on any level as well as for policy makers and administrators in positions of influence over the lives of older patients.

PsycCRITIQUES

The authors' application of feminist ethics to frail elders rings true to both my clinical experience working with frail elders and my research experience trying to understand their quality of life concerns. There were true gems of ideas in this book that illuminated the limitations of the dominant paradigm of autonomy in bioethics. The authors make a compelling critique of end of life care.

GeriPal A Geriatrics and Palliative Care Blog

This book presents second generation issues in ethics, aging and society by presenting critical outcomes that arise when ethics is applied to the practical concerns that occur in day to day elder care. The first volume in over 10 years to address ethics and gerontology, it is unparalleled in its comprehensiveness and integration of well developed philosophical arguments with empirical research, humanistic scholarship and insights gained from practical experience. This book challenges the tried and true approaches to ethical issues in aging and opens avenues for creative problem solving. The authors' diverse backgrounds bring the advantages of both interdisciplinary scholarship and practical experience to this comprehensive textbook. It is an essential resource for those interested in and working with older people from upper level undergraduate students and graduate division students to gerontology practitioners in training Key Features Presents the first major work in over 10 years to integrate the disciplines of ethics and aging Includes case studies derived from day to day practice Addresses individual clinical ethics in health and long term care and ethical issues raised by public policy cultural norms and social attitudes Examines such critical issues as Alzheimer s disease long term care ageism public policy anti aging medicine elder abuse and natural disasters Explores new directions in ethical and social philosophy as they pertain to gerontology and care     The Cambridge Handbook of Age and Ageing Malcolm L. Johnson,Vern L. Bengtson,Peter G. Coleman,Thomas B. L. Kirkwood,2005-12-01 The Cambridge Handbook of Age and Ageing first published in 2005 is a guide to the body of knowledge theory policy and practice relevant to age researchers and gerontologists around the world It contains almost 80 original chapters commissioned and written by the world s leading gerontologists from 16 countries and 5 continents The broad focus of the book is on the behavioural and social sciences but it also includes important contributions from the biological and medical sciences It provides comprehensive accessible and authoritative accounts of all the key topics in the field ranging from theories of ageing to demography physical aspects of ageing mental processes and ageing nursing and health care for older people the social context of ageing cross cultural perspectives relationships quality of life gender and financial and policy provision This handbook will be a must have resource for all researchers students and professionals with an interest in age and ageing
