Warlike Christians in an Age of Violence Nick Megoran, 2017-10-03 How should Christians respond to war This age old question has become more pressing given Western governments recent overseas military interventions and the rise of extremist Islamist jihadism Grounded in conservative evangelical theology this book argues the historic church position that it is inadmissible for Christians to use violence or take part in war It shows how the church s propensity to support the just wars crusades rebellions or humanitarian interventions of its host nations over time has been disastrous for the reputation of the gospel Instead the church s response to war is simply to be the church by preaching the gospel and making peace in the love and power of God The book considers challenges to this argument for gospel peace What about warfare in the Old Testament and military metaphors in the New What of church history And how do we deal with tyrants like Hitler and terrorists like Islamic State Charting a path between just war theory and liberal pacifism numerous inspiring examples from the worldwide church are used to demonstrate effective and authentically Christian responses to violence The author argues that as Christians increasingly drop their unbiblical addiction to war we may be entering one of the most exciting periods of church history

R.

Griffiths, 2019-01-14 In today s world the Christian is constantly being challenged with new teachings Some of these are particularly dangerous because they are put forward by those with evangelical credentials Tom Nicholas Wright is one of the leading proponents of the New Perspective on Paul Wright sees himself as the new Luther a discoverer of the true biblical understanding of key doctrines like that of justification by faith According to him the Reformation misunderstood the nature of justification by faith alone and the role of the law in the Old Testament Wright maintains that this has continued to be the case for those of the Reformed Faith He tells us that we are guilty of anachronism whereby we interpret first century Judaism in the light of medieval Roman Catholicism In this work the writer not only defends the Reformed understanding of this vital doctrine but also seeks to show how Wright has misunderstood the nature of the new covenant and the place of ethnic Israel

Wright, 2009-09-25 N T Wright offers a comprehensive account and defense of his perspective on the crucial doctrine of justification Along the way Wright responds to critics such as John Piper who have challenged what has come to be called the New Perspective Ultimately he provides a chance for those in the middle of and on both sides of the debate to interact directly with his views and form their own conclusions Did the Reformers Misread Paul? Aaron T. O'Kelley, 2014-10-07 By placing the Reformation doctrine of justification in its historical theological context against the backdrop of late medieval Catholic theology O Kelley demonstrates that the real nature of the debate between Rome and the Reformers was not grace vs works per se but rather the Reformation's clear law gospel distinction vs Rome's law gospel synthesis This extraordinary study seeks to allow the Reformers and their heirs a fair hearing in the current debate over Paul's doctrine of justification a courtesy that they have too often been denied Jesus and Paul Reconnected Todd D. Still, 2007-10-15 The six essays in this volume consider the relationship between Jesus and Paul from diverse angles bringing fresh insights into an area of study that has long lain dormant Written by established scholars Jesus and Paul Reconnected explores historical congruity between Christ and his apostle and examines potential connections in their thought relationships and practices Topics considered include the grace of God treatment of the poor law and gospel Peter's connection between the two the Last Supper and the death of Christ Todd Still brings these superb scholars together in hopes of encouraging further conversation and contributing to this growing area of New Testament research The result is a new and stimulating exploration of these two extraordinary figures of the faith Contributors John M G Barclay Markus Bockmuehl Beverly Roberts Gaventa Bruce W Longenecker Francis Watson Stephen Westerholm
