Moriarty, 1980 This study describes and explains the concepts materials and methods designed to make community industrial development programs more effective It attempts to reconcile the three different and often conflicting interest groups involved the industrial land user represented by the manufacturer searching for a location the landowner represented by the industrial or economic developer and the community represented by the planner and other government officials Originally published in 1980 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value

The Social Production of Urban Space M. Gottdiener, 2010-07-22 From reviews of the first edition This is perhaps the best theoretically oriented book by a United States urban sociologist since the work of Firey Hawley and Sjoborg in the 1940s and 1950s Gottdiener is on the cutting edge of urban theoretical work today Joe R Feagin Contemporary Sociology Since its first publication in 1985 The Social Production of Urban Space has become a landmark work in urban studies In this second edition M Gottdiener assesses important new theoretical models of urban space and their shortcomings including the global perspective the flexible accumulation school postmodernism the new international division of labor and the growth machine perspective Going beyond the limitations of these and older theories Gottdiener proposes a model of urban growth that accounts for the deconcentration away from the central city that began in the United States in the 1920s and continues today Sociologists political scientists economists geographers and urban planners will find his interdisciplinary approach to urban science invaluable as it is currently the most comprehensive treatment of European

Goetz,Steven Deller,Tom Harris,2009-03-25 This book addresses the growing interest in cluster and targeted economic developments reviewing the socioeconomic theoretical foundations of industry targeting and suggesting alternative methods of identifying industries for targeting Institutions and Systems in the Geography of Innovation M.P. Feldman,Nadine Massard,2012-12-06 This volume provides a collection of theoretical articles and empirical studies on innovation and location by focusing on the institutions and systems that mediate knowledge spillovers The objective is to provide an international comparison using a variety of approaches The volume is organized around the three themes The first focuses on theoretical work that attempts to advance our understanding of knowledge externalities and systems on innovation The second section provides empirical studies that attempt to measure these impacts The final section considers future challenges to regional economic development policy in the face of economic integration and globalization A New Perspective on Agglomeration Economies in Japan Akihiro Otsuka,2017-09-18 This book describes various methods of analysis for ascertaining the effects of agglomeration economies which are important for formulating regional economic policies Specifically it describes new analytical approaches using productivity and productive efficiency analyses as methods for understanding agglomeration economies Additionally the book provides application results for Japanese regions and proposes desirable regional policies According to the new analytical methods advocated in this book agglomeration economies are larger in major metropolitan areas than in local regions and in the manufacturing sector than in the non manufacturing sector These results are consistent with general knowledge Moreover the majority of productivity growth pertaining to regional economies is explainable by improvements to accessibility Improving accessibility for regions reduces transportation costs between them and strengthens agglomeration economies which in turn enable the sustainable development of regional economies Therefore this book highlights the need not only to reinforce existing agglomeration areas but also to form a network between these agglomerations and to strengthen it so as to realize regional economic growth despite a decreasing population Catalog of Copyright Entries. Knowledge, Technology and the Transformation of Regions Charlie Karlsson, Börje Johansson, Roger Stough, 2013-06-26

In recent years policy makers have given much credence to the role of entrepreneurship in the transformation of regions. As a result a new set of policy responses have emerged that focus on the support of new venture creation, small business growth and idea generation and commercialization. While there is a wealth of research about entrepreneurship in general, less attention has been given to the development of new tools and programs in support of entrepreneurial activities and to the ways in which the emergence, the character and the types of entrepreneurship policies might differ between countries. In particular, the transatlantic perspective is of special interest because of the pioneering role of the United States in this area and also due to the European Union's focus on economic competitiveness. The contributions included in this book explore the emergence of entrepreneurship policies from a transatlantic comparative perspective and address different aspects of entrepreneurship policies including local entrepreneurship policies and the relationship between knowledge based industries and entrepreneurship policies.

Micro-analysis Of Regional Economy In China, The: A Perspective Of Firm

Relocation Houkai Wei, Yeqiang Wang, Mei Bai, 2013-08-28 The book presents the comprehensive research findings on the basic features, formation mechanisms and evolution laws of Chinese enterprise migration from the micro perspective of enterprise migration and on this basis the influences from enterprise migration on industrial agglomeration and diffusion as well as the evolution of regional economy. The migration trends, power mechanisms, determining factors, structural and spatial effects of Chinese manufacturing industry have also been studied. The author also puts forward policy advice on the themes above such as the central government should pay more attention to the fairness goals in the market economy framework; some policies should be improved to positively and reasonably guide and regulate firm relocation in China; for example, enterprises from Chinese coastal areas should be encouraged to move to the mid and west areas; the industrialization and urbanization in mid and west areas should be accelerated; the economic development should be geared to the bearing capacity of natural resources and environment; industries and economic activities should be promoted to agglomerate effectively in metropolitan regions. This book provides a comprehensive analysis on the relocation of enterprises in China as well as the situation of China's regional economic development. The author, Wei Houkai, as an authoritative economist on regional development of China, completed his detailed survey on China's regional economy from this perspective of enterprise relocation together with his research group. This book doubtlessly provides a valuable opportunity for readers in English world to obtain the realistic and rational messages about what is happening in China in certain domains. The author whose policy advice has always been adopted by the government of China raises some significant viewpoints based on his distinctive insight which may be influencing the regional development route in China.
