its analysis of cities space and economy from the High Middle Ages to the present Markets trade and economy in general have formed the backbone of urban life ever since the emergence of cities and towns but classical theorists have largely focused on developments in Western Europe Urban research in the last few decades has advanced in many ways to supersede and correct this still influential image and to include other parts of Europe into the analytical framework Building on these emerging methodologies this volume pays close attention to the fringes of Europe in the East North West and South The essays discuss the development of various spaces as nodal points for the exchange and production of commodities that took place in cities and towns The scope of this work allows for a point of comparison to frequently studied examples in Europe encouraging readers to identify larger patterns beyond individual examples Cities and Economy in Europe Markets and Trade on the Margins from the Middle Ages to the Present is the perfect resource for students and researchers of economic and urban history

Military Revolution and the Thirty Years War 1618-1648 Olli Bäckström, 2023-11-08 Military Revolution and the Thirty Years War 1618-1648 investigates change and decline in military institutions during a period of protracted and destructive European warfare Conceptual background is provided by the Military Revolution thesis which argues that changes in military technology and tactics drove revolutionary transformation in the way states organised and waged war in the early modern era This transformation of military institutions became evident during the long and destructive Thirty Years War in 1618-1648. The outcome of the Military Revolution was the centralised fiscal military state that possessed a strong claim to the monopoly of violence within its territorial boundaries. The book examines how the Thirty Years War accelerated and even initiated transformation in four military institutions that defined land warfare: feudal cavalry services, militias, regular armies and war commissariats. The regional scope of the investigation covers the Holy Roman Empire, France, Spain, Portugal, Sweden, Denmark and the Dutch Republic. The book combines military historical inquiry with ancillary sciences of sociology and economics. It argues that the Military Revolution of the Thirty Years War stimulated institutions capable of increased complexification and specialisation while curtailing those that were locked in stasis and immutability. The institutional legacy of the Thirty Years War was the emergence of complex military organisations that are characteristic to the modern society and its self-renewing social subsystems. Previous scholarship on the Military Revolution has concentrated on military technicalities and the wider process of early modern state formation. This book proposes an alternative way of viewing early modern military transformations from the perspectives of institutions and systems. System analytical survey of change and decline in the military institutions of the Thirty Years War introduces qualifications to the Military Revolution theory and offers a novel way of conceptualising early modern military history.

От империй - к империализму. Государство и возникновение буржуазной цивилизации Борис Кагарлицкий, 2021-12-08 XVIII-XIX Essays on Industrialisation in France, Norway and Spain Kristine Bruland, 2005 Migration, Regional Integration and Human Security Harald Kleinschmidt, 2017-03-02 This original and timely book is the first to analyze the interconnectedness of migration, regional integration and the new security studies. Exploring the conflict between the actions of transnational migrants and state government policy in a series of theoretical chapters and regional case studies, the book includes theoretical chapters which look at three key facets of the nation-state: population, territory and government, discussing the ways in which migration, regional integration and new security thinking challenge the accepted role and responsibilities of the state. Regional case studies are also included which explore the specific challenges faced in regions including Central America, Asia and the Pacific and Central and Eastern Europe. As a book that asks crucial questions about the formulation of migration policies and the consequences of that success or failure, it will be essential reading for students and scholars of migration in sociology, politics and international relations and also for those with professional interests in the area.
