Women At Sea NA NA, 2016-04-30 From cross dressing pirates to servants and slaves women have played vital and often surprising roles in the navigation and cultural mapping of Caribbean territory Yet these experiences rarely surface in the increasing body of critical literature on women's travel writing which has focused on European or American women traveling to exotic locales as imperial subjects This stellar collection of essays offers a contestatory discourse that embraces the forms of travelogue autobiography and ethnography as vehicles for women's rewriting of flawed or incomplete accounts of Caribbean cultures This study considers writing by Caribbean women such as the slave narrative of Mary Prince and the autobiography of Jamaican nurse Mary Seacole and works by women whose travels to the Caribbean had enormous impacts on their own lives such as Aphra Behn and Zora Neale Hurston Ranging across cultural historical literary and class dimensions of travel writing these essays give voice to women writers who have been silenced ignored or marginalized some like Laura Esquivel's Like Water for Chocolate have become international best sellers. The unprecedented commercial success of these novels has generated mixed reactions at the same time that the secondary status afforded women's narrative has come to be questioned in many academic circles; some authors are dissociating themselves from women's writing. Transatlantic Travels in Nineteenth-Century Latin America Adriana Méndez Rodenas, 2013-12-12. Transatlantic Travels in Nineteenth Century Latin America: European Women Pilgrims retraces the steps of five intrepid lady travelers who ventured into the geography of the New World: Mexico, the Southern Cone, Brazil, and the Caribbean at a crucial historical juncture: the period of political anarchy following the break from Spain and the rise of modernity at the turn of the twentieth century. Traveling as historians, social critics, ethnographers, and artists, Frances Erskine Inglis (1806-82), Maria Graham (1785-1842), Flora Tristan (1803-44), Fredrika Bremer (1801-65), and Adela Breton (1849-1923) reshaped the map of nineteenth-century Latin America. Organized by themes rather than by individual authors, this book examines European women's travels as a spectrum of narrative discourses ranging from natural history, history, and ethnography. Women's social condition becomes a focal point of their travels. By combining diverse genres and perspectives, women's travel writing ushers a new vision of post-independence societies. The trope of pilgrimage conditions the female travel experience, which suggests both the meta-end of the journey as well as the broader cultural frame shaping their individual itineraries.

Madres Del Verbo Nina M. Scott, 1999. A bilingual anthology of writings by both secular and religious women writers from colonial Latin America through the 19th century.

Latin American Perspectives on Globalization Mario Sáenz, 2002-10-23. From the most prominent thinkers in Latin American philosophy, literature, politics, and social science comes a challenge to conventional theories of globalization. The contributors to this volume imagine a discourse in which revolution is defined not as a temporalized march of progress or takeover of state power but as a movement for local control that upholds standards of material conditions for human dignity. Essays on identity, equality, and ethics propose models of transcultural and intercultural relations that replace center-periphery or world systems approaches; they impel us to focus on building dialogic relationships rather than on accommodating universalized paradigms. Ultimately suggesting a reconstruction of the world in terms of the interests of one of the peripheral regions of the world, Latin American Perspectives on Globalization argues with cogency and urgency that no one within contemporary globalization debates can afford to ignore the Latin American philosophical tradition.
