Emergent Architectural Territories in East Asian Cities Peter G. Rowe, 2012-12-12 This book presents current developments in city planning and architecture in East Asia It describes the many neighborhoods in which the region's large cities are modernizing or expanding with innovative structures and advanced construction projects It combines a typology of public structures with an analysis of the compositional principles of urban environments Thus it finally connects new developments in city planning with new developments in architecture and considers examples such as CCTV Lujiazui Kansai Airport Xinyi Taipei 101 Chek Lap Kok Cheonggyecheon Roppongi Hills Da Shanzi Shahe Omotesando and Marina Bay from a new perspective And the new perspectives presented here are not just theoretical some forty full page bird's eye views prepared especially for this volume show these future urban settings in highly detailed images of breathtaking beauty The result is a rich portrait of the coming together of global and local influences in non Western countries With its systematic approach this presentation by one of the leading international experts in the field is a reference work on a topic of central importance to the world of construction today

Shanghai Future Anna Greenpan, 2014-11-15 China is in the midst of the fastest and most intense process of urbanization the world has ever known and Shanghai its biggest richest and most cosmopolitan city is positioned for acceleration into the twenty first century Yet in its embrace of a hopeful even exultant futurism Shanghai recalls the older and much criticized project of imagining planning and building the modern metropolis Today among Westerners at least the very idea of the futuristic city with its multilayered skyways domestic robots and flying cars seems doomed to the realm of nostalgia the sadly comic promise of a future that failed to materialize Shanghai Future maps the city of tomorrow as it resurfaces in a new time and place It searches for the contours of an unknown and unfamiliar futurism in the city's street markets as well as in its skyscrapers For though it recalls the modernity of an earlier age Shanghai's current re emergence is only superficially based on mimicry Rather in seeking to fulfill its ambitions the giant metropolis is reinventing the very idea of the future itself As it modernizes Shanghai is necessarily recreating what it is to be modern

Perry, 2020-10-26 For many years China and India have been powerfully shaped by both transnational and subnational circulatory forces This edited volume explores these local and global influences as they play out in the contemporary era The analysis focuses on four intersecting topics labor relations legal reform and rights protest public goods provision and transnational migration and investment The eight substantive chapters and introduction share a common perspective in arguing that distinctions in regime type democracy versus dictatorship alone offer little insight into critical differences and similarities between these Asian giants in terms of either policies or performance A wide variety of subnational and transnational actors from municipal governments to international organizations and from local NGO activists to a far flung diaspora have been and will continue to be decisive The authors approach China and India through a strategy of convergent comparison in which they investigate temporal and spatial parallels at various critical junctures at various levels of the political system and both inside and outside the territorial confines of the nation state The intensified globalization of recent decades only heightens the need to view state initiatives against such a wider canvas Globalization, Modernity and the City John Rennie Short,2013-03-01 We live in a world of big cities Urbanization globalization and modernization have received considerable attention but rarely are the connections and relations between them the subjects of similar attention Cities are an integral part of the network of globalization and important sites of modernization Globalization Modernity and The City weaves together broad social themes with detailed urban analysis to explore the connections between the rise of big cities the creation of a global network and the making of the modern world It explains the growth of big cities the urban bias of global flows and the creation of metropolitan modernities The text develops broad theories of the subtle and complex interactions between urbanization globalization and modernization in a sweep of the urban experience across the globe Thematic chapters explore the making of the modern city in profiles of the growth of urban spectacles the role of flânerie the traffic issues of the modernist city recurring issues of urban utopias and the rise of the primate city Detailed case studies are drawn from cities in Australia China and the USA Urban snapshots of cities such as Atlanta Barcelona Istanbul Mumbai and Seoul provide a truly global coverage The book links together broad social themes with deep urban analysis This well written accessible and illustrated text will appeal to the broad audience of all those interested in the urban present and the metropolitan future Anyuan Elizabeth Perry,2012-10-01 How do we explain the surprising trajectory of the Chinese Communist revolution Why has it taken such a different route from its Russian prototype An answer Elizabeth Perry suggests lies in the Chinese Communists creative development and deployment of cultural resources during their revolutionary rise to power and afterwards Skillful cultural positioning and cultural patronage on the part of Mao Zedong his comrades and successors helped to construct a polity in which a once alien Communist system came to be accepted as familiarly Chinese Perry traces this process through a case study of the Anyuan coal mine a place where Mao and other early leaders of the Chinese Communist Party mobilized an influential labor movement at the beginning of their revolution and whose history later became a touchstone of political correctness in the People's Republic of China Once known as China's Little Moscow Anyuan came over time to symbolize a distinctively Chinese revolutionary tradition Yet the meanings of that tradition remain highly contested as contemporary Chinese debate their revolutionary past in search of a new political future In the Images of Development Tridib Banerjee,2021-06-08 The urban legacy of the Global South since the colonial era and how sustainable development and environmental and social justice can be achieved Remarkably little of the expansive literature on development and globalization considers actual urban form and the physical design of cities as outcomes of these phenomena The development that has shaped historic transformations in urban form and urbanism and the consequent human experiences remains largely unexplored In this book Tridib Banerjee fills this void by linking the idea of development with those of urbanism urban form and urban design focusing primarily on the contemporary cities in the developing world the Global South and their intrinsic prospects in city design Further he examines the endogenous possibilities for the future design of these cities that may address growing inequality and the environmental crisis Banerjee deftly traces the urban legacy of the Global South from the beginning of the colonial era closely examining the economic political and ideological forces that influenced colonial and postcolonial development drawing from relevant experiences of different cities in the developing world and discussing the arguments for the historic parity of these cities with their Western counterparts Finally Banerjee considers essential notions of future city design that are grounded in the critical challenges of sustainable development equity environmental and social justice and diversity and how such outcomes can be achieved This book serves as the opening of a long overdue conversation among design development and planning scholars and practitioners and those interested in the urban development of the Global South
