Cronulla in the south Sydney's coastline teems with life. People from around the city escape to the beaches to swim, surf, play and lie in the sun. Sydney Beaches tells the story of how Sydneysiders developed their love of the beach from 19th century picnickers to the surfing and sun-baking pioneers a century later. But Sydney's beaches have another history, one that is lesser known and more intriguing. Our world-famous beach culture only exists because the first beachgoers demanded important rights. This book is also the story of these battles for the beach. Accompanied by vibrant images of Sydney's surf, sand and sun worship, this expansive and delightful book is the story of how a city developed a relationship with its ocean coast and how a nation created a culture.

A Forger's Progress Alasdair McGregor, 2014-11-01. A forger and convicted felon Francis Greenway was transported to Sydney in 1814. Only a decade later his dreams of a city superior in architectural beauty to London began to be realized as he designed Hyde Park Barracks, St James Church, the Supreme Court, St Luke's Church in Liverpool and the Windsor courthouse. In this first biography of Greenway since 1953, award-winning author Alasdair McGregor scrutinizes the character and creative output of a man beset by contradictions and demons. He profiles Greenway's landmark buildings, his complex and fraught relationship with Governor Lachlan Macquarie and his thwarted ambitions and self-destruction.

Making Space Andrew MacLaran, 2014-04-04. Making Space studies the built environment by examining the private sector forces responsible for its development and the urban planning systems put in place to influence, guide and manipulate its outcomes. The first part provides a theoretical context for understanding the functions of the property development sector and the state's interventions through the medium of urban planning. It analyses the relationship between planning and development and focuses on the increasingly widespread adoption of more pro-active entrepreneurial planning agendas as a response to a growing disenchantment with traditional regulatory approaches. The second part comprises case studies drawn from Australia, New Zealand, the USA, the United Kingdom and Ireland which investigate the ways in which urban planning in different socio-political contexts has influenced the outcomes of the property development process as well as the manner in which such planning systems have changed in order to enhance their influence.

Smart Design Richard Hu, 2021-11-24. This book tackles the emerging smart urbanism to advance a new way of urban thinking and to explore a new design approach. It unravels several urban transformations in dualities: economic relationality and centrality, technological flattening and polarisation, and spatial division and fusion. These dualities are interdependent, concurrent, coexisting and contradictory; they are jointly disrupting and reshaping many aspects of contemporary cities and spaces. The book draws on a suite of international studies, experiences and observations, including case studies in Beijing, Singapore and Boston, to reveal how these processes are impacting urban design, development and policy approaches. The COVID-19 pandemic has accelerated many changes already in motion and provides an extreme circumstance for reflecting on and imagining urban spaces. These analyses, thoughts and visions inform an urban imaginary of smart design that incorporates change, flexibility, collaboration and experimentation, which together forge a paradigm of urban thinking. This paradigm builds upon the modernist and postmodernist urban design traditions and extends them in new directions responding to and anticipating a changing urban environment The book proposes a smart design manifesto to stimulate thought trigger debate and hopefully influence a new generation of urban thinkers and smart designers It will be of interest to scholars students and practitioners in the fields of urban design planning architecture urban development and urban studies
