Shaping The Culture Of Schooling The Rise Of Outcome Based:

Shaping the Culture of Schooling Cheryl Taylor Desmond, 1996-07-03 Winner of the 1998 American Educational Studies Association Critics Choice Titles Focusing on the cultural history of the origins of outcome based education OBE this book investigates the social and economic culture of Johnson City New York schools OBE has often been proclaimed the salvation for ailing American schools and has spread to thousands of school districts throughout the United States The reform has also been the lightning rod for fierce challenges from community members who oppose OBE's dismantling of the bell shaped curve and its promotion of secular humanism The author uncovers the messy business of school change and its deep roots in the values of the local community and economy Grounding the story historically and theoretically Desmond analyzes the reshaping of the Johnson City schools from a production mill for blue collar workers to a development center of technologically minded middle class well educated citizens She argues that the heart of successful synergistic school reform lies in the consensus that children have unlimited learning capacity and a long term moral leadership that is committed to caring reciprocal relationships of power

based learning can blend with Common Core aligned performance assessment for deeper learning You ll discover how many schools have successfully made the transition from traditional teacher centered learning to project based deeper learning and find many practical ideas for implementation Companion DVD and website include videos showing how to implement deeper learning strategies in the classroom Evidence based descriptions show why deeper learning is right for students Performance assessment experts explain how to align assessments with Common Core by shifting the emphasis from knowing to doing Extensive game plan section provides step by step guidance for change Schools are complex organizations and transformation involves all of the stakeholders from students to superintendents But as this book shows there are amazing benefits to be realized when everyone commits to diving deeper into learning Implementing Education Policies Jonathan D. Jansen,Yusuf Sayed,2001 For the first time in South Africa a critical dialogue has been recorded between government policy makers and academic researchers on the subject of education policy and practice Implementing education policies attends to problems politics and possibilities of implementing the policy goals of the first post apartheid government established in 1994 The value of this book lies in several insider accounts of the policy process told through the voices of the legislators politicians and bureaucrats concerned with steering national value commitments through the education system Running parallel to these practitioner accounts lie a number of critical analyses of the technical capabilities and political designs that explain the trajectory of education reform in the 1990s The dialogue brings together in a developing country context different experiences and analyses of one of the most intractable problems facing all national education systems the persistent gap between policy ideals and practical realities This volume is essential reading for all academics and students of education at higher education institutions as well as teachers researchers and policy makers Outcome-Based Cooperation Christopher Hodges,2022-09-22 How do we cooperate in social local business and state communities This book proposes an Outcome Based Cooperative Model in which all stakeholders work together on the basis of trust and respect to achieve shared aims and outcomes The Outcome Based Cooperative Model is built up from an extensive analysis of behavioural and social psychology genetic anthropology research into behaviour and culture in societies organisations regulation and enforcement The starting point is acceptance that humanity is facing ever larger risks which are now systemic and even existential To overcome the challenges humans need to cooperate more rather than compete alienate or draw apart Answering how we do that requires basing ourselves our institutions and systems on relationships that are built on trust Trust is based on evidence that we can be trusted to behave well ethically built up over time We should aim to agree common goals and outcomes moderating those that conflict produce evidence that we can be trusted and examine our performance in achieving the right outcomes rather than harmful ones The implications are that we need to do more in rebasing our relationships in local groupings business organisations regulation and dispute resolution The book examines recent systems and developments in all these areas and makes proposals of profound importance for reform This is a new blueprint for liberty solidarity performance and achievement Evaluating Global Accreditation Standards for Higher Education Naim, Arshi, Saklani, Alok, Khan, Shad Ahmad, Malik, Praveen Kumar, 2024-04-22 Higher education institutions must urgently overcome the difficulty of negotiating the complex web of international accreditation standards in a rapidly globalized world. Academic researchers, teachers, and administrators struggle with the intricacy of making sure their programs adhere to strict standards while still attempting to maintain their competitiveness on a global level. These organizations run the risk of stagnation and missing out on possibilities for advancement and recognition if there is no clear path forward. Evaluating Global Accreditation Standards for Higher Education is a comprehensive guide for overcoming the modern accreditation conundrum. This invaluable resource equips academic scholars and professionals with the tools and knowledge they need to successfully navigate the accreditation process at both local and international levels. From program criteria and curriculum development to faculty professional development and alumni engagement, this book offers a roadmap to excellence. By following the expert guidance within these pages, institutions can unlock their potential, achieve accreditation, and gain the recognition they deserve.

Calvin James L. Codling, 2010-06-09 This study examines the influence of John Calvin in ethics, eschatology, and education, as well as those influences that affected him. It examines his writings to determine if his vision made him an innovator. The research searched for reforms in the areas of ethics, curriculum, understanding of the teaching office, and universal education. It also looked at philosophy, economics, and labor. A belief in the afterlife and end times was an ethical motivation for Calvin, and education was a means by which the people that he worked with and wrote to could understand how they should live and why they should live like that. Thus, there is an important connection among ethics, eschatology, and education. All people were to work to their potential at their job because in doing their job they would honor God. Teachers were especially important. Those who taught would affect the quality of education. Calvin worked to provide teacher training and support. He believed that all occupations could be a special calling from God, and education was a means to prepare the young person for his or her calling. Schools existed in Geneva before Calvin arrived in 1536, however, they did not function in the way that Calvin would have liked. Calvin provided the elementary students with a needed text when he prepared a catechism. The students had written material that they could read and study, and a systematic presentation of the basic doctrines of the Christian faith. Calvin also wanted more appropriate facilities in which the students could learn. Although his organization of the schools improved the atmosphere for learning, the building of the Academy was his dream and became his major educational achievement in the city of Geneva. Because 16th century students needed to be prepared for the new world, there was a need for curriculum change. The students were required to read many of the prominent Greek and Roman authors in the ancient languages, but the student learned theology, Hebrew, poetry, dialectic, and rhetoric, physics, and mathematics as well. Calvin wished to graduate a well-rounded scholar who could take his or her place in society. In this way, the citizens of Geneva and all those of the Reformed belief would be better prepared for life on earth and the afterlife.
