

An impressionist painting of a London view, likely St. Martin-in-the-Fields, with a church spire visible in the background. The sky is a mix of warm orange, yellow, and pink tones, while the water in the foreground is a mix of blue and orange. The overall style is soft and atmospheric, characteristic of J.M.W. Turner's work.

Monet and London Frances Fowle, Jennifer A. Thompson, 2024 The first collection of Monet's paintings of the Thames exhibited in London since 1904 This beautiful volume accompanies a major exhibition at The Courtauld Gallery that will reunite for the first time in 120 years an extraordinary group of Claude Monet's Impressionist paintings of London The exhibition will realize the artist's unfulfilled ambition of showing the group on the banks of the Thames just a stone's throw away from where many of them were created Monet 1840-1926 is world renowned as the leading figure of French Impressionism but many forget that some of Monet's most remarkable Impressionist paintings were made not in France but in London They depict extraordinary views of the Thames as it had never been seen before full of mysterious light and radiant colors Captured over three stays in the capital between 1899 and 1901 the series depicting Charing Cross Bridge Waterloo Bridge and the Houses of Parliament was unveiled at a landmark exhibition in Paris in 1904 Monet fervently wanted to show them in London the following year but plans fell through To this day they have never been the subject of an exhibition in the UK Monet and London Views of the Thames will realize Monet's unfulfilled ambition of showing this extraordinary group of paintings in London By presenting the paintings Monet himself selected in 1904 it will provide visitors with the unique experience of seeing the show Monet curated and the works he felt best represented his ambitious artistic enterprise brought together for the first time over a century after their inaugural exhibition The accompanying catalog is richly illustrated and includes twenty one entries and four original essays that shed new light on this famous series

Monet and Venice Lisa Small, Melissa E. Buron, 2025-10-07 In a significant traveling exhibition many of Claude Monet's radiant and evocative Venice paintings are to be reunited for the first time in over a century Monet's Venice paintings are high points in his lifelong engagement with the interplay of water and light Monet and Venice anchored by two masterworks from the collections of Brooklyn and San Francisco The Doge's Palace and The Grand Canal Venice will be the first exhibition and English language publication dedicated to this significant suite of paintings since their Parisian debut at the Bernheim Jeune gallery in 1912 Monet keenly felt the burden of influence in a city that had so often been depicted and had long been an icon of waning fragile beauty Venice was and is a place where culture and nature are profoundly and uniquely entangled Monet's images of Venice's buildings and canals dissolved in colorful mist and hazy light may be seen as meditations on human aesthetic interaction with a natural environment built upon for centuries These tonally unifying atmospheres which he referred to as the enveloppe reveal Monet's essentially ecological understanding of the world in which he immersed himself Air light water and stone emerge together from a matrix of bold brushwork buildings reflections and space are interconnected in luminous paintings that reinscribed and transformed the centuries old Venetian landscape tradition Including lush reproductions newly commissioned texts and maps of the artist's views this book is an essential addition to any Monet lover's library Monet in London Grace Seiberling, 1988 Claude Monet (1840-1926) Claude Monet, Joseph tels que Pollock Rothko Krasner Francis Mitchell Riopelle Still Gottlieb Masson ou Richter Elle propose ainsi une nouvelle lecture de ces artistes tout en montrant le rôle de Monet en tant que prophète indiscutable des courants matérialistes de la peinture abstraite The Spectator, 1977-07 A weekly review of politics literature theology and art Claude Monet Nathalia Brodskaya, 2011-07-01 For Claude Monet the designation impressionist always remained a source of pride In spite of all the things critics have written about his work Monet continued to be a true impressionist to the end of his very long life He was so by deep conviction and for his Impressionism he may have sacrificed many other opportunities that his enormous talent held out to him Monet did not paint classical compositions with figures and he did not become a portraitist although his professional training included those skills He chose a single genre for himself landscape painting and in that he achieved a degree of perfection none of his contemporaries managed to attain Yet the little boy began by drawing caricatures Boudin advised Monet to stop doing caricatures and to take up landscapes instead The sea the sky animals people and trees are beautiful in the exact state in which nature created them surrounded by air and light Indeed it was Boudin who passed on to Monet his conviction of the importance of working in the open air which Monet would in turn transmit to his impressionist friends Monet did not want to enrol at the Ecole des Beaux Arts He chose to attend a private school L Académie Suisse established by an ex-model on the Quai d'Orfèvres near the Pont Saint Michel One could draw and paint from a live model there for a modest fee This was where Monet met the future impressionist Camille Pissarro Later in Gleyre's studio Monet met Auguste Renoir Alfred Sisley and Frédéric Bazille Monet considered it very important that Boudin be introduced to his new friends He also told his friends of another painter he had found in Normandy This was the remarkable Dutchman J.M.W. Turner His landscapes were saturated with colour and their sincerity at times even their naïveté was combined with subtle observation of the Normandy shore's variable nature At this time Monet's landscapes were not yet characterized by great richness of colour Rather they recalled the tonalities of paintings by the Barbizon artists and Boudin's seascapes He composed a range of colour based on yellow brown or blue grey At the Third Impressionist Exhibition in 1877 Monet presented a series of paintings for the first time seven views of the Saint Lazare train station He selected them from among twelve he had painted at the station This motif in Monet's work is in line not only with Manet's Chemin de fer The Railway and with his own landscapes featuring trains and stations at Argenteuil but also with a trend that surfaced after the railways first began to appear In 1883 Monet had bought a house in the village of Giverny near the little town of Vernon At Giverny series painting became one of his chief working procedures Meadows became his permanent workplace When a journalist who had come from Vernon to interview Monet asked him where his studio was the painter answered My studio I've never had a studio and I can't see why one would lock oneself up in a room To draw yes to paint no Then broadly gesturing towards the Seine the hills and the silhouette of the little town he declared There's my real studio Monet began to go to London in the last decade of the nineteenth century He began all his London paintings working directly from nature but completed many of them afterwards at Giverny The series formed an indivisible whole and the painter had to work on all his canvases at one time A friend of Monet s the writer Octave Mirbeau wrote that he had accomplished a miracle With the help of colours he had succeeded in recreating on the canvas something almost impossible to capture he was reproducing sunlight enriching it with an infinite number of reflections Alone among the impressionists Claude Monet took an almost scientific study of the possibilities of colour to its limits it is unlikely that one could have gone any further in that direction      Country Life ,1977
