The Arts Entwined Marsha L. Morton, Peter L. Schmunk, 2013-10-11 This collection of essays by musicologists and art historians explores the reciprocal influences between music and painting during the nineteenth century a critical period of gestation when instrumental music was identified as the paradigmatic expressive art and theoretically aligned with painting in the formulation ut pictura musica as with music so with painting Under music's influence painting approached the threshold of abstraction concurrently many composers cultivated pictorial effects in their music Individual essays address such themes as visualization in music the literary vs pictorial basis of the symphonic poem musical pictorialism in painting and lithography and the influence of Wagner on the visual arts In these and other ways both composers and painters actively participated in interarts discourses in seeking to redefine the very identity and aims of their art Also includes 17 musical examples

Collaborative Circles Michael P. Farrell, 2003-11 Many artists writers and other creative people do their best work when collaborating within a circle of likeminded friends Experimenting together and challenging one another they develop the courage to rebel against the established traditions in their field Out of their discussions they develop a new shared vision that guides their work even when they work alone In a unique study that will become a rich source of ideas for professionals and anyone interested in fostering creative work in the arts and sciences Michael P. Farrell looks at the group dynamics in six collaborative circles the French Impressionists Sigmund Freud and his friends C. S. Lewis J. R. R. Tolkien and the Inklings social reformers Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony the Fugitive poets and the writers Joseph Conrad and Ford Madox Ford He demonstrates how the unusual interactions in these collaborative circles drew out the creativity in each member Farrell also presents vivid narrative accounts of the roles played by the members of each circle He considers how working in such circles sustains the motivation of each member to do creative work how collaborative circles shape the individual styles of the persons within them how leadership roles and interpersonal relationships change as circles develop and why some circles flourish while others flounder
