poverty countries in developing East Asia are facing an array of challenges to their future development Slowed productivity growth increased fragility of the global trading system and rapid changes in technology are all threatening export oriented labor intensive manufacturing the region's engine of growth Significant global challenges such as climate change and the COVID 19 pandemic are exacerbating economic vulnerability These developments raise questions about whether the region's past model of development can continue to deliver rapid growth and poverty reduction Against this background The Innovation Imperative in Developing East Asia aims to deepen understanding of the role of innovation in future development The report examines the state of innovation in the region and analyzes the main constraints that firms and countries face to innovating It assesses current policies and institutions and lays out an agenda for action to spur more innovation led growth A key finding of the report is that countries current innovation policies are not aligned with their capabilities and needs Policies need to strengthen the capacity of firms to innovate and support technological diffusion rather than just invention Policy makers also need to eliminate policy biases against innovation in services a sector that is growing in economic importance Moreover countries need to strengthen key complementary factors for innovation including firms managerial quality workers skills and finance for innovation Countries in developing East Asia would also do well to deepen their tradition of international openness which could foster openness in other parts of the world Doing so would help sustain the flows of ideas trade investment and people that facilitate the creation and diffusion of knowledge for innovation

The Economies of Southeast Asia Teofilo C. Daquila, 2005 This book analyses the growth development and crisis experiences of the Southeast Asian economies in particular Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Thailand also known as ASEAN 5 The proposition is developed that the robust economic performance of the Southeast Asian economies during the past four decades has been attributed to the various factors developments and independent national policies which have been pursued by the individual member countries rather than to any regional economic framework The book covers eleven topics which is suitable for a one semester course on the economics of Southeast Asia Also it has a narrower area coverage as it focuses only on the five economies namely Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Thailand The sectoral treatment of the crisis impact and the analytical treatment of policy responses to the crisis differentiate this book from other publications on the same topic Finally this book provides an analysis of national developments policies and factors which have contributed to the economic transformation of the respective Southeast Asian economies

Financial Institutions and Markets in Southeast Asia Michael T. Skully, 1984-06-18

Korean Economic Reform Robert F. Emery, 2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2001 In 1997 the author was told by an official at the Korean embassy in Washington DC that the most serious economic problem facing Korea was the need for reform of the financial sector This proved to be true as a financial crisis hit Korea in November 1997 Though problems arising before November 1997 indicate that Korea's economic problems were not solely financial This study covers earlier reform efforts the 1997 crisis and the measures taken by Korea since then to deal with the country's economic problems. It attempts to analyze the problems and offer suggestions as to how problems might be corrected or resolved. Asia-Pacific Financial Markets Suk-Joong Kim, Michael D. McKenzie, 2007-12-12

Focuses on the Asia Pacific financial markets. This title features papers that utilize various methods including theoretical, empirical, and qualitative to highlight a range of issues across the region. It covers the issues of integration, innovation, and challenges.

Growth determinants in East and Southeast Asian economies Hans-Jacob Krümmel, Simon Koppers, 2022

Already in the 1960s the four little dragons Hong Kong, Singapore, South Korea, and Taiwan started their industrialization, moving steadily upwards with increasing growth rates. Some of them double-digit in the 1980s. Most significant for these results has been their export-oriented growth strategy, capitalizing on low labour costs and opening them up to the world market with all its benefits and pressures. Until today they have attracted quite a lot of foreign investors bringing technology and skills beside the pure capital. Thus all four countries have reached a more sophisticated level of production and partly even developed into service and financial centres. Combining these developments with the already advanced Japan, the entire Asia Pacific Region must be seen as an extremely dynamic area, often also mentioned as the Pacific Challenge. Thus it is of high interest to examine the determinants of growth behind this challenge behind the economic success. Because of the specific Asian dimension of the success, especially the Asian mentality, a transfer of the growth strategy can only be possible to a very limited degree. But the Asian experiences can at least be helpful to the formulation of a country-related development strategy, showing up generally important growth factors. The contributors to this book analyze important factors such as development planning, foreign investment, deregulation, government intervention, human capital, finance, and banking, service sector, technology transfer, and promotion, trade, export promotion, agriculture, and regional cooperation. For this purpose, experts in Science and Economics report from their experiences.

East Asia's Financial Systems Seiichi Masuyama, Donna Vandenbrink, Siow Yue Chia, 1999

Financial systems in the East Asian region are commanding worldwide attention. Japan's financial sector, with an ailing banking system in the aftermath of a bubble economy, is undergoing a Big Bang deregulation, liberalization, and securitization. At the same time, the rehabilitation of Southeast Asian and Korean economies in the wake of the Asian financial crisis awaits restoration of their banking sectors. The region's bank-dominated and development finance-oriented financial systems are coming into friction with global capital markets that lack adequate architecture. In this volume, researchers from ten East Asian think tanks analyse the financial systems in their respective economies. They survey the financial sector deregulation and liberalization that took place in the midst of economic booms and evaluate the role of the financial systems in the region's current economic misfortunes. Together, the pieces in this volume lay the groundwork for understanding how financial systems in East Asia have evolved as the economies have grown more complex and capital markets have globalized and how these systems must adapt to move beyond today's crisis to serve the region's economies in the future.

Economic Development in East and Southeast Asia Seiji Naya, Akira Takayama, 1990

This volume reflects

the wide range of development issues and problems of the economies of East and Southeast Asia whose dynamic performances have caught the attention of many around the world It also serves to honour Professor Shinichi Ichimura for his dedication and many contributions to creating a better understanding of the development issues faced by the countries in the region Both the editors and all of the contributors in this book have worked with Professor Ichimura at one time or another

The Emerging Asian Bond Market Ismail Dalla,1995-01-01 Provides a comprehensive survey of the East Asian bond markets identifies best practices for fostering their development and presents a broad agenda for further reforms East Asia s spectacular economic performance over the past several decades has been marked by macroeconomic stability consistent growth low inflation the lowering of trade barriers and an overall improvement in living standards The region now has a well developed banking system and boasts four of the top 20 stock markets in the world Its bond markets however are relatively small and at an early stage of development This report provides a comprehensive survey of the East Asian bond markets identifies best practices for fostering their development and presents a broad agenda of reforms for their further development The report which is based on studies of bond markets in China Hong Kong Indonesia the Republic of Korea Malaysia the Philippines Singapore and Thailand finds great diversity among those markets It was presented at the Emerging Asian Bond Market Conference co sponsored by the World Bank and the Hong Kong Monetary Authority and held in Hong Kong June 26 27 1995 It is believed that with the proper institutional prerequisites in place the markets will grow very rapidly and become a leading source of financing for the region The study and this conference mark the World Bank s increasing support and participation in the development of bond markets in the region Joseph Yam Chief Executive Hong Kong Monetary Authority

Despite global economic volatility growth in developing East Asia and Pacific EAP was resilient during 2018 and in the first quarter of 2019 The growth outlook for developing EAP is expected to soften in 2019 as China's economic expansion continues to moderate Downside risks remain including expected moderated global demand continued trade tensions the risk of a faster than expected financial tightening in developed economies the risk of weaker than expected growth in China and continued financial market volatility Also or in combination these risks could weigh on the region's growth prospects in the short to medium term To manage global and regional headwinds developing EAP economies should reduce short term vulnerabilities and enhance buffers redouble their commitment to an open rules based international trade and investment framework including through deeper regional economic integration and deepen structural reforms The intensification of risks underscores the need to continue to enhance economic security by investing in human capital and strengthen social assistance Asia's Debt Capital Markets Douglas W. Arner, Jae-Ha Park, Paul Lejot, Qiao Liu, 2006-12-11

The Development of Effective Securities Markets Gary Schinasi International Monetary Fund One of the more important lessons of the crisis of the 1990s not just the Asian Crisis is that the performance and structure of a country's financial system is an important fundamental factor for assessing that country's overall economic performance and prospects and as a destination for investment and asset returns Market participants that are presently managing international portfolios now understand this very well And as we all know many countries are making strong efforts to reform their financial infrastructures and move their financial systems more in the direction of a market intermediated financial system and away from an exclusively bank intermediated system These reform efforts are putting in place some of the important infrastructure elements that are necessary for developing effective securities markets However emphasis should be placed on the word necessary as many of these measures and all of them taken together are only necessary and not sufficient for establishing effective security markets
