The Caliph and the Imam Toby Matthiesen, 2023-03-09 The authoritative account of Islam's schism that for centuries has shaped events in the Middle East and the Islamic world In 632 soon after the Prophet Muhammad died a struggle broke out among his followers as to who would succeed him Most Muslims argued that the leader of Islam should be elected by the community's elite and rule as Caliph They would later become the Sunnis Others who would become known as the Shia believed that Muhammad had designated his cousin and son in law Ali as his successor and that henceforth Ali's offspring should lead as Imams This dispute over who should guide Muslims the Caliph or the Imam marks the origin of the Sunni Shii split in Islam Toby Matthiesen explores this hugely significant division from its origins to the present day Moving chronologically his book sheds light on the many ways that it has shaped the Islamic world outlining how over the centuries Sunnism and Shiism became Islam's two main branches and how Muslim Empires embraced specific sectarian identities Focussing on connections between the Indian subcontinent and the Middle East it reveals how colonial rule and the modern state institutionalised sectarian divisions and at the same time led to pan Islamic resistance and Sunni and Shii revivalism It then focuses on the fall out from the 1979 revolution in Iran and the US led military intervention in Iraq As Matthiesen shows however though Sunnism and Shiism have had a long and antagonistic history most Muslims have led lives characterised by confessional ambiguity and peaceful co existence Tensions arise when sectarian identity becomes linked to politics Based on a synthesis of decades of scholarship in numerous languages The Caliph and the Imam will become the standard text for readers looking for a deeper understanding of contemporary sectarian conflict and its historical roots

France waged a bitter battle for Syria al Mustansir of Tunis and Louis's younger brother Charles of Anjou struggled for control of the Sicilian Straits When the conflicts over Syria and Sicily became intertwined in the late 1260s the Tunis Crusade was the shocking result While the history of the crusades is often told only from the crusaders perspective in The Tunis Crusade of 1270 Lower brings Arabic and European language sources together to offer a panoramic view of these complex multilateral conflicts Standing at the intersection of two established bodies of scholarship European History and Near Eastern Studies this volume contributes to both by opening up a new conversation about the place of crusading in medieval Mediterranean culture

Rebuilding Anatolia after the Mongol Conquest Patricia Blessing, 2016-12-05 This book is a study of Islamic architecture in Anatolia following the Mongol conquest in 1243 Complex shifts in rule movements of population and cultural transformations took place that affected architecture on multiple levels Beginning with the Mongol conquest of Anatolia and ending with the demise of the Ilkhanid Empire centered in Iran in the 1330s this book considers how the integration of Anatolia into the Mongol world system transformed architecture and patronage in the region Traditionally this period has been studied within the larger narrative of a progression from Seljuk to Ottoman rule and architecture in a historiography that privileges Turkish national identity Once Anatolia is studied within the framework of the Mongol Empire however the region no longer appears as an isolated case rather it is integrated into a broader context beyond the modern borders of Turkey Iran and the Caucasus republics The monuments built during this period served a number of purposes mosques were places of prayer and congregation madrasas were used to teach Islamic law and theology and caravanserais secured trade routes for merchants and travelers This study analyzes architecture on multiple overlapping levels based on a detailed observation of the monuments The layers of information extracted from the monuments themselves from written sources in Arabic Persian and Turkish and from historical photographs shape an image of Islamic architecture in medieval Anatolia that reflects the complexities of this frontier region New patrons emerged craftsmen migrated between neighboring regions and the use of locally available materials fostered the transformation of designs in ways that are closely tied to specific places Starting from these sources this book untangles the intertwined narratives of architecture history and religion to provide a broader understanding of frontier culture in the medieval Middle East with its complex interaction of local regional and trans regional identities
