Andrew R. Klein, 2022-07-15 How have jails become the deadliest waiting rooms in America Death before Sentencing provides a sweeping exposé of thousands of avoidable deaths that have occurred in the U.S. county and local jail systems within the past few decades. These deaths have been overlooked, under investigated and even covered up as jail systems avoid responsibility and refuse to take action. This is the most complete investigation of the deadly side of jails describing the daily deaths of detainees including those from suicides, untreated drug and alcohol withdrawal, forced restraint and brutality and general medical malpractice provided by for-profit correctional medical providers. The lack of attention and responsibility paid by state and local officials, law enforcement and medical examiners has facilitated these ongoing and increasing avoidable deaths. Looking forward to reforms being initiated by the U.S. Justice Department Civil Rights Division and within state legislatures and celebrating successful lawsuits, Andrew R. Klein lays out institutional reforms required to curtail the epidemic of the daily deaths in America's jails. Death in State Custody E.C.M. Thoonen, 2017-10-30 What is expected of State authorities with regard to the obligation to safeguard the life of detainees? What obligations do State authorities have in relation to the investigation into deaths that occur during deprivation of liberty by the State? This book addresses these questions regarding death in State custody in view of the European Convention on Human Rights, in particular the right to life, the prohibition of torture and the right to respect for private life including the right to self-determination. It also provides an analysis of whether the Dutch legal framework contains safeguards to meet the requirements that follow from the European Convention on Human Rights. Matters that are discussed in detail are the obligation to provide healthcare to detainees and to take protective measures to safeguard the life of detainees. The ethical issues regarding end-of-life decisions of detainees like refusal of medical treatment, hunger and/or thirst strike, suicide and euthanasia and the conflicts that may arise in this regard considering the obligations of State authorities are addressed. This book is a must-have for all those who are involved in the medical treatment of detainees and who are confronted with death in State custody. Country Reports on Human Rights Practices, 2001 Prison Law Mary Rogan, 2016-09-12 Prison litigation is becoming increasingly common in Ireland. Prison numbers are at an all-time high and conditions in many Irish prisons have been criticised by international and domestic human rights bodies such as the Irish Penal Reform Trust and the Inspector of Prisons who have voiced concern about the lack of accountability for decisions taken by prison administrators on issues such as discipline, transfers and release. The rights of prisoners are a key focus of the book. These rights are examined in relation to prison conditions, contact with the outside world, discipline, remission, transfer and release. Prison Law analyses practical issues that prison law practitioners are likely to come up against such as causes of action, evidential difficulties and time limits. Written from both a domestic and international perspective, the book sets out the position in Irish prisons of particular groups including women. children foreign prisoners and those from an ethnic minority background and identifies areas in which the treatment of prisoners gives rise to concerns under the Constitution or the European Convention on Human Rights The most up to date book in this legal area Prison Law also includes an appendix setting out the fully consolidated Prison Rules 2007 2013 This title is included in Bloomsbury Professional s Irish Criminal Law online service Human Rights Watch Undue Punishments Abuses Against Prisoners in Georgia , Texts and Materials on International Human Rights Rhona K.M. Smith,2009-10-16 This book offers a carefully tailored overview of the subject divided into four sections that cover sources and theories institutions and structures major themes and a new concluding section on the challenges for law in this area The third edition is fully updated to include all key developments in particular issues around torture terrorism and international criminal law Designed to guide students through the fundamental texts author commentary contextualises each extract while highlighted further reading thought links the materials to academic commentary to provide next steps for student research Offering a clear text design that distinguishes between materials and author commentary and including reflective questions throughout to aid understanding this book is ideal for students seeking to engage with the key issues in the study of International Human Rights Deaths in Custody,Third Report of Session Great Britain. Parliament. Joint Committee on Human Rights,2004 The Committee s report examines the causes of deaths in custody and considers what may be done to prevent these deaths and better protect the right to life and other human rights of vulnerable people held in the custody of the state Issues discussed include human rights standards applicable under the European Convention on Human Rights the scale of the problem and concerns relating to the wider penal system in which these deaths occur including the issue of overcrowding in prisons and sentencing practice risk assessment and management including reception in police custody immigration detention and the provision of physical and mental healthcare in detention the use of physical restraint and seclusion staffing and training issues investigations into deaths in custody and inquiries Recommendations include the establishment of a cross departmental expert task force on deaths in custody to monitor the topic review good practice standards publish information and to make recommendations to Government Towards Human Rights Compliance in Australian Prisons Anita Mackay,2020-11-11 Imprisoned people have always been vulnerable and in need of human rights protections The slow but steady growth in the protection of imprisoned people s rights over recent decades in Australia has mostly come from incremental change to prison legislation and common law principles A radical influence is about to disrupt this slow change Australian prisons and other closed environments will soon be subject to international inspections by the United Nations Subcommittee on the Prevention of Torture SPT This is because the Australian Government ratified the Optional Protocol to the Convention Against Torture and other Cruel Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment OPCAT in December 2017 Australia s international human rights law obligations as they apply to prisons are complex and stem from multiple Treaties This book distils these obligations into five prerequisites for compliance consistent with the preventive focus of the OPCAT They are reduce reliance on imprisonment align domestic legislation with Australia s international human rights law obligations shift the focus of imprisonment to the goal of rehabilitation and restoration support prison staff to treat imprisoned people in a human rights consistent manner ensure decent physical conditions in all prisons Attention to each of these five areas will help all levels of Australian government and prison managers take the steps required to move towards compliance Human rights led prison reform is necessary both to improve the lives of imprisoned people and for Australia to achieve compliance with the international human rights legal obligations to which it has voluntarily committed itself

Youth Justice Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Justice Committee,2013-03-14 Public authorities have a duty to ensure looked after children are not at greater risk of being drawn into the criminal justice system than other children The relevant authorities must continue to support looked after children and care leavers when they are in and when they leave custody The substantial decrease since 2006 07 in the number of young people entering the criminal justice system for the first time is welcomed but looked after children have not benefited from this shift to the same extent as other children The Youth Justice Board has done excellent work to halve the youth custodial population over the past decade but continues to spend 246 million a year detaining a small fraction of young offenders Recommendations include a statutory threshold to enshrine in legislation the principle that only the most serious and prolific young offenders should be placed in custody devolving the custody budget to enable local authorities to invest in effective alternatives to custody and more action to reduce the number of young people who breach the terms of their community sentences and the number of young black men in custody The aim of improving the basic literacy of offenders as outlined in the Transforming Youth Custody consultation paper is endorsed but is it most useful to focus resources on the secure estate given that the average length of stay is currently 79 days The greater focus should be on improving transition between custody and the community and on improving provision in the community and incentivising schools and colleges to take back difficult students
