Policing Desire Pornography Aids And The Media Media And Society Ser:

Mass Media James B. Martin, 2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes

Policing Desire Simon Watney, 1997-01-01 Since its initial publication Policing Desire has proved to be an unparalleled analysis of the cacophony of voices which sounds through every institution of our society on the subject of AIDS For the third edition Simon Watney has provided a new preface a compelling new concluding essay and a resource directory for AIDS information

Museum Culture Daniel J. Sherman, 1994 Museums display much more than artifacts Museum Culture makes us on a tour through the complex of ideas values and symbols that pervade and shape the practice of exhibiting today Bringing together a broad range of perspectives from history art history critical theory and sociology the contributors to this new collection argue that museums have become a central institution and metaphor in contemporary society Discussing exhibition histories and practice in Western Europe the former Soviet Union Israel and the United States the authors explore the ways in which museums assign meaning to art through various kinds of exhibitions and display strategies examining the political implications of these strategies and the forms of knowledge they invoke and construct The collection also discusses alternative exhibition forms the involvement of some museums with the more spectacular practices of mass media culture and looks at how museums construct their public

Hope & Folly William Preston, Edward S. Herman, Herbert I. Schiller, 1989-01-01 Created in a burst of idealism after World War II the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization UNESCO existed for forty years in a state of troubled yet often successful collaboration with one of its founders and benefactors the United States In 1980 UNESCO adopted the report of a commission that surveyed and criticized the dominance in world media of the United States Japan and a handful of European countries The report also provided the conceptual underpinnings for what was later called the New World Information and Communication Order a general direction adopted by UNESCO to encourage increased Third World participation in world media This direction it never became an official program ultimately led to the United States's withdrawal from UNESCO in 1984 Hope and Folly is an interpretive chronicle of U S UNESCO relations Although the information debated has garnered wide attention in Europe and the Third World there is no comparable study in the English language and none that focuses specifically on the United States and the broad historical context of the debate In the first three parts William Preston covers the changing U S UNESCO relationship from the early cold war years through the period of anti UNESCO backlash as well as the politics of the withdrawal Edward Herman's section is an interpretive critique of American media coverage of the withdrawal and

Herbert Schiller's is a conceptual analysis of conflicts within the United States's information policies during its last years in UNESCO. The book's appendices include an analysis of Ed Bradley's notorious 60 Minutes broadcast on UNESCO. The Future of an Illusion Constance Penley, 1989. The Future of an Illusion was first published in 1989. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions. The Future of an Illusion documents the pivotal role Constance Penley has played in the development of feminist film theory. Penley analyzes the primary movements that have shaped the field: the conjunction of feminism, film theory, and psychoanalysis, and the inherent debates surrounding the politics of women and representation. These debates center on the position of women in the classical Hollywood narrative, the construction of the spectator's desire in pornography and eroticism, and the implicitly male bias in psychoanalytically oriented film theory. Essential to anyone studying the sexual policies of representation, The Future of an Illusion ranges from avant garde films to video, popular cinema, television, literature, and critical and cultural theory. Constance Penley is associate professor of English and film studies at the University of Rochester. A co-editor of the journal Camera Obscura, she is the editor of Feminism and Film Theory. National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1990. Policing Desire Simon Watney, 1987. For the new editors of this controversial Watney School of Communications Polytechnic of Central London has provided a new preface and a new concluding essay that updates his arguments. Watney remains convinced of the need to address questions concerning the operations of fantasy and the unconscious in relation to our provisional understanding of the political and ideological economies of this epidemic, a provoking well articulated and like Primo Levi's witness dispassionate attempt to set a horror inspiring situation down clearly and persuasively. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc. Portland, OR. Culture, Society and Sexuality Richard Parker, Peter Aggleton, 2007-01-24. Clearly structured and presented, this new and revised edition brings together a broad and international selection of readings to provide insights into the social, cultural, political, and economic dimensions of sexuality and relationships. Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), First multi-year cumulation covers six years 1965-70. Error: Glitch, Noise, and Jam in New Media Cultures Mark Nunes, 2011-01-01. Divided into three sections, Error brings together established critics and emerging voices to offer a significant contribution to the field of new media studies. In the first section, Hack contributors explore the ways in which errors, glitches, and failure provide opportunities for critical and aesthetic intervention within new media practices. In the second section, Game, they examine how errors allow for intentional and accidental co-opting of rules and protocols toward unintended ends. The final section, Jam, considers the role of error as both an inherent counterstrategy and a mode of tactical resistance within a network society. By offering a timely and novel exploration into the ways in which error and noise slip through in systems dominated by principles of efficiency and control, this collection provides a unique take on the ways in which information theory and new media technologies inform cultural practice.

Television and Sexuality Jane Arthurs, 2004-09-16 In recent years there has been a marked increase in both the volume and diversity of sexual imagery and talk on television condemned by some as a rising tide of filth celebrated by others as a liberation from the regulations of the past Television and Sexuality questions both these responses through an examination of television's multiple channels and genres and the wide range of sexual information and pleasures they provide The book explores the way that sexual citizenship and sexual consumerism have been defined in the digital era to reveal the underlying assumptions held by the television industry about the tastes and sexual identities of its diverse audiences It draws on the work of key thinkers in cultural and media studies as well as feminist and queer theory to interrogate the political and cultural significance of these developments With topics including the regulation of taste and decency sex scandals in the news the biology of sex in science programmes and gay lesbian and postfeminist identities in quality drama this book is key reading for students in cultural and media studies and gender studies Geographies of Exclusion David

Gender, Sexuality, and the Cultural Politics of Men's Identity Robert Mundy, Harry Denny, 2019-10-02 This book considers mass media and contemporary cultural trends to examine masculinity at a point of unprecedented change While sexual and gender politics have always been fraught the long unexamined privilege associated with masculinity is now subject to intense scrutiny marked by a host of complex factors As past markers of masculine norms have been challenged on cultural social and economic fronts men occupy public space ever aware that how they interact with others is questioned and questionable What does manhood mean Who is included in its dominant formations What performances signify membership in the club How are men reading this contemporary moment and to what extent does cultural literacy inform maintain or challenge normative male identities and subsequent performances This work examines such questions through language and symbolic meaning and challenges its readers to critically examine what men know and how they understand and embody gender and sexuality in a post millennial society Gender Sexuality and the Cultural Politics of Men's Identity in the New Millennium Literacies of Masculinity crosses academic disciplines and will be highly relevant in composition rhetoric gender studies masculinity studies and cross curricular courses that take up popular contemporary culture as well as gender sexuality race and class It has been designed with both undergraduate and graduate students in mind The Arena of Masculinity Brian

Pronger, 2011-04-01 Sports are perhaps the most visible expression of the ideals of masculinity in our society and figure as a training ground on which young boys are taught what it means to be a man Given the involvement of sports with masculinity the homosexual athlete becomes a paradox and the recent explosive growth of gay sporting leagues a puzzle Pronger explores the paradoxical position of the gay athlete in a straight sporting world examines the homoerotic undercurrent subliminally present in the masculine struggle of sports and explicates the growth of gay sports in the framework of the developing gay culture Policing Cinema Lee Grieveson, 2004-05-24 Publisher Description Knockin' on Heaven's Door Roland Boer, 2012-10-12 Knockin On Heaven's Door offers a critically sophisticated and truly interdisciplinary analysis of the relationship between biblical studies and contemporary culture. Specific biblical texts are examined in the light of cultural criticism and areas of popular culture including pornography, heavy metal music, and McDonald's hamburgers in the light of biblical criticism.

Interaction and Identity Harmut B. Mokros, 2018-01-16 Scholarly interest in issues of self-identity has exploded across disciplines within the humanities and social sciences in recent years. Common to these concerns are the assumptions that self-identity is not an a priori not given or fixed but created in the process of communication. This also assumes that social institutions and values are produced and reproduced by individuals in interaction. To capture the essential characteristics of a person requires analysis of how the social and psychological intersect in moments of communication. Interaction and Identity contributes theoretically and empirically to contemporary scholarly interest in issues of identity. Chapters and contributors to this stand-alone volume include Part Whole: Discovery Stages of Inquiry by Thomas Scheff; Communication by Gregory Bateson; Internal Muzak: An Examination of Intrapersonal Relationships by Linda Lederman; The Constitution of Identity as Gendered in Psychoanalytic Therapy: Ideology and Interaction by Margaret Carr; and The Reconstruction and Negotiation of Cultural Identities in the Age of Globalization by Getinet Belay. The multiple disciplines of social research with contemporary interest in identity are ably reflected in Interaction and Identity. The authors are drawn from eight disciplines: anthropology, communication, information science, linguistics, philosophy, psychoanalysis, psychology, and sociology. This book will be invaluable to scholars in all these areas, above all in communication research as such.

Experimental Practice Dimitris Papadopoulos, 2018-07-16 In Experimental Practice Dimitris Papadopoulos explores the potential for building new forms of political and social movements through the reconfiguration of the material conditions of existence. Rather than targeting existing institutions in demands for social justice, Papadopoulos calls for the creation of alternative ontologies of everyday life that would transform the meanings of politics and justice. Inextricably linked to technoscience, these alterontologies, which Papadopoulos examines in a variety of contexts from AIDS activism and the financialization of life to hacker communities and neuroscience, form the basis of ways of life that would embrace the more than social interdependence of the human and nonhuman worlds. Speaking to a matrix of concerns about politics and justice, social movements, matter, and ontology, everyday practice, technoscience, the production of knowledge, and the human and nonhuman, Papadopoulos suggests that the development of alterontologies would create more efficacious political and social organizing.

American Studies Jack Salzman, 1990-05-25 This volume supplements the acclaimed three-volume set published in 1986 and consists of an annotated listing of American Studies monographs published between 1984 and 1988. There are more than 6,000 descriptive entries in a wide range of categories: anthropology and folklore, art and architecture, history, literature, music, political science, popular culture, psychology, religion, science and technology, and sociology.
