Policing The European Union:

The Politics of EU Police Cooperation John D. Occhipinti, 2003 Will the European Union soon have a policing agency similar to the US Federal Bureau of Investigation John Occhipinti traces the evolution of the European Police Office Europol bringing to life themes key to the study of European integration such as the tension between supranationalism and intergovernmentalism concerns over the democratic deficit in the EU and the impact of enlargement Municipal Policing in the European Union D. Donnelly, 2013-01-21 The book applies a model of municipal policing to compare a number of police systems in the European Union suggesting that in the future local communities will have some form of police enforcement mechanism that will not always include the sworn police officer European Union Peacebuilding and Policing Michael Merlingen, Rasa Ostrauskaite, 2006-09-27 This new volume draws on the work of Michel Foucault to make the case that the EU's self image as a model peacebuilder conceals another side of the European Security and Defence Policy ESDP It brings together and connects new research on European integration security policing and political sociology in an important and original way Policing the European Union Malcolm Anderson, 2023 Policing in Europe Antoinette Verhage, 2010 The Journal of Police Studies is a quarterly which is oriented towards high standard quality contributions on policing issues and phenomena that are of interest to the police Topics are approached from a specialist and if required multidisciplinary point of view The volume looks to answer questions regarding the developments of police and police cooperation in Europe at the supranational level as well as explore the reactions of police organizations in individual European countries to the process of transnationalisation in terms of the design of and philosophy within police organizations Policing Global Regions Saskia Hufnagel, 2021-01-26 This book provides a stocktake and comparative socio legal analysis of law enforcement cooperation strategies in four different regions of the world the European Union EU North America Greater China and Australasia The work analyses law enforcement cooperation mechanisms within the socio legal framework of global normmaking The strategies addressed range from legal frameworks facilitating cooperation to formal and informal police networks and cooperation practices The study also takes into account crime specific engagement for example campaigns focusing on drug crimes terrorism financial crime kidnappings and other offences It explores challenges in policing practice and human rights protection in each region that could be countered by existing strategies in another As regions usually develop more advanced cooperation mechanisms than exist at a global scale strategies found in the former could help find solutions for the latter To map existing strategies and assess their impact on both human rights and policing practice this study relies on an assessment of the primary and secondary literature sources in each region as well as interviews with practitioners ranging from senior police officers to prosecutors government officials customs and military staff This book presents a valuable resource for academics and postgraduate students as well as policing and criminal justice practitioners government officials and policy makers Policing Cooperation Across Borders Saskia Hufnagel, 2016-04-22 This book provides new insights into police cooperation from a comparative socio legal perspective It presents a broad analysis of comparable police cooperation strategies in two systems the EU and Australia The evolution of regulatory trends and cooperation models is analysed for both systems and possible transferable strategies identified Drawing on interviews with practitioners in the EU and Australia this book highlights a number of areas where the EU can be compared to a federal system and addresses the advantages and disadvantages of being a Union or a federation of states with a view to police cooperation practice Particular topics addressed are the evolution of legal frameworks regulating police cooperation informal cooperation strategies Joint Investigation Teams Europol and regional cooperation These instruments foster police cooperation but could be improved with a view to cooperation practice by learning from regulatory techniques and practitioner experiences of the respective other system The European Union, counter terrorism and police co-operation, 1991-2007 David

Brown,2013-07-19 This volume examines the underlying foundations on which the European Union s counter terrorism and police co operation policies have been built since the inception of the Treaty on European Union questioning both the effectiveness and legitimacy of the EU s efforts in these two critically important security areas Given the importance of such developments to the wider credibility of the EU as a security actor this volume adopts a more structured analysis of key stages of the implementation process These include the establishment of objectives both at the wider level of internal security co operation and in terms of both counter terrorism and policing particularly in relation to the European Police Office the nature of information exchange and the value added by legislative and operational developments at the European level It also offers a more accurate appraisal of the official characterisation of the terrorist threat within the EU as a matter of common concern In doing so not only does it raise important questions about the utility of the European level for organising internal security co operation but it also provides a more comprehensive assessment of the EU s activities throughout the lifetime of the Third Pillar placing in a wider and more realistic context the EU s reaction to the events of 11 September 2001 and the greater prominence of Islamist terrorism Availability of Law Enforcement Information in the European Union Gert Vermeulen,2005 This book presents the results of a study on the availability of law enforcement information in the EU conducted for the European Commission In order to strengthen the area of freedom security and justice the November 2004 Hague Programme called for an innovative approach towards cross borderexchange of law enforcement relevant information The principle introduced in this respect is that of availability of such information for law enforcement services throughout the EU rendering the border crossing of it largely irrelevant The book contains two proposals The first seeks to improve the cross border exchange of law enforcement relevant information through the introduction of the principle of mutual recognition of pre evidence warrants as a primary way for implementing the availability concept The second proposal offers a blueprint for a European Law Enforcement Services Index System ELESIS as an indispensable tool for supporting the availability of law enforcement relevant information throughout the EU Both proposals take due account of extensive feedback received from experts involved in cross border exchange of law enforcement information as well as from civil liberties organisations and data protection specialists In addition the responses of member states to relevant official questionnaires were collected and included This book is essential reading for policy makers judicial and law enforcement authorities throughout the European Union or from a broader international context It will be appealing also to researchers and anyone involved or taking an interest in combating cross border crime at a European or international level

Leading Policing in Europe Caless, Bryn,Tong, Steve,2017-01-18 In this unique book the authors present for the first time information from over a hundred strategic police leaders in 22 countries about how they are selected for high office how they are held to account and what their views are on current and future challenges in policing

Counter-Terrorism Networks in the European Union Claudia Hillebrand,2012-10-03 Counter Terrorism Networks in the European Union Maintaining Democratic Legitimacy after 9 11 presents a model of democratic legitimacy for within international counter terrorism co operation Exploring the current practices of European Union EU counter terrorism policing developed after 9 11 it highlights the current significant challenges to democratic legitimacy and seeks to present tools and solutions which ensure democratic counter terrorism actions and the protection of human rights Counter terrorism policing is now a global concern with co operation between security authorities of different countries a crucial feature in the fight to prevent terrorism and extremism Yet given the emphasis on pre emption this type of policing tends to interfere to a far greater extent with the rights of the individual than traditional policing This book scrutinises the current focus of enhanced communication between counter terrorist associates at member state and EU levels within Europe alongside analysis of just how far the traditional protective mechanisms of accountability and oversight are managing to keep up with this development It proposes that current forms of counter terrorism policing within the EU should be understood as networks sets of expert institutional nodes or individual agents from at least two countries that are interconnected in order to authorize and provide security with regard to counter terrorism using the European Police Office Europol as a key example

Policing Europe Bill Heberton,Terry Thomas,1995-03-20 Developments in European police co operation have become sharply focused in the last few years Policing Europe critically examines the historical development of forms of co operation and their traditional justifications terrorism illegal immigration drug trafficking and other cross border crime It is argued that a full understanding of the new policing of Europe needs to take account of the linking of such justifications with the more diffuse debate around removal of border controls and free movement of people The book suggests that a new European policework is emerging and examines the implications of this phenomenon

Police and Judicial Co-operation in the European Union Fédération internationale pour le droit européen. Congrès,Anthony Moore,2004-06-17 How EU members are adapting their laws to provide for inter state judicial and police co operation

Policing European Metropolises Elke Devroe,Adam Edwards,Paul Ponsaers,2017-02-03 Understanding the politics of security in city regions is increasingly important for the study of contemporary policing This book argues that national and international governing arrangements are being outflanked by various transnational threats including the cross border terrorism of the attacks on Paris in 2015 and Brussels in 2016 trafficking in people narcotics and armaments cybercrime the deregulation of global financial services and environmental crime Metropolises are the focal points of the transnational networks through which policing problems are exported and imported across national borders as they provide much of the demand for illicit markets and are the principal engines generating other policing challenges including political protest and civil unrest This edited collection examines whether and how governing arrangements rooted in older systems of national sovereignty are adapting to these transnational challenges and considers problems of and for policing in city regions in the European Union and its single market Bringing together experts from across the continent Policing European Metropolises develops a sociology of urban policing in Europe and a unique methodology for comparing the experiences of different metropolises in the same country This book will be of value to police researchers in Europe and abroad as well as postgraduate students with an interest in policing and urban policy

Policing Bosnia and Herzegovina 2003-05 Susan E. Penksa, 2006 The European Union Police Mission EUPM in Bosnia and Herzegovina BiH represents a watershed development for the EU and its emerging European Security and Defence Policy ESDP Never before has the EU organised and managed this type of stabilisation programme In some ways the launching of EUPM defined a new stage in the evolution of the EU itself and certainly of the ESDP An examination of the implementation of the EUPM in 2003 2006 and the current planning for an EU mission in Kosovo suggests that a process of institutional change and learning has occurred among EU and national officials At the same time it is apparent that significant improvements are still necessary in the coordination between and within EU pillars as they relate to ESDP operations To that end this study focuses on five important areas of challenges revealed by EU field operations in BiH mission mandates personnel expertise recruitment and training program design implementation and assessment reporting and decision making procedures and structures and the functions of EU representatives in the field EU Special Representatives Commission Head of Missions and Member States Lastly it also suggests means to materially improve EU crisis response paying special attention to lessons learned during the first EUPM and from EU efforts to address organised crime in BiH

Policing Mobility Regimes Giuseppe Campesi, 2021-08-17 More than 30 years after its birth the Schengen area of free movement is under siege in Europe new barriers are being erected along land borders military assets are increasingly deployed to patrol the Mediterranean while sophisticated surveillance tools are used to keep track of the flows of people crossing into European space Bringing together perspectives from political geography critical criminology and legal theory Policing Mobility Regimes offers a systematic analysis of the impact that Frontex is having on migration control strategies at the EU level and offers a detailed empirical description of the agency's organization and operational activities In addition this book explores the meaning behind the attempt at developing a post national border control strategy and what effect this might have on the geopolitics of Europe's borders. It contributes to the wider theoretical debate on the relationships among migration security and the transformation of borders in contemporary Europe. An accessible and compelling read, this book will appeal to all those engaged with criminology, sociology, geography, politics, and law, as well as all those interested in learning about Europe's changing borders.

The Development of Transnational Policing John McDaniel, Karlie Stonard, David Cox, 2019-10-10. This book draws together the insights of eminent academics and specialists to present an overview of past and present approaches to transnational policing throughout the Anglophone world. It aims to revitalize the study of transnational policing by showing that past and present developments in this field remain poorly understood while also suggesting future avenues of research. Containing chapters on police history, police accountability, gendered hate crime in an increasingly online world, counter radicalisation strategies being pursued around the world, internet-facilitated sex trafficking, and changes in organised crime, amongst others, the authors adopt revisionist, orthodox, and progressive views in order to challenge our understanding and appreciation of developments in transnational policing. All of the chapters in the book use policing models employed within the UK as either their focal point or as a point of comparison so that direct comparisons and contrasts can be examined. The Development of Transnational Policing illustrates distinctive and separate aspects of what remains an undoubtedly complex and dynamic field but also forms an overview of developments and the dearth of academic research which surrounds them in order, hopefully, to inspire researchers, policymakers, and practitioners alike.

Police Cooperation and Sovereignty in the EU Synnøve Ugelvik, 2018-07-11. The State and the police are traditionally seen as closely connected phenomena. Today, however, rapid EU legal developments mean that European police forces are no longer tied to a specific national legal context or a specific territory in the way they used to be. Norway is not a member of the EU. Or is it? This book shows that although it lacks formal membership status, Norway has become part of almost all of the major EU police cooperation measures and agreements. Not only does this mean that foreign police forces may operate on Norwegian territory and vice versa, but in addition, a wide range of EU regulations and cooperation instruments are incorporated directly into Norwegian law. With the increased focus on international and transnational police cooperation in mind, what does it mean to be a sovereign state in Europe today? This book combines strong legal and theoretical analyses of a specific national system to show how this country is tied to and dependent on a wider international and supranational system of legal rules, technologies, and concepts. This makes the book relevant not only for the Norwegian prosecution and police authorities but also for readers outside Norway interested in exploring how and whether the police as a modern state function has changed through the implementation of international cross-border cooperation mechanisms. the UK with discussion of current debates and practice It provides a global and comparative context in order to shed light on contemporary issues The book equips students with an in depth understanding of the challenges and complexities of modern policing including the relationship between the police and other criminal justice agencies styles and approaches in practice how to police political violence diversity and the police police accountability Featuring chapter summaries case studies study questions an expansive glossary and a date chart listing significant events the book is easy to use and helps students to reflect upon key themes It is essential reading for criminology criminal justice and policing undergraduates

Intelligence Security in the European Union Artur Gruszczak, 2016-08-05 This book investigates the emergence of an EU strategic intelligence community as a complex multi dimensional networked construction It examines the constitution structure and performance of EU intelligence arrangements as part of security policies of the European Union Intelligence security has become a remarkable feature of the European integration processes This study assess the ability of EU Member States as well as relevant institutions and agencies to develop effective legitimate and accountable institutions and mechanisms for collection transmission processing and exchange of intelligence In this regard synergy is a key indicator that validates the ability to create the European strategic intelligence community in the EU s legal and institutional framework This groundbreaking project constructs a comprehensive model of the intelligence community as a distorted epistemic community tailored to singularities of EU security policies and systemic arrangements provided by EU institutions and agencies
