The Net and the Nation State Uta Kohl, 2017-05-25 This collection investigates the sharpening conflict between the nation state and the internet through a multidisciplinary lens It challenges the idea of an inherently global internet by examining its increasing territorial fragmentation and conversely the notion that for states online law and order is business as usual Cyberborders based on national law are not just erected around China's online community Cultural political and economic forces as reflected in national or regional norms have also incentivised virtual borders in the West The nation state is asserting itself Yet there are also signs of the receding role of the state in favour of corporations wielding influence through de facto control over content and technology This volume contributes to the online governance debate by joining ideas from law politics and human geography to explore internet jurisdiction and its overlap with topics such as freedom of expression free trade democracy identity and cartographic maps      The Political Twittersphere in India Shekh Moinuddin,2019-01-29 The book investigates political re tweets that reveal the nature and patterns of politics and digital political revolution in India The re tweets are made by Indian politicians at various capacities in order to communicate to followers which shaped the political discourse in form of response activism and technology The book is based on interdisciplinary approaches wherein geography interfaces with political cultural social economic and social media studies The book is mapping patterns of spatial politics through Twitter which revolutionized the digital politics in India It discusses and answers the questions Why do politicians use Twitter and other social networking sites When do politicians make re tweets Is Twitter all about official The book triggers questions about the politics of gadgets To what extent are politics inseparable from re tweets The book adheres the inevitable role of technology particularly of Twitter in day to day spatial reporting in the shape of politics culture identity ideology norms and empiricism This book is the result of the research project Mapping Political Tweets The Digital Political Revolution in India 2015 16 funded by Kalindi College University of Delhi New Delhi KC GB 3349 a The book appeals to research scientists graduate students and practitioners in the fields of political science media representation communication and those who have interests to investigate the linkages between different parts of geography and social science with communication technology      Religion Online August E. Grant,Amanda F. C. Sturgill,Chiung Hwang Chen,Daniel A. Stout,2019-03-07 Religion Online provides new insights about religiosity in a contemporary context offering a comprehensive look at the intersection of digital media faith communities and practices of all sorts Recent research on Apple users video games virtual worlds artificial intelligence digital music and sports as religion supports the idea that media and religion once considered separate entities are in many cases the same thing New media and religious practice can no longer be detached this two volume set discusses how religionists are embracing the Internet amidst cultural shifts of secularization autonomous religious worship millennials affinity for new media and the rise of fundamentalism in the global south While other works describe case studies this book explains how new media are interwoven into the very fabric of religious belief behavior and community Chapters break down the past present and projected future of the use of digital media in relation to faith traditions of many varieties extending from mainline Christianity to new religious movements The book also examines the impacts of digital media on beliefs and practices around the world In exploring these subjects it calls on the study of culture namely anthropology to conceptualize a technological period as significant as the industrial revolution      Racing Cyberculture Christopher L. McGahan,2013-10-31 Racing Cyberculture explores new media art that challenges the race blind myth of cyberspace The particular cultural workers whose productions are addressed are the performance and installation artist Guillermo Gomez Pena and Roberto Sifuentes the UK new media arts collective Mongrel the conceptual artists and composer Keith Obadike and the multimedia artist Prema Murthy The author looks at how works by these artists bring forward questions of racial and cultural identity as they intersect with information technology
