Power and Identity in the Post-Soviet Realm Steven Bottlik, Zsolt Berki, Marton Jobbitt, 2021-02-16 With the dissolution of the Soviet Union and the demise of the Cold War s bipolar world order Soviet successor states on the Russian periphery found themselves in a geopolitical vacuum and gradually evolved into a specific buffer zone throughout the 1990s The establishment of a new system of relations became evident in the wake of the Baltic States accession to the European Union in 2004 resulting in the fragmentation of this buffer zone In addition to the nations that are more directly connected to Zwischeneuropa i e In Between Europe historically and culturally Belarus Moldova Ukraine countries beyond the Caucasus Azerbaijan Georgia Armenia as well as the states of former Soviet Central Asia Kazakhstan Uzbekistan Kyrgyzstan Turkmenistan Tajikistan have also become characterized by particular developmental pathways Focusing on these areas of the post Soviet realm this collected volume examines how they have faced multidimensional challenges while pursuing both geopolitics and their place in the world economy From a conceptual point of view the chapters pay close attention not only to issues of ethnicity which are literally intertwined with a number of social problems in these regions but also to the various socio spatial contexts of ethnic processes Having emerged after the collapse of Soviet authority the so called post Soviet realm might serve as a crucial testing ground for such studies as the specific social and regional patterns of ethnicity are widely recognized here Accordingly the phenomena covered in the volume are rather diverse The first section reviews the fundamental elements of the formation of national identity in light of the geopolitical situation both past and present This includes an examination of the relative strength and shifting dynamics of statehood the impacts of imperial nationalism and the changes in language use

from the early modern period onwards The second section examines the transformation of the identities of small nations living at the forefront of Tsarist Russian geopolitical expansion in particular in Central Asia the Caucasus and the Southern Steppe Finally in the third section the contributors discuss the fate of groups whose settlement space was divided by the external boundaries of the Soviet Union a reality that resulted in the diverging developmental trajectories of the otherwise culturally similar communities on both sides of the border In these imperial peripheries Soviet authority gave rise to specifically Soviet national identities amongst groups such as the Azeris Tajiks Karelians Moldavians and others The book also includes more than 30 primarily original maps graphs and tables and will be of great use not only for human geographers particularly political and cultural geographers and historians but also for those interested in contemporary issues in social science
