transport Faced with environmental concerns and the negative cultural and social effects of urban sprawl governments and other agencies have attempted to reverse the decline in public transport use In Making Public Transportation Work P M Bunting examines why problems have arisen and how they might be corrected Bunting shows that transportation providers have failed to identify target customers and have not organized these services efficiently He demonstrates that public transport providers must address organizational issues and define customer needs and preferences arguing that customer needs can best be served by private rather than public carriers offering door to door rather than station to station transportation In contrast public agencies can best support public transportation by addressing not direct delivery of services but such matters as equitable safety and environmental regulation and effective fair management of roads Hazardous Materials Transportation Act, Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act, and Hazardous Liquid Pipeline Safety Act
