Marnham,1988-09-01 Since its Independence in 1960 Chad has been torn apart by internal rebellion and civil war A series of regimes have imposed various forms of arbitrary rule while large areas have been held under the changing fortunes of warlords disaffected military commanders opposition groups guerrilla bands and foreign backed forces including those of France and Libya Is it possible for a poor landlocked country with many different ethnic groups to build a viable Nation State Chad s diverse population is divided between the numerous African Sara peoples of the far south the Arabic speakers of the centre and the minority tribes of the northern third of the country The Sara are mainly Christians and animists while the others are Muslims Ethnic and religious antagonisms have been and continue to be fuelled by resentment at economic exactions widespread corruption and arbitrary rule Conflict whether in riots or civil war has led to many thousands of people dying and hundreds of thousands fleeing into exile as refugees Attempts by the OAU to bring about reconciliation have not been successful Today with the regime of President Hissen Habr most of Chad is again under one government this time dominated by a small minority group from the far north but can Habr win the peace Chad Minority Rights Group report no 80 examines the roots and course of the conflict in this desperately poor African nation Written by Kaye Whiteman Editor in Chief of West Africa and an experienced commentator on Africa this report outlines Chad s bloody history since Independence and its prospects for the future Essential reading for all those interested in modern Africa and its future Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples rights has changed over time MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples At the same time after over 50 years work we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers Therefore we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues Genocide and Crisis in Central Africa Christian P. Scherrer,2001-11-30 Scherrer examines the ethnicized conflicts periodic war and genocide in Rwanda and Burundi The 1994 genocide in Rwanda may have resulted in the murder of a million Tutsi and moderate Hutu while the mass killings in Burundi especially in 1993 when some 200 000 Hutu and Tutsi were killed and the current ongoing war in the Congo appear to have the potential to escalate into another round of genocide in the region Scherrer explores the background to the conflicts in the Great Lakes Region as well as what the international community might do to break this tragic cycle of violence and despair Following a chapter on the history of the region before independence in 1960 61 he examines the 1994 genocide in Rwanda and the subsequent attempts to promote justice reconstruction human rights work and genocide prevention Scherrer pays particular attention to the role of the Western powers the UN and the aid system and he is critical of all of these institutions He also analyzes what is happening in neighboring Burundi and the Congo An important research for scholars and policymakers involved with

Central African affairs and ethnicized conflict Professional Journal of the United States Army ,2014 Africa Yearbook Volume 10 Andreas Mehler,Henning Melber,Klaas van Walraven,2014-09-11 The Africa Yearbook covers major domestic political developments the foreign policy and socio economic trends in sub Sahara Africa all related to developments in one calendar year The Yearbook contains articles on all sub Saharan states each of the four sub regions West Central Eastern Southern Africa focusing on major cross border developments and sub regional organizations as well as one article on continental developments and one on African European relations While the articles have thorough academic quality the Yearbook is mainly oriented to the requirements of a large range of target groups students politicians diplomats administrators journalists teachers practitioners in the field of development aid as well as business people The Africa Yearbook has won the ASA 2012 Conover Porter Book Award
