Religion and Extremism Douglas Pratt, 2017-12-14 Focusing on the three monotheistic religions of Judaism Christianity and Islam Douglas Pratt argues that despite a popular focus on Islam extremist Jews and Christians can also enact terror and destruction Religion and Extremism stresses that the ideological rejection of diversity underlies religious extremism resulting in violent behaviours and increasingly in hardening social and religious attitudes and responses An analysis of religiously driven terrorism reveals the presence of a distinctive and rigid form of exclusivity found in these religions In this regard the contemporary resurgence in totalising claims of fundamentalist ideologues is cause for particular concern Pratt reasons that however expressed the motif of the Absolute is central to all but how that absolute is and has been received interpreted and responded to is a matter of great diversity The author asserts that theological Absolutism displays an underlying dynamic whereby these three religions may be led into extremism Religion and Extremism also explores contemporary issues of Islamophobia and mutual extremism identified as reactive co radicalization and concludes by reflecting on how extremism today might be countered

Between Republic and Market Sarah Waters, 2012-07-12 The rise of neo liberal globalisation has posed major challenges for all European countries identifying itself as the key political tension of the coming era Yet it is in France that globalisation has produced the deepest tensions and it is here that it has generated its greatest political resistance The author pursues two separate lines of enquiry First she considers the influence of French political tradition and an enduring legacy of republicanism in shaping contemporary opposition If globalisation poses a greater ideological threat in France than elsewhere this is because it comes into conflict with the foundational values and symbols of the French Republic Secondly she examines contemporary French opposition as a site for political and ideological renewal Many critics now agree that it is within this emergent movement rather than within traditional parties that new forms of political practice and ideology are being invented

The Talibanization of Southeast Asia Bilveer Singh, 2007-10-30 Long before the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 awakened the United States and the Western world to the heightened level of the terrorist threat Southeast Asia had been dealing with this threat The bombing in Bali that killed 202 people many of them Australian tourists was by no means the region s first experience with Islamic extremism which can be traced back to the 1940s and the Darul Islam struggle The most recent group to emerge is Al Jama ah Al Islamiyah AJAI the most potent Islamic terrorist organization to date in the region and the group behind the Bali bombing Understanding the process of Talibanization in Southeast Asia which was once an oasis of moderate Islam in the modern world is a key to unraveling the mystery of the increased radicalization in the region Essentially this involved the establishment of a political system that was more Islamic in character either nationally or within a specific territory of a national state This book analyzes the increasing Talibanization of Southeast Asia a relatively new phenomenon that involves the adoption of Islamist doctrines ideologies and values that are largely militant in character and that for some groups includes the adoption of violence to achieve their goals This has succeeded in posing one of the most serious security challenges to the region since the end of the Cold War Jihadists are operating in small and localized cells even though the broad goals remain the same namely to spread sharia establish an Islamic state and bring down secular regimes As most governments do not have the credibility or the expertise to diminish the threat posed by Islamist extremism Wahhabism and Salafism Southeast Asia is in danger of being Talibanized in the near future
