Ancient Near Eastern Literature and the Hebrew Scriptures About the Fatherhood of God discusses some of the main father god concepts of the people of the Ancient Near East then examines the eighteen occurrences of God s fatherhood specifically mentioned in Hebrew Scripture From these sources the book develops a theology of God s fatherhood that honors both ancient and modern scrutiny Although many studies have explored the subject of the fatherhood of God mostly from the perspective of nonbiblical disciplines and through the lens of Greco Roman mythology this book takes into account the wealth of material from the ancient Near East the birthplace of the Hebrew Scriptures The Rephaim Jonathan Yegorov, 2021-04-12 In The Rephaim Sons of the Gods Jonathan Yegorov provides a new theory regarding the mysterious characters known as Rephaim in Biblical and ancient Near Eastern literature The Rephaim are associated with concepts such as death and the afterlife divinity healing giants and monarchy among others They appear in Ugaritic Phoenician and Biblical texts yet it is difficult to pinpoint their exact function and meaning This study offers a different perspective along with full texts detailed epigraphic analysis and commentary for all of the texts that mention the Rephaim in order to determine their specific importance in societies of the ancient Levant

The Body as Property Sandra Jacobs, 2014-04-24 The Body As Property indicates that physical disfigurement functioned in biblical law to verify legal property acquisition when changes in the status of dependents were formalized It is based on the reality the cuneiform script in particular was developed in Sumer and Mesopotamia for the purpose of record keeping to provide legal proof of ownership where the inscription of a tablet evidenced the sale or transfer of property Legitimate property acquisition was as important in biblical law where physical disfigurements marked dependents in a similar way that the veil or the head covering identified a wife or concubine in ancient Assyrian and Judean societies This is primarily substantiated in the accounts of prescriptive disfigurements namely circumcision and the piercing of a slave's ear both of which were required only when a son or slave was acquired permanently It is further argued that legal entitlement was relevant also to the punitive disfigurements recorded in Exodus 21 22 24 and Deuteronomy 25 11 12 where the physical violation of women was of concern solely as an infringement of male property rights

Ugarit at Seventy-Five K. Lawson Younger, 2007 In the spring of 1928 a Syrian farmer was plowing on the Mediterranean coast near a bay called Minet el Beida His plow ran into a stone just beneath the surface When he examined the obstruction he found a large man made flagstone that led into a tomb in which he found some valuable objects that he sold to a dealer Little did he know what he had discovered In April of 1929 C F A Schaeffer began excavation of the tombs but a month later he moved to the nearby tell of Ras Shamra On the afternoon of May 14 the first inscribed clay tablet came to light thus the beginnings of the study of Ugarit and the Ugaritic language Seventy five years have passed and the impact of this extraordinary discovery is still being felt Its impact on biblical studies perhaps has no equal In February 2005 some of the preeminent Ugaritologists of the present generation gathered at the Midwest Regional meetings of the American Oriental Society to commemorate these 75 years by reading the papers that are now published in this volume The first five essays deal with the Ugaritic texts while the last three deal with archaeological or historical issues King Manasseh and Child Sacrifice Francesca Stavrakopoulou, 2012-10-24 The Hebrew Bible portrays King Manasseh and child sacrifice as the most reprehensible person and the most objectionable practice within the story of Israel This monograph suggests that historically neither were as deviant as the Hebrew Bible appears to insist Through careful historical reconstruction it is argued that Manasseh was one of Judah's most successful monarchs and child sacrifice played a central role in ancient Judahite religious practice The biblical writers motivated by ideological concerns have thus deliberately distorted the truth about Manasseh and child sacrifice A Dictionary of the Ugaritic Language in the Alphabetic Tradition (2 vols) Gregorio del Olmo Lete, Joaquín Sanmartín, 2015-02-04 As any dictionary of a dead language the present aims to indicate the stage reached by the Ugaritic consonantal lexicography and to serve as a reference work This edition includes the whole of the new discovered materials Layout Markers in Biblical Manuscripts and Ugaritic Tablets M.C.A. Korpel, Joseph Oesch, 2021-12-28 Series Pericope 5 Scripture as written and read in antiquity A lucid delimitation of textual units appears to have been a serious concern of ancient scribes In this fifth volume of the Pericope series this is demonstrated in the papers read at the Fourth Pericope Meeting held in connection with the SBL International Meeting at Cambridge 2003 For the first time articles on text division in New Testament manuscripts are included one on the pericope markers in some relatively early manuscripts especially papyri as well as in the four major codices and another article on Codex Boernerianus and papyrus 46 of the letters of Paul Other topics discussed are the setumot and petuchot in Numbers and Amos and the special phrases preceding or following them Is it possible to get more insight in the way the ancient scribes put in the spaces and blank lines in their manuscripts Furthermore the divisions made by Jerome in his commentary on the Book of Isaiah are investigated and the question about the frame story of the Book of Job is it prose or poetry The structural unity of Micah 6 is discussed resulting in some challenging proposals to resolve old exegetical problems The structure of Zechariah 4 is illuminated by data from ancient manuscripts and compared to modern divisions of the chapter Finally a study on physical division markers in ritual texts from Ugarit Babylonia and Israel reveals a long standing tradition of fixed liturgical sequences in the cult The Pericope series aims at making available data on unit delimitation found in biblical and related manuscripts to the scholarly world and provides a platform for evaluating this hitherto largely neglected evidence for the benefit of biblical interpretation Layout Markers in Biblical Manuscripts and Ugaritic Tablets M C A Korpel J M Oesch Preface D J Clark Delimitation Markers in the Book of Numbers W M de Bruin Traces of a Hebrew Text Division in the Bible Commentaries of Jerome R de Hoop The Frame Story of the Book of Job Prose or Verse Job 1 1 5 as a Test Case J C de Moor The Structure of Micah 6 in the Light of Ancient Delimitations M Dijkstra Unit Delimitation and Interpretation in the Book of Amos M C A Korpel Unit Delimitation in Ugaritic

Cultic Texts and Some Babylonian and Hebrew Parallels S E Porter Pericope Markers in Some Early Greek New Testament Manuscripts D Trobisch Structural Markers in New Testament Manuscripts with Special Attention to Observations in Codex Boernerianus G 012 and Papyrus 46 of the Letters of Paul M van Amerongen The Structure of Zechariah 4 A Comparison Between the Divisions in the Masoretic Text Ancient Translations and Modern Commentaries Abbreviations Index of Authors Index of Texts Textiles and Gender in Antiquity Mary Harlow, Cecile Michel, Louise Quillien, 2020-11-12 This volume looks at how the issues of textiles and gender intertwine across three millennia in antiquity and examines continuities and differences across time and space with surprising resonances for the modern world The interplay of gender identity textile production and use is notable on many levels from the question of who was involved in the transformation of raw materials into fabric at one end to the wearing of garments and the construction of identity at the other Textile production has often been considered to follow a linear trajectory from a domestic female activity to a more commercial or industrial male centred mode of production In reality many modes of production co existed and the making of textiles is not so easily grafted onto the labour of one sex or the other Similarly textiles once transformed into garments are often of unisex shape but worn to express the gender of the wearer As shown by the detailed textual source material and the rich illustrations in this volume dress and gender are intimately linked in the visual and written records of antiquity The contributors show how it is common practice in both art and literature not only to use particular garments to characterize one sex or the other but also to undermine characterizations by suggesting that they display features usually associated with the opposite gender
