Literary Florian Sedlmeier, 2014-12-11 The book explores the discursive and theoretical conditions for conceptualizing the postethnic literary It historicizes US multicultural and postcolonial studies as institutionalized discursive formations which constitute a paratext that regulates the reception of literary texts according to the paradigm of representativeness Rather than following that paradigm the study offers an alternative framework by rereading contemporary literary texts for their investment in literary form By means of self reflective intermedial transpositions the writings of Sherman Alexie Chang rae Lee and Jamaica Kincaid insist upon a differentiation between the representation of cultural sign systems or subject positions and the dramatization of individual gestures of authorship As such they form a postethnic literary constellation further probed in the epilogue of the study focused on Dave Eggers Coming Into Contact Annie Merrill Ingram, 2007 A

Mediation in Contemporary Native American Fiction James Ruppert, 1995 Mediation is the term James Ruppert uses to describe his important new theory of reading Native American fiction Focusing on novels of six major contemporary American writers N Scott Momaday James Welch Leslie Silko Gerald Vizenor D Arcy McNickle and Louise Erdrich Ruppert analyzes the ways in which these writers draw upon their bicultural heritage guiding Native and non Native readers alike to a different and expanded understanding of each other's worlds While Native American writers may criticize white society revealing its past and present injustices their emphasis Ruppert argues is on healing survival and continuance Their fiction aims to produce cross cultural understanding rather than divisiveness To that end they articulate the perspectives and values of competing world views In particular they create characters who manifest what Ruppert calls multiple identities determined by both Native and non Native perceptions of the self These writers use a variety of narrative techniques deriving from different cultural traditions They might incorporate Native oral storytelling techniques adapting them to written form or they might reconstruct Native mythologies investing them with new meaning and relevance by applying them to contemporary situations As novel writers they also include features more characteristic of western European writing such as the omniscient narrator or the detective story plot

The Future Imaginary in Indigenous North American Arts and Literatures Kristina Baudemann, 2021-12-30 This book examines the future in Indigenous North American speculative literature and digital arts Asking how different Indigenous works imagine the future and how they negotiate settler colonial visions of what is to come the chapters illustrate that the future is not an immutable entity but a malleable textual digital product that can function as both a colonial tool and a catalyst for decolonization Central to this study is the development of a methodology that helps unearth the signifying structures producing the future in selected works by Darcie Little Badger Gerald Vizenor Stephen Graham Jones Skawennati Danis Goulet Scott Benesiinaabandan Postcommodity Kite Jeff Barnaby and Ryan Singer Drawing on Jason Lewis's future imaginary as the theoretical core the book describes the various forms of textual representation and virtual simulation through which notions of Indigenous continuation are expressed in literary and new media works Arguing that Indigenous authors and artists apply the aesthetics of the future as a strategy in their works the volume conceptualizes its multimedia corpus as a continuously growing archive of and for Indigenous futures
