Remembering Jesus Christian Community Scripture And The Moral Life:

Remembering Jesus Allen Verhey, 2005-06-14 In the past decade many Christians have embraced the What Would Jesus Do campaign which encourages them to base their decisions and actions on this question In Remembering Jesus the book that promises to be his magnum opus Allen Verhey takes a serious look at what Jesus really said and did and applies it to contemporary Christian ethics Verhey asserts that following Jesus requires remembering him and in order to do this Christians must read and understand Scripture where the memory of Jesus is found By remembering Jesus this book contributes to the effort of Christians to discern the shape and style of life worthy of the gospel More specifically this book displays the implications of Christian integrity for sexual medical economic and political ethics seeking to understand what Jesus would really have to say about these issues today While suitable for pastors and general readers looking for biblically based instruction on practical living this superb work also makes an ideal text for courses on Christian ethics A Glass

Darkly David Gareth Jones, R. John Elford, 2010 This book is a sequel to the first volume of New International Studies in Applied Ethics and includes essays from some of the same contributors Like the previous volume the book explores the interface between medicine and theology The essays demonstrate the complementarity evident between the two and examine how those coming from different theological traditions are able to provide helpful insights Points of disagreement and their crucial role in contributing to an understanding of the complexities of the debate are acknowledged Much of the discussion focuses on use of the Bible The contributors show an awareness of the pastoral necessity of providing access to new medical technologies for those in need Out of this emerges a positive view of some of the human benefits of modern medicine and the ways in which Christian theology can engage with it constructively The discussion throughout is related to the wider literature in the field Scripture and Social Justice Stephen P. Prinz, Gregory E. Sterling, 2018-08-10 The essays gathered here provide a panoramic view of current thinking on biblical texts that play important roles in contemporary struggles for social justice either as inspiration or impediment Here from the hands of an ecumenical array of leading biblical scholars are fresh and compelling resources for thinking biblically about what justice is and what it demands Individual essays treat key debates themes and texts locating each within its historical and cultural settings while also linking them to the most pressing justice concerns of the twenty first century The volume aims to challenge academic and ecclesiastical complacency and highlight key avenues for future scholarship and action

Searching the Scriptures Craig A. Evans, Jeremiah J. Johnston, 2015-11-19 This work critically engages the hermeneutical methods used to analyse the New Testament writings so that the lenses through which studies of the texts have been traditionally viewed can be revised Jeremy Hultin contributes an article on the rhetorical use of the chosen citations by Jewish rabbis in their commentary on scripture while Mark Gignilliat writes on the potential implications for viewing Old Testament Scripture in the manner of the early Church exegetes and theologians With these two contributions providing a frame for the other chapters the essays explore a range of topics including the significance of the number 42 in Matthew the study of Wisdom in Matthew the extent to which the four gospels are underlined by Hebrew material if any the use of Hebrew material in shaping New Testament writings and the uses of Scripture in the letters of Paul and the letters to the Hebrews Read separately these articles provide fascinating insights and revisions to established ideas on intertextuality between the Old Hebrew Bible and the New Testament writings Taken together the collection presents a solid argument for the fundamental revision of our current hermeneutical practice in Biblical Studies

Theology and the Experience of Disability Andrew Picard, Myk Habets, 2016-04-28 The Christian gospel compels humanity to embrace deeper ways of being human together that will overcome false divisions and exclusions in search of flourishing and graced communities Presenting both short narratives emerging out of theological reflection on experience and analytical essays arising from engagement in scholarly conversations Theology and the Experience of Disability is a conscious attempt to develop theology by and with people with disabilities instead of theology about people with disabilities A mixture of academic professional practical and or lived experience is brought to the topic in search of constructive multi disciplinary proposals for church and society The result is an interdisciplinary engagement with the constructive possibilities that emerge from a distinctly Christian understanding of disability as lived experience

Reviving Evangelical Ethics Wyndy Corbin Reuschling, 2008-04-01 Classic theories of Aristotle Kant and Mill have influenced Christian thought in morality and ethics for centuries But they can go only so far Wyndy Corbin Reuschling writes in Reviving Evangelical Ethics While the philosophers approach to three key elements virtue duty and utility have been used widely in forming ethical and moral practices Corbin Reuschling sees spiritual danger in their limitations She probes deeply to deconstruct each philosophy then reconstructs a broader biblically based framework for personal and group ethics This introductory text provides helpful biblical and theological reflection for students of Christian ethics Beyond Virtue Ethics Stephen M. Meawad, 2023-05-01 A contemporary model of spiritual struggle shifts the emphasis from virtue's acquisition to its pursuit. Beyond Virtue Ethics offers a distinctive approach to virtue ethics, arguing not simply for the importance of struggle to virtue ethics but that struggle itself is a manifestation of virtue. In doing this, Stephen M. Meawad offers a way of thinking about virtue not simply as a perfected state but as a state that is to a greater or lesser degree a manifestation of the ideal itself, which is not attainable. Meawad affirms the concept of the unity of virtues, that is, the idea that a virtue is not a virtue unless united with other perfected virtues, which is found in God. Insofar as humans grow in unity with God, they too participate in the unity of virtues, although always to an imperfect extent. Meawad rejects a division between ethics and spirituality and provides two concrete examples of this suggested model. The first is the application of this model to the body and its implications for contemporary sexual ethics. The second is a reintegration of ethics and Scripture through the contemporary application of an ancient Patristic divine reading. This book establishes for readers a contemporary model of spiritual struggle, defining it as the exertion of effort in all conceivable dimensions: physical, emotional, psychological, and intellectual, with the intent to attain a semblance of knowledge of and intimacy with Jesus Christ.

Who Will Care for Grandma? Brent R. Kelly, 2009-01-01 It is amazing to realize that much of the Western medical community is in a love-hate relationship with the economics of medicine. Quality Adjusted Life Years (QALYs) is one of the primary methods of guiding many medical decision makers in the allocation of limited medical resources. Herein lies the problem of medicine and economics. It seems that deciding who will receive limited medical resources is a task filled with moral and ethical difficulties, even for those depending on the information obtained from QALY calculations. These moral and ethical difficulties are beyond the scope of sound bites that tout the benefits of universal health care, affordable insurance, or the safety of the free market economy. The breadth of the difficulty is found in the widespread disagreement concerning how the health care system should be distributed or fixed, since most will agree that there is a problem with distributing medical resources. It seemed obvious that some difficult decisions will need to be made, that few are both willing and able to make. This difficulty is particularly true in decisions about health care allocation, and that is where QALYs have been found useful and problematic. Limiting medical care for the elderly based upon their age did not occur until the mid-twentieth century, possibly because the elderly held a unique position of respect in the Western community It is no longer the case that the elderly are given a unique position of respect and dignity Rather it seems that with the increased use of QALY calculations the elderly are in danger of receiving less medical care than they are warranted It is imperative that Christians respond to the ethical implications of significant models of resource allocation that currently assist decision makers in the allocation process such as QALYs The Just and Loving Gaze of God with Us, Second Edition Henry Walter Spaulding, 2024-08-01 In recent years Paul has become the subject of renewed interest among political philosophers These philosophers deploy Paul as a means to deconstruct late modern political issues such as liberalism biopolitics and sovereignty However these philosophers ultimately truncate Paul's message to fit nontheistic materialist ends Such an approach polarizes interpreters often leading either to a full endorsement or full rejection In this work Spaulding adds a needed voice in this conversation By neither fully endorsing or fully rejecting the new approach to Paul Spaulding argues that Paul's message is both materialist and faithful to the Christian tradition Spaulding critically utilizes both the new approach and recent studies in apocalyptic interpretations of Paul in order to articulate a Pauline political theology for our time Pauline apocalyptic emphasizes the already disruptive nature of the incarnation crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth that wrests humanity from under the sovereignty of the fallen powers and places them under the Lordship of Christ Apocalyptic is nourished by the promise of the eschatological hope of the not yet finished work of Christ The church that follows the Lordship of Christ is called forth into being in the tension of the present Lordship of Christ and the not yet transformation of the cosmos Such a tension begets practices that form the political commitment of what philosopher Iris Murdoch calls the just and loving gaze namely the central conviction that in order to live good political lives one must be taught to see The Just and Loving Gaze of God with Us, Second Edition Henry Walter Spaulding III, 2024-08-01 In recent years Paul has become the subject of renewed interest among political philosophers These philosophers deploy Paul as a means to deconstruct late modern political issues such as liberalism biopolitics and sovereignty However these philosophers ultimately truncate Paul's message to fit nontheistic materialist ends Such an approach polarizes interpreters often leading either to a full endorsement or full rejection In this work Spaulding adds a needed voice in this conversation By neither fully endorsing or fully rejecting the new approach to Paul Spaulding argues that Paul's message is both materialist and faithful to the Christian tradition Spaulding critically utilizes both the new approach and recent studies in apocalyptic interpretations of Paul in order to articulate a Pauline political theology for our time Pauline apocalyptic emphasizes the already disruptive nature of the incarnation crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth that wrests humanity from under the sovereignty of the fallen powers and places them under the Lordship of Christ Apocalyptic is nourished by the promise of the eschatological hope of the not yet finished work of Christ The church that follows the Lordship of Christ is called forth into being in the tension of the present Lordship of Christ and the not yet transformation of the cosmos Such a tension begets practices that form the political commitment of what philosopher Iris Murdoch calls the just and loving gaze namely the
