

Remembering Summer

By W.S. Merwin

Being too warm the old lady said to me is better than being too cold I think now in between is the best because you never give it a thought but it goes by too fast I remember the winter how cold it got I could never get warm wherever I was but I don't remember the summer heat like that only the long days the breathing of the trees the evenings with the hens still talking in the lane and the light getting longer in the valley the sound of a bell from down there somewhere I can sit here now still listening to it important Stegner's acute and rich writing reveals in profoundly original ways the troubled fault lines of the relationships that constitute each novella. What happens as Chase appears twice more links the novellas in unexpected and powerful ways giving all three stories their characters and the town of Harrow itself a compelling unity that readers will recall long after the book is finished.

Anne of Ingleside Montgomery L., Ethnic Capital in a Japanese Brazilian Commune Nobuko Adachi, 2017-02-16 This is a book about the power ethnic capital and how it drives both the economics of and the quest for identity in a Japanese Brazilian commune Adachi tells readers what this small diaspora community can teach us about how life in the trenches looks to those on the outskirts of the exploding transnational world economy This book explores the various strategies locals use to compete with others with whom they are linked locally nationally and globally Through the story of Kubo daily life Adachi offers insights into important aspects of social and linguistic theory as well as explicating how cross border relations become more and more intertwined In a sense Kubo s story with its struggles to maintain its identity even its survival in an increasingly globalized world encapsulates many of the problems now faced by smaller communities around the world be they diasporic or regionally entrenched or ethnically racially or religiously composed Adachi explores the motivations for racial and ethnic boundary making based primarily on values and principles rather than purely physiological features by focusing on Kubo and its marketing of supposedly traditional Japanese cultural values in spite of the commune being located in the interior of Brazil To do this she incorporates notions from linguistic anthropology and sociolinguistics including problems of language maintenance the relationships between language and symbolic power and the intricacies of language and gender Doing so helps theorize the tensions between hybridity and purity entailed in the complexities of identity dynamics
