biotechnology and husbandry to descriptions of Mongolian flora and fauna A History of Land Use in Mongolia Elizabeth Endicott,2012-11-12 An illustrated history of the pastoral nomadic way of life in Mongolia this book examines the many challenges that Mongolian herders continue to face in the struggle over natural resources in the post socialist free market era Historical Dictionary of Mongolia Alan J.K. Sanders,2017-08-25 This fourth edition of Historical Dictionary of Mongolia covers the people and organizations that brought Mongolia from revolution and oppression to independence and democracy and its current unprecedented level of national wealth and international growth This is done through a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 1 200 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Mongolia Food & Material Culture Mark McWilliams,2014-07-01 Contains essays on food and material culture presented at the 2013 Oxford Symposium on Food and Cookery Mongolia Henrietta Toth,Guek-Cheng Pang,2018-12-15 Mongolia a landlocked country in East Asia is one of the largest countries in the world as well as one of the most sparsely populated Mongolia is known as the home of Genghis Khan who ruled over nomadic horsemen and founded the Mongol Empire in the thirteenth century and the nation s people are still largely nomadic This book takes readers on a journey through Mongolia exploring its geography history culture and people Special sidebars vivid photographs and maps accompany this informative text Turkmenistan's Foreign Policy Luca Anceschi,2008-07-25 Turkmenistan an independent nation since 1991 is a strategically important Central Asian state This book covers the most significant period of the establishment of the Turkmen political regime At the core of this book is the Doctrine of Positive Neutrality which from 1995 onwards constituted the theoretical backbone for the foreign policy of post Soviet Turkmenistan The author analyses the reason and aim of the concept its significance for and impact on the country s domestic and foreign relations its practical implementation and its transformation into a tool of strengthening of absolute personal authority Furthermore he establishes whether Positive Neutrality has to be seen as a domestic oriented foreign policy which has been used by the Turkmen regime to reinforce its internal position This is the first book length and thorough analysis of Turkmenistan s foreign policy It furthers our understanding of Turkmenistan and provides an informed background for the study of its foreign policy It fills a void in the current literature and it will constitute an essential reference for most scholars and researcher focusing on contemporary Central Asia Russian foreign policy Foreign Policy International Relations and Comparative Politics Ethnicity, Authority, and Power in Central Asia Robert L. Canfield,Gabriele Rasuly-Paleczek,2010-10-04 The peoples of Greater Central Asia not only Inner Asian states of Soviet Union but also those who share similar heritages in adjacent countries like Afghanistan and Pakistan Iran and the Chinese province of Xinjiang have been drawn into more direct and immediate contact since the Soviet collapse Infrastructural improvements and the race by the great powers for access to the region s vital natural resources have allowed these peoples to develop closer ties with each other and the wider world creating new interdependencies and fresh opportunities for interaction and the exercise of influence They are being integrated into a new wider economic and political region which is increasingly significant in world affairs owing to its strategically central location and its complex and uncertain politics However most of its inhabitants are pre eminently concerned with familial and local affairs This work examines the viewpoints and concerns of a selection of groups in terms of four issues government repression ethnic group perspectives devices of mutual support and informal grounds of authority and influence Responding to a need for in depth studies concerning the social structures and practices in the region the book examines trends and issues from the point of view of scholars who have lived and worked on the ground and have sought to understand the conditions and concerns of people in rural as well as urban settings It provides a distinctive and timely perspective on this vital part of the world

Conflict Transformation in Central Asia Christine Bichsel, 2009-01-13 This book provides the first systematic analysis of peace building in Central Asia for inter ethnic conflicts over water and land in the Ferghana Valley based on concrete in depth and on site investigation The core analysis centres on peace building projects in Kyrgyzstan Uzbekistan and Tajikistan by three international aid agencies an international NGO a bilateral governmental donor and a multilateral agency and the shared approach which the donors developed and used for conflict transformation Using ethnographic case material the author critically examines both the theoretical assumptions guiding this approach and its empirical outcomes when put into practice Building on existing work in conflict transformation and the ethnography of international assistance in Central Asia the book sheds light on Western attempts to transform the post socialist societies of Central Asia and provides fresh empirical data on and insights into irrigation practices social institutions and state and identity formation in the Ferghana Valley The book provides a novel and innovative approach to the study of development assistance and peace building It will be of interest to researchers in the field of Central Asian Studies post Soviet Studies Development and Peace and Conflict Studies

Kazakhstan - Ethnicity, Language and Power Bhavna Dave, 2007-09-13 Kazakhstan is emerging as the most dynamic economic and political actor in Central Asia It is the second largest country of the former Soviet Union after the Russian Federation and has rich natural resources particularly oil which is being exploited through massive US investment Kazakhstan has an impressive record of economic growth under the leadership of President Nursultan Nazarbaev and has ambitions to project itself as a modern wealthy civic state with a developed market economy At the same time Kazakhstan is one of the most ethnically diverse countries in the region with very substantial non Kazakh and non Muslim minorities Its political regime has used elements of political clientelism and neo traditional practices to bolster its rule Drawing from extensive ethnographic research interviews and archival materials this book traces the development of national identity and statehood in Kazakhstan focusing in particular on the attempts to build a national state It argues that Russification and Sovietization were not simply top down processes that they provide considerable scope for local initiatives and that Soviet ethnically based affirmative action policies have had a lasting impact on ethnic lite formation and the rise of a distinct brand of national consciousness Post-Conflict Tajikistan John Heathershaw, 2009-05-07 Post Soviet post conflict Tajikistan is an under studied and poorly understood case in conflict studies literature Since 2000 this Central Asian state has seen major political violence end countrywide order emerge and the peace agreement between the parties of the 1990s civil war hold Superficially Tajikistan appears to be a case of successful international intervention for liberal peacebuilding yet the Tajik peace is characterised by authoritarian governance Via discourse analysis and extensive fieldwork including participant observation with international organizations the author examines how peacebuilding is understood and practised The book challenges received wisdom that peacebuilding is a process of democratisation or institutionalisation showing how interventions have inadvertently served to facilitate an increasingly authoritarian peace and fostered popular accommodation and avoidance strategies Chapters investigate assistance to political parties and elections the security sector and community development and illustrate how transformative aims are thwarted whilst success is simulated for an audience of international donors At the same time the book charts the emergence of a legitimate order with properties of authority sovereignty and livelihoods Providing a challenge to the theoretical literature on peacebuilding and concentrating on an under studied Central Asian state this book will be of interest to academics working on Peace Studies International Relations and Central Asian Studies The Politics of Transition in Central Asia and the Caucasus Amanda E Wooden, Christoph H. Stefes, 2009-06-08 Most books on the Caucasus and Central Asia are country by country studies This book on the other hand fills a gap in Central Eurasian studies as one of the few comparative case study books on Central Eurasia covering both the Caucasus and Central Asia it considers key themes right across the two regions highlighting both political change and continuity Comparative case study chapters written by regional experts from a variety of methodological backgrounds provide historical context and evaluate Soviet political legacies and emerging policy outcomes Key topics include the varied types and sources of authoritarianism political opposition and protest politics predetermined outcomes of post Soviet economic choices social and stability impacts of natural resource wealth variations in educational reform international norm influence on gender policy and the power of human rights activists Overall the book provides a thorough up to date overview of what is increasingly becoming a significant area of concern The Military and the State in Central Asia Erica Marat, 2009-10-16 The military played a pivotal role in the political development state functions foreign policy and the daily lives of the people in the Central Asian states from the early twentieth century until the present This book is the first major in depth study of the military institutions in Central Asian states It examines their hidden story the different stages of their development from the early twentieth century until the present and the influence they had on the state and society It effectively combines history sociology of the military and political science and provides deeper insights into how recently formed states function By concentrating extensively on the military this book is an important and a timely contribution to a wide range of disciplines including Central Asian studies and post colonial state and nation building studies Political Islam in Central Asia Emmanuel Karagiannis, 2009-12-04 A comprehensive study of one of the most feared but least understood international Islamist organizations in post Soviet Central Asia Hizb ut Tahrir Using primary sources and first hand accounts it analyses its leadership ideology political methodology and party structure and its future relationship to violence in this key region From Conflict to Autonomy in the Caucasus Arsène Saparov, 2014-08-27 This book is the first historical work to study the creation of ethnic autonomies in the Caucasus in the 1920s the transitional period from Russian Empire to Soviet Union Seventy years later these ethnic autonomies were to become the loci of violent ethno political conflicts which have consistently been blamed on the policies of the Bolsheviks and Stalin According to this view the Soviet leadership deliberately set up ethnic autonomies within the republics thereby giving Moscow unprecedented leverage against each republic From Conflict to Autonomy in the Caucasus questions this assumption by examining three case studies Abkhazia South Ossetia and Nagorno Karabakh are placed within the larger socio political context of transformations taking place in this borderland region during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It examines demographic social and economic consequences of the Russian colonization and resulting replacement of traditional societies and identities with modern ones Based on original Russian language sources and archival materials the book brings together two periods that are usually studied separately the period of the Russian Civil War 1917-20 and the early Soviet period in order to understand the roots of the Bolshevik decision making policy when granting autonomies It argues that rather than being the product of blatant political manipulation this was an attempt at conflict resolution The institution of political autonomy however became a powerful tool for national mobilization during the Soviet era Contributing both to the general understanding of the early Soviet nationality policy and to our understanding of the conflicts that have engulfed the Caucasus region since the 1990s this book will be of interest to scholars of Central Asian studies Russian Soviet history ethnic conflict security studies and International Relations Politics and Oil in Kazakhstan Wojciech Ostrowski, 2010-02-25 In Kazakhstan the oil industry plays a crucial role in its economic and political life due to the country's considerable oil revenues and accompanying conflicting interests As an arena of political struggle this industry provides a good test case for uncovering regime maintenance techniques This book examines the ways in which the post Soviet Kazakh regime has managed to sustain itself in power and the regime maintenance techniques it has used in the process of establishing and upholding its position It scrutinizes the tools that the Kazakh regime employed in order to bring the country's oil industry under its control and while doing so shifts the emphasis from the prevalent zhuz horde tribe and clan based approaches to Kazakh politics towards corporatism and patron client mechanisms of control Based on extensive field work in Kazakhstan and in depth interviews with high ranking representatives of companies working in Kazakhstan's oil and gas industry both local and foreign the National Oil Company and its subsidiaries government agencies foreign diplomats journalists and representatives of oppositional parties and NGOs this book provides a comprehensive study of the issues of politics of oil and state business relationships in Kazakhstan

Party System Formation in Kazakhstan Rico

Isaacs, 2011-03-21 Since the collapse of the Soviet Union Central Asian states have developed liberal constitutional formal institutions. However, at the same time, political phenomena in Central Asia are shaped by informal political behaviour and relations. This relationship is now a critical issue affecting democratization and regime consolidation processes in former Soviet Central Asia, and this book provides an account of the interactive and dynamic relationship between informal and formal politics through the case of party system formation in Kazakhstan. Based on extensive interviews with political actors and a wide range of historical and contemporary documentary sources, the book utilises and develops neopatrimonialism as an analytical concept for studying post-Soviet authoritarian consolidation and failed democratisation. It illustrates how personalism of political office, patronage and patron-client networks, and factional elite conflict have influenced and shaped the institutional constraints affecting party development, the type of emerging parties, and parties' relationship with society. The case of Kazakhstan, however, also demonstrates how in the former Soviet space political parties emerge as central to the legitimization of informal political behavior, the structuring of factional competition, and the consolidation of authoritarianism. The book represents an important contribution to the study of Central Asian Politics.
