Colonial Religion and Indigenous Society in the Archaic Western Mediterranean, C. 750-400 BCE Lela Manning Urquhart, 2010 This project examines the long term responses of indigenous societies in Sicily and Sardinia to colonial religion in the ancient western Mediterranean It conducts a comparative analysis of religious developments among indigenous Greek and Phoenician communities between the 8th and 5th centuries BC It shows that while indigenous communities near Greek colonies in Sicily integrated Greek style material culture and practices into their religious lives those near Phoenician colonies in Sardinia and Sicily showed much less interest in Phoenician material culture and religion This contrast is then explained in terms of the greater social accessibility and more communal features of Greek polis religion which made its practices and material culture broadly attractive across cultural divides in a time of rapid social change     La ceramica fenicia di Sardegna Lorenza Campanella,2000     Beyond the Homeland Claudia Sagona,2008

Despite the flurry of research on aspects of Phoenician culture encompassing their socio economic developments and the mechanics of their settlement of Mediterranean coastal lands the fundamental issue of dating Phoenician achievements remains quite fluid A range of criteria textual sources artefact analysis stratigraphic data and increasingly radiocarbon readings provide a bewildering and sometimes conflicting picture of Phoenician chronology which in many respects remains tenuous and free floating Owing to the nature of Phoenician colonisation its chronology is often compartmentalised into discrete regional units This volume brings together a number of essays focusing squarely on the chronology of the Phoenician Punic world ranging from the homeland to the western settlements The essays are written by specialists in their field who have encapsulated the chronological framework and the problems therein for regions touched by Phoenicians interests A benchmark study Beyond the Homeland will be of value not only to Phoenician Punic scholars but also to those in related fields who need an accessible study in English to navigate the chronological complexities of the field     L'Africa romana Mustapha Khanoussi,2002     Mozia - XII.
