Policy Issues For The 1990s Policy Studies Review Annual Vol9:

Policy Studies Review Annual ,2005 The Experimenting Society William N. Dunn,2024-11-01 An experimenting society is one in which policy relevant knowledge is created It is then critically assessed and communicated in real life or natural settings with the aim of discovering new forms of public action to improve the problem solving capacities of society This latest volume of the distinguished Policy Studies Review Annual series probes evaluates and augments the work of Donald T Campbell on an experimental societies A basic assumption of this volume is that Campbell s perspective supplies a useful way to address increasingly complex and seemingly unmanageable problems facing the United States and other postindustrial societies This volume is also the fourteenth festschrift to be issued by Transaction The focus is on theoretical as well as practical options for creating an experimenting society The rationale for this focus is the belief increasingly shared in the social science and policy making communities alike that researchers are essentially ignorant about how to solve many of the most pressing larger problems of this epoch This frank recognition of ignorance is a prerequisite of genuine scientific and professional curiosity without which knowledge gains are next to impossible to achieve and a precondition of an experimenting society Contributors to this original volume include Steve Fuller Duncan MacRae Jr Anthony S Bryk Robert A Beauregard Rita Mae Kelly Peter Gregware Burkart Holzner B Guy Peters C West Churchman and Ian I Mitroff Their multidisciplinary competencies are at once philosophical methodological and substantive They address such questions as What new or bold policies are available in domains such as education science and urban development In what ways can theoretical knowledge and practical action be fused so as to illuminate or alleviate policy problems What should be done Included are excerpts from Campbell s foundational paper The Experimenting Society as well as a recent article entitled Methods for the Experimenting Society which circulated in unpublished form for many years An unusual feature of the book is Campbell s responses to those who have addressed his work with candor and intelligence It will be of interest to policy studies scholars sociologists and social scientists Knowledge, Power, and Participation in Environmental Policy Analysis Rob Hoppe,William N. Dunn, This volume probes practical dilemmas and competing re search perspectives in environmental policy analysis Scholars working in different fields research traditions societies and policy domains offer significant insights into the processes and consequences of environmental policy making Part 1 Coping with Boundaries describes present day conflict between experts and greater public participation in environmental policy It shows that the institutionalization of increasingly complex environmental problems has led to a conflict between technocracy and democracy Part 2 The Transnational Challenge examines modes of cooperation between grassroots movements scientists and regional authorities in the United States and Canada These and other modes of cooperation laid the foundations for the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement increased the effectiveness of air pollution treaties and increased climate change Part 3 Bio Hazards Policies and Paralysis deals with environmental prob lems closest to the everyday concerns of the public at large because they have immediate implications for food safety and other values Part 4 The Citizens Perspective focuses on citizen vis vis environmental policy noting that in order to make policies work citizens must be willing and able to participate in policy making and cooperate in implementing environmental choices Part 5 Confronting Ordinary and Expert Knowledge explores opportunities and constraints affecting public participation in evaluation of science Part 6 Developments in Research Programming addresses such questions as whether scientists still have opportunities to do the research they want without being interrupted or disturbed by policy makers and other stakeholders Part 7 Policy Sciences Aspirations explores different avenues for improving environmental policy Volume twelve in the PSRA series should inspire further investigations of the relations among knowledge power and participation in environmental policy It will be of timely interest to environmentalists policy makers scholars and the general public Matthijs Hisschemmller is senior researcher at the Institute for Environmental Studies of the Free University in Amsterdam Rob Hoppe is professor and chair of the Policy Studies unit of University of Twente s Faculty of Public Administration and Public Policy William N Dunn is professor of Public Policy and Management in the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs University of Pittsburgh Jerry R Ravetz is director of the Research Methods Consultancy Ltd in London

Consumer Choice Christopher T. Erb, 2017-12-02 The United States health care system is unique among those of other developed economies most significantly because health care is not a legal right in the United States Instead it is considered an employee benefit and a privilege unless one is over age 65 or of low income The United States is the only developed country without some form of universal health care Contributors to this volume represent an interdisciplinary group of academics practitioners and service delivery providers The volume begins with a general examination of the politics of health and social welfare in the United States It then focuses on the importance and role of consumers in the U S economy and dilemmas associated with promoting consumer choice It explores policy issues and challenges in three specific areas controlling health care costs and protecting choice with respect to health care the major challenges to informed choice in health care and barriers to effective health care service delivery Contributors explore changes and reforms that have been introduced within public and privately financed systems over the past ten years Consumer Choice examines in a timely and efficient manner critical social and health policy issues nationally and internationally and the major challenges that face informed choice in health care and social policy Policymakers health care officials and medical personnel in the United States and other countries will find this volume highly informative

Advances in Policy Studies Since 1950 William N. Dunn, Rita Mae Kelly, This latest volume of the Policy Studies Review Annual series brings together leading policy scientists in a comprehensive review of the field s achievements since its professionalization some forty years ago If an advance is defined as an improvement in theory methodology information or practice how does the field measure up And what should its next goals be This unusual compendium of entirely new essays and articles helps to answer such questions On balance the contributors show the record is mixed Policy sciences draw on the theoretical foundations of many disciplines but have not themselves contributed theoretical advances We have more information but information in itself does not constitute an advance Despite improved interaction between academia and government it is difficult to identify new or better policies that have resulted On the other hand there have been impressive advances in methodology procedures for conducting inquiry that yield reliable and relevant policy knowledge In its candid assessment of trends controversies and unsolved problems this volume charts new directions for the policy sciences Winning the Peace John Whylen De Pauw, George A. Luz, 1990 Policymaking under Adversity Yehezkel Dror, 2017-09-29 This groundbreaking study systematically treats recent policymaking trends starting with a reconsideration of salient theoretical issues of policymaking and its study and culminating with a survey of current policy related predicaments in various countries Dror proposes that the task for social science research is to uncover underlying causes of policymaking inadequacies Standard research methods Dror states have been unable to uncover the realities of important decisions made inside governments In order to gain an understanding of pressing predicaments he believes that policymakers need to examine the foundations of contemporary practices of present assumptions and that they need a multiplicity of approaches to policymaking After prescribing a set of requirements that policymaking must satisfy in order to adequately respond to challenges Dror posits several improvements needed in education and in policy decision making The book concludes with an extensive bibliography including numerous important German works not found in other English language studies This book supplements the earlier basic theory and models propounded in Dror's Public Policymaking Reexamined by dealing with current trends As a guide to public policy literature and related works it will be invaluable to students and practitioners

Future Survey Annual 1991 Michael Marien, 1991-01-01 Caring for Elderly Parents Deborah M. Merrill, 1997-05-30 Based on open ended interviews with adult children and children in law this book documents how plain folk from the working and middle classes manage to provide care for their frail elderly parents while simultaneously meeting the obligations of their jobs and their own immediate families Adult children who care for elderly parents are pressured daily trying to juggle the responsibilities of work family and caregiving Deborah Merrill shows how plain folk as one caregiver termed herself from the working and lower middle classes manage to provide care for their frail elderly parents while simultaneously meeting the obligations of their jobs and their own immediate families The evidence is drawn from open ended in depth interviews with adult children and children in law all of whom have worked outside of the home at some point during caregiving Merrill examines the strategies that caregivers use to combine work and caregiving and the accommodations they make in their jobs She also points to the pathways that lead family members to caregiving roles and how those pathways vary according to family history gender and in law status By focusing on class differences in caregiving and pointing to policy implications Merrill has provided an invaluable resource for students researchers and policymakers in social work gerontology family studies and social issues The Political Economy of Central Banking in Emerging Economies Mustafa Yağcı, 2020-09-03

Since the start of the Global Financial Crisis in 2008 research on central banking has gained momentum due to unusual levels of central bank activism and unconventional monetary policy measures in many countries While these policies drew significant attention to advanced economy central banks there has been much less academic focus on central banking in emerging economies This book extends the research on the political economy of central banking by focusing on the emerging economies in Asia Africa Latin America and the European periphery Central banks are at the heart of economic policymaking and their decisions have a significant impact on the social and economic well being of citizens Adopting an interdisciplinary political economy perspective the contributions in this book explore the reciprocal relations between politics economics and central banks and how the global and domestic political economy contexts influence central bank practices The chapters employ diverse theoretical perspectives such as institutional and organizational theory developmental state resource dependency and gender studies drawing on disciplines ranging from politics international relations public policy management finance and sociology This book will appeal to academics and students of central banking political economy and emerging economies as well as professionals and policymakers engaged with central banks monetary policy and economic development Biotechnology in a global economy.
