Yet Korea still must grapple with many intractable problems fueled by its rapid industrialization and uneven growth including unbalanced distribution of wealth concentrated economic power and adversarial relationships between management and labor. Within the context of these sweeping changes this volume explores options for economic and social institutional reform in Korea. Drawing on models of economic development from Japan the United States and Europe a distinguished group of Asian and Western scholars relates the experiences of previously industrialized economies to each facet of Korea's economic system including national management taxation and banking land ownership and use trade and industrial strategy and relations among business ownership management and labor. In so doing the contributors provide valuable insights and fresh proposals for a viable model of social and economic modernization. Throughout the volume the contributors emphasize the importance of Korea's cultural heritage not only in explaining the nation's recent growth but also as a key element of its continued success. By providing an overview of the evolution and interaction of Korean economic political and sociocultural institutions the contributors make clear how these structures mediate the movement between cultural values and economic progress. Asian Economic and Political Issues Frank H. Political Economy of the Environment Simon Dietz,Jonathan Michie,Christine Oughton,2011-02-01 This book is the culmination of several years work by a group of academics policy makers and other professionals looking to understand how alternative economic thinking and indeed thinking from quite different social scientific disciplines could enhance the mainstream economic approach to environmental and natural resource problems Of the editors Dietz comes from the mainstream economics tradition while Michie and Oughton draw explicitly on institutional and evolutionary economics The various authors represent a range of disciplinary backgrounds and approaches This book draws on the strengths of each and all of these approaches to analyse environmental issues and what can be done to tackle these through corporate and public policy The book argues that the need for an inter disciplinary approach Two themes which emerge repeatedly throughout the book are the need for an interdisciplinary theory of technological change and the need for a similarly interdisciplinary approach to the study of human behaviour and how it influences both production and consumption choices The two themes are of course related Resolving environmental questions requires an understanding of their nature of their causes and to the extent that they are anthropogenic of how to change human behaviour These fundamental issues are the focus of the four chapters that form Part 1 of this volume The remainder of the volume develops them in more detail

Environmental Politics in East Asia Mary Alice Haddad,2023-12-21 Once viewed as an environmental hazard to the planet East Asia is now at the forefront of pro environmental policymaking The region s progress has been both remarkable and surprising given the pro business orientation of its political systems and their ideological diversity Through a focus on three environmental policy areas exhibiting different levels of success this Element shows how governments in China Japan South Korea and Taiwan have been able to craft pro environmental policy by working in collaboration with business and societal interests The evolution of the region s eco developmental states has resulted in exceptional progress in the areas of green technology and green finance mixed outcomes in pollution management and negligible improvement in addressing environmental justice As the planet seeks guidance in addressing our collective climate crisis East Asia offers both hope and caution for how we can craft pro environmental policies in diverse political contexts
