WHAT IS AN ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY

An annotated bibliography is a list of citations to books, articles, and documents. Each citation is followed by a brief (usually about 150 words) descriptive and evaluative paragraph, the annotation. The purpose of the annotation is to inform the reader of the relevance, accuracy, and quality of the sources cited.

ANNOTATIONS VS. ABSTRACTS

Abstracts are the purely descriptive summaries often found at the beginning of scholarly journal articles or in periodical indexes. Annotations are descriptive and critical; they expose the author's point of view, clarity and appropriateness of expression, and authority.

THE PROCESS

Creating an annotated bibliography calls for the application of a variety of intellectual skills: concise exposition, succinct analysis, and informed library research.

- I. First, locate and record citations to books, periodicals, and documents that may contain useful information and ideas on your topic. Briefly examine and review the actual items. Then choose those works that provide a variety of perspectives on your topic.
- II. Cite the book, article, or document using the appropriate style.
- III. Write a concise annotation that summarizes the central theme and scope of the book or article. Include one or more sentences that:
 - Evaluate the authority or background of the author
 - Comment on the intended audience
 - Compare or contrast this work with another you have cited or
 - Explain how this work illuminates your bibliography topic

those of lawyers and philosophers As key moral terms like justice solidarity and freedom have come under suspicion in the post Civil Rights era political discussions on the Left have reached an impasse Fugitive Thought reexamines and reinvigorates these concepts through a fresh approach to philosophies of justice and freedom combining the study of legal theory and of prison literature to show how the critiques and moral visions of dissidents and participants in prison movements can contribute to the shaping and realization of workable ethical conceptions Fugitive Thought focuses on writings by black and Latina o lawyers and prisoners to flesh out the philosophical underpinnings of ethical claims within legal theory and prison activism Michael Hames Garca is assistant professor of English and of philosophy interpretation and culture at Binghamton University State University of New York
