Realms Meaning:

Realms of Meaning Thomas Hofmann, 2015-05-12 Realms of Meaning presents an accessible introduction to semantics. It provides an understanding of the way meaning works in natural languages against a background of how we communicate with language. Avoiding theoretical terminology and linguistic theories, it concentrates instead on the analysis of meaning and looks in depth at such subjects as opposites and negatives, modal verbs, prepositions, and word meanings. Examples are chosen mainly from English to provide material for the wider discussion of the principles of the subject, but European, East Asian, and other languages also provide illuminating examples. Meaning and Power in a Southeast Asian Realm Shelly Errington, 2014-07-14 The ruler in the Indic States of Southeast Asia was seen not as the head of state but as the center or navel of the world. Like polities, persons, and houses were and are viewed as centered spaces, locations where spiritual potency can gather. Shelly Errington explores the politics of constituting and maintaining such centered socio-political spaces in a former Indic State called Luwu, which lies in South Sulawesi, Celebes, Indonesia. The meaning of political life and the ways its cultural forms were and are sustained depend on locally construed ideas of power or spiritual potency and the person which the author explores in detail. She views the polity neither as a frame in which political actors pursue advantage nor as a structure for extracting wealth but as a hierarchical system of signs ultimately backed by force, but force which was not fully centralized and whose import must be understood within ideas about spiritual potency widespread in the region. Although focused on Luwu, the book's theoretical scope is wide and it ranges comparatively over a broad geographical area, making a contribution to ethnographic, historical, and regional studies as well as to the study of politics in nonsecular societies. Part One traces how the person, the house, and the polity are constituted symbolically in everyday practices as centered spaces. Part Two examines how centers can be de-centered, while Part Three explores the structure that tended to hold centers together in Luwu and other Indic States. The introduction and the three conclusions, each of the three being broader than the last in comparative scope, locate the author's views with respect to other current theoretical approaches to power and culture. Originally published in 1989, The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out-of-print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press. These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions. The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905. A Coherent Curriculum for Every Student Edmund C. Short, 2019-10-11 This book exhibits a collection of proposals for how school curriculum may be conceived, designed, and realized. These proposals are drawn from writers both past and present who have presented some particular vision of what curriculum could be like for Pre-K-12 schools and have sought to convince others to adopt their proposal for use in some actual school situation. The proposals differ from one another in a variety of ways, including in their purposes, their contents, and their perspectives and thus pose a wealth of options for consideration by those who are planning to change their school curriculum to something new and more suitable for their particular clientele Readers will need to weigh the appeal of various proposals presented here against criteria they have for locating an optimum model for their particular situation The proposals selected for inclusion in this book address the whole of the curriculum all levels all subjects all age groups they deal with entire program change rather than with incidental changes in content program arrangements teaching approaches or other limited alterations This book is intended to be a useful resource for those responsible for making decisions in a particular school or school district or at a broader policy making level about what the entire curriculum should be and should include It draws attention to the work of many thoughtful persons who have dealt with the issue of what a coherent curriculum might be like and who in some instances have set up actual programs based on their ideas

Meaning Paul Elbourne, 2011-10-06 This book offers an introduction to the analysis of meaning Our outstanding ability to communicate is a distinguishing feature of our species To communicate is to convey meaning but what is meaning How do words combine to give us the meanings of sentences And what makes a statement ambiguous or nonsensical These questions and many others are addressed in Paul Elbourne's fascinating guide He opens by asking what kinds of things the meanings of words and sentences could be are they for example abstract objects or psychological entities He then looks at how we understand a sequence of words we have never heard before he considers to what extent the meaning of a sentence can be derived from the words it contains and how to account for the meanings that can't be and he examines the roles played by time place and the shared and unshared assumptions of speakers and hearers He looks at how language interacts with thought and the intriguing question of whether what language we speak affects the way we see the world Meaning as might be expected is far from simple Paul Elbourne explores its complex issues in crystal clear language He draws on approaches developed in linguistics philosophy and psychology assuming a knowledge of none of them in a manner that will appeal to everyone interested in this essential element of human psychology and culture

The Dual Realm Paola Capriolo, 2000 One morning at dawn a woman is walking by the sea when a tidal wave suddenly appears on the horizon approaching the shore at tremendous speed In fear for her life the woman races back into the town up a hill through a wood and takes refuge in a hotel Initially Cara as we come to know her is relieved to be safe inside its protective walls but being unable to ascertain from the staff what has happened down in the town or even to go outside again herself she quickly finds her memories beginning to seem unreal and that her need to know is much less pressing In the dark corridors of this hotel with only formal de personalised waiters strange books and confusing shadowy dreams for company Cara feels both oppressed and at home However when three other guests arrive her interest in the outside world is suddenly revived and she is encouraged to contemplate the possibility of leaving the hotel with them on their departure

Rickert's Relevance Zijdeveld, 2021-10-18 In the wake of the renewed interest in the philosophy of Immanuel Kant the neo Kantian theories of Heinrich Rickert 1863

1936 are increasingly drawing attention This monograph is an attempt to rescue Rickert from an undeserved oblivion by an analysis of his systematic philosophy of values The author discusses Rickert s epistemology and ontology which lay the foundation for a methodology of the Natural Sciences and the Humanities In Rickert s view these types of science are not in opposition to each other but operate on a continuum between two extremes a generalizing natural scientific and an individualizing cultural scientific approach to reality The social sciences in particular operate on this continuum in a flexible manner sometimes close to the natural scientific pole as in the case of experimental psychology or econometrics sometimes close to the cultural scientific approach as in the case of cultural sociology or cultural history Thus there is in Rickert s logic of science no room for any methodological quarrel

Through a Lens Darkly Marjorie Hewitt Suchocki, 2015-01-16 What if we ask questions concerning sin and redemption outside of the religious or theological milieu After all sin functions something like religious code language for that which is problematic in human existence But all humans deal with our fragility and our penchant for harming ourselves or others and all humans seek to resolve these issues Might the religious community learn from those outside our gates Accordingly in this book a theologian seeks to gain insight from the way seven outstanding filmmakers of our time set up the problems of human existence and seek to resolve them over a series of their films Explore with her how Clint Eastwood Woody Allen Spike Lee the Coen brothers John Sayles Ang Lee and Terrence Malick define human problems and explore resolutions mark the overlap with Christianity but more importantly ponder the contrasts You ll never watch films the same way again
