

An artistic illustration of a woman with long dark hair, wearing a yellow sari and dark sunglasses, sitting in a small wooden boat. A red electric guitar is positioned next to her. The boat is on a body of water with lily pads. In the background, there are dark, silhouetted hills and a small building with a thatched roof. The sky is a mix of blue and orange, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall style is painterly and evocative.

Rebels And Romantics:

A Narrative of Rebels and Romantics Joseph Freeman, 1938 Claude McKay, Rebel Sojourner in the Harlem Renaissance Wayne F. Cooper, 1996-02 Cooper paints a meticulous and absorbing portrait of McKay's restless artistic intellectual and political odyssey The definitive biography on McKay Choice Although recognized today as one of the genuine pioneers of black literature in this century the author of If We Must Die Home to Harlem Banana Bottom and A Long Way from Home among other works Claude McKay 1890-1948 died penniless and almost forgotten in a Chicago hospital In this masterly study Wayne Cooper presents a fascinating detailed account of McKay's complex chaotic and frequently contradictory life In his poetry and fiction as well as in his political and social commentaries McKay searched for a solid foundation for a valid black identity among the working class cultures of the West Indies and the United States He was an undeniably important predecessor to such younger writers of the Harlem Renaissance as Langston Hughes and Countee Cullen and also to influential West Indian and African writers such as C. L. R. James and Aimé Césaire Knowledge of his life adds important dimensions to our understanding of American radicalism the expatriates of the 1920s and American literature Mr Cooper's most original contribution is his careful and perceptive analysis of McKay's nonfiction writing especially his social and political commentary which often contained prophetic statements on a range of important social political and historical issues New York Times Book Review Spirits of Fire G. A. Rosso, Daniel P. Watkins, 1990 This work is a compilation of twelve essays on romantic literature by practitioners of a resurgent historical criticism sharing the common assumption that no aspect of the object of literary study escapes the conditioning power of historical change Romantic narratives in international politics Alexander Spencer, 2016-07-01 Introducing insights from literary studies and narratology into international relations this study examines the romantic narratives of pirates in Somalia rebels in Libya and private military and security companies in Iraq The Social Imagination of the Romantic Wife in Literature Linda L. Reesman, 2024-11-22 The emergence of social change in the daily lives of English society appeared most noticeably through the Romantic era response of human emotions to a period of reason that has defined the era of Enlightenment scientifically and philosophically Remarkably the dramatic political shift that occurred in 1789 from a French monarchy to a constitutional democracy foreshadowed social changes to the family unit that were more slowly evolving throughout England during the eighteenth century An intellectual movement to educate all members of society strengthened efforts to loosen ecclesiastical control allowing more secular definitions of social roles to emerge The nature of marriage during this period in England is central to understanding how the marriage covenant became a widely accepted civil contract Examining the sentiments of passion and virtue the dynamics of traditional marriage emerge through newly established perspectives The role of the wife as a Romantic era concept tells the story of two women through their married lives and literary identities The social imagination provides a new perspective on domestic concerns to illuminate a feminine aspect of the literary market through an understanding of the ordinary wife among female writers Moreover a specific focus on marriage virtue and friendship as seen through two relationships examines individuals who define both a traditional and a non conforming approach to their domestic lives Two husbands who were political and religious activists with wives who were atypical domestics were chosen to exemplify the effects of social change on their particular lives and marital roles in an expanding literary world

ROMANTIC MOVEMENT: A Journey to Nature, Beauty and Imagination, Idealization of Women and Rejection of Industrialization Rakesh Rathod (MA English,2019-01-01 In vain I have struggled It will not do My feelings will not be repressed You must allow me to tell you how ardently I admire and love you Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen Changes in society beginning in the 18th century and continuing into our own time underlie the Romantic Movement It starts as a reaction against the intellectualism of the Enlightenment against the rigidity of social structures protecting privilege and against the materialism of an age which in the first stirring of the Industrial Revolution already shows signs of making workers the slaves of machinery and of creating squalid urban environments

The Romanticism of Contemporary Theory Justin Clemens,2017-03-02 Using Phillipe Lacoue Labarthe and Jean Luc Nancy s groundbreaking study of the persistence of German Idealist philosophy as his starting point Justin Clemens presents a valuable study of the links between Romanticism and contemporary theory The central contention of this book is that contemporary theory is still essentially Romantic despite all its declarations to the contrary and despite all its attempts to elude or exceed the limits bequeathed it by Romantic thought The argument focuses on the ruses of Romanticism s indefinable character under two main rubrics Contexts and Interventions The first three chapters investigate Contexts examining some of the broad trends in the historical and institutional development of Romantic criticism the second section Interventions comprises close readings of the work of Jacques Lacan Gilles Deleuze and F lix Guattari Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick

Ian Hunter and Alain Badiou In the first chapter Clemens identifies and traces the development of two interlocking recurrent themes in Romantic criticism the Romantic desire to escape Romanticism and the problem posed to aesthetico philosophical thought by the modern domiciliation of philosophy in the university He develops these themes in the second chapter by examining the link forged between aesthetics and the subject in the work of Immanuel Kant In the third chapter Clemens shows how the Romantic problems of the academic institution and aesthetics were effectively bound together by the philosophical diagnosis of nihilism Chapter Four focuses on two key moments in the work of Jacques Lacan his theory of the mirror stage and his formulas of sexuation and demonstrates how Lacan returns to the grounding claims of Kantian aesthetics in such a way as to render him complicit with the Romantic thought he often seems to contest In the following chapter taking Deleuze and Guattari s notion of multiplicity as a guiding thread Clemens links their account to their professed anti Platonism showing how they find themselves forced back onto emblematically Romantic arguments Chapter Six provides a close reading of Sedgwick s most influential text Epistemology of the Closet Clemens reading localizes her practice both in the newly consolidated academic field of Queer Theory and in a conceptual genealogy whose roots can be traced back to a particular anti Enlightenment strain of Romanticism Clemens next turns to the professedly anti Romantic arguments of Ian Hunter a major figure in the ongoing re writing of modern histories of education In the final chapter he examines the work of the contemporary French philosopher Alain Badiou Clemens argues that if Badiou s hostility to the diagnosis of nihilism his return to Plato and mathematics and his expulsion of poetry from philosophical method all place him at a genuine distance from dominant Romantic trends even this attempt admits ciphered Romantic elements This study will be of interest to literary theorists philosophers political theorists and cultural studies scholars
