GEORGIAN REMINISCENCES*

II

We reached Victoria Station early one grey September morning. It was my first visit to London or to England and I was thrilled by everything, from the curious smell of English tobacco which greeted me at Newhaven and the terribly tidy and proper appearance of the countryside, to the long terraces of tall, grimy-looking, flat-faced houses peering down on the streets, for all like eyebrowless monsters—I had been accustomed to overhanging eaves and cornices over the windows. Even the greyness, so luminous and full of colour, did not depress me as it seemed to depress Monro, who was very silent and thoughtful, obviously not at all pleased to be back in London. Now and again I caught him looking at me with an expression of mild amusement on his face.

After spending a couple of days at the noisy Strand Palace Hotel, my first experience of a hotel with rooms running into the thousands, and in the quieter but dingier Haxell's Hotel, just round the corner, we were very glad to move into a set of chambers in South Square, Gray's Inn, and to settle down. The rooms were old and panelled in oak and the owner—a friend of Monro's—in furnishing them had contrived to preserve their old-world, peaceful Georgian atmosphere, which we both loved. It was this preference for Georgian London, quite as much as other considerations that, later on, was to make Monro choose an old and somewhat dilapidated house of that period in Devonshire Street, Theobald's Road, in the very heart of Bloomsbury, which at that time had not yet become the favourite quarter of the younger highbrows, as the first home of the Poetry Bookshop. Not far from us, on the other side of the Inn, 'Eddie' Marsh, who was to play such an important part in the spread of "Georgian" Poetry, had a handsome set of chambers, full of fine drawings and watercolours by young artists as well as by Eighteenth century masters, where Rupert Brooke used

* The first part of these Reminiscences, published in the April issue, were already in the press when the news reached me of Monro's death, too late to make any alterations.

Reminiscences Of A Georgian Social Demo:

Russian Social Democracy and the Legal Labour Movement, 1906-11 Geoffrey Swain, 1983-06-18 The Cambridge History of Socialism: Volume 2 Marcel van der Linden, 2022-11-24 This volume describes the various movements and parties across all six continents that wanted social change through state transformation It begins with a reconstruction of social democracy s trajectories from the 1870s until the present The evolution of socialism on different continents is illustrated through a number of national case studies Experiments at a subnational level for example municipal socialism are also explored as are the varying experiences of international umbrella organizations The next part focuses on divergent socialist experiments and ideologies in several parts of the world including South Asia Africa the Arab world Brazil Venezuela and Israel Palestine followed by an overview of independent socialist movements including left socialist parties of the 1930s and the post war period and the global New Left since its beginnings in the 1950s The volume concludes with critical essays on socialism s long term and global development Three Who Made a Revolution Bertram D. Wolfe, 2001-09-19 The lives of three men who made the Russian Revolution possible Lenin Trotsky and Stalin are the focus of this biographical account of the rise of socialism in the late 19th and early 20th centuries Bertram Wolfe a political scientist and historian of Russia knew Trotsky and Stalin personally and here brings his profound insider s knowledge to bear on his subjects Three Who Made a Revolution recounts the early lives and influences of the three leaders and shows the development of their diverging ideologies as decades gave strength to their cause and brought Russia closer to its turning point a revolution that would alter the course of the twentieth century Zinbun ,2011 Slavic Review ,1970 Coverage of Russian Eurasian and East European issues Iranian-Russian Encounters Stephanie Cronin, 2013 Over the past two hundred years encounters between Iran and Russia have been both rich and complex This book explores the myriad dimensions of the Iranian Russian encounter during a dramatic period which saw both Iran and Russia subject to revolutionary upheavals and transformed from multinational dynastic empires typical of the nineteenth century to modernizing authoritarian states typical of the twentieth The collection provides a fresh perspective on traditional preoccupations of international relations wars and diplomacy the hostility of opposing nationalisms the Russian imperial menace in the nineteenth century and the Soviet threat in the twentieth Going beyond the traditional this book examines subaltern as well as elite relations and combines a cultural social and intellectual dimension with the political and diplomatic In doing so the book seeks to construct a new discourse which contests the notion of an implacable enmity between Iran and Russia Bringing together leading scholars in the field this book demonstrates extensive use of family archives Iranian Russian and Caucasian travelogues and memoirs and newly available archives in both Iran and the countries of the former Soviet Union Providing essential background to current international tensions this book will be of particular use to students and scholars with an interest in the Middle East and Russia The Making of Modern Georgia, 1918-2012 Stephen F. Jones, 2014-03-14 When most of Eastern Europe was struggling with dictatorships of one kind or another the Democratic Republic of Georgia 1918 1921 established a constitution a parliamentary system with national elections an active opposition and a free press Like the Democratic Republic of Georgia in 1918 its successors emerged after 1991 from a bankrupt empire and faced yet again the task of establishing a new economic political and social system from scratch In both 1918 and 1991 Georgia was confronted with a hostile Russia and followed a pro Western and pro democratic course The top regional experts in this book explore the domestic and external parallels between the Georgian post colonial governments of the early twentieth and twenty first centuries How did the inexperienced Georgian leaders in both eras deal with the challenge of secessionism what were their state building strategies and what did democracy mean to them What did their electoral systems look like why were their economic strategies so different and how did they negotiate with the international community neighbouring threats These are the central challenges of transitional governments around the world today Georgia s experience over one hundred years suggests that both history and contemporary political analysis offer the best and most interesting explanation of the often ambivalent outcomes

Three who Made a Revolution Bertram David Wolfe,1964 The Library Catalogs of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, Stanford University Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace,1969 THREE WHO MADE A REVOLUTION A BIOGRAPHICAL HISTORY BERTRAM D.
