Manet And The Family Romance:

Manet and the Family Romance Nancy Locke, 2001
Edouard Manet's paintings have long been recognized for being visually compelling and uniquely recalcitrant. While critics have noted the presence of family members and intimates in paintings such as Le Déjeuner sur l'herbe, Nancy Locke takes an unprecedented look at the significance of the artist's family relationships for his art. Locke argues that a kind of mythology of the family or Freudian family romance frequently structures Manet's compositional decisions and choice of models. By looking at the representation of the family as a volatile mechanism for the development of sexuality and of repression, conflict and desire, Locke brings powerful new interpretations to some of Manet's most complex works. Locke considers for example the impact of a father-son drama rooted in a closely guarded family secret: the adultery of Manet's father and the status of Léon Leenhoff. Her nuanced exploration of the implications of this story that Manet in fact married his father's mistress makes us look afresh at even well-known paintings such as Olympia. This book sheds new light on Manet's infamous interest in gypsies, street musicians and itinerants as Locke analyzes the activities of Manet's father as a civil judge. She also reexamines the close friendship between Manet and the Impressionist painter Berthe Morisot, who married Manet's brother. Morisot becomes the subject of a series of meditations on the elusiveness of the self, the transience of identity and conflicting concerns with appearances and respectability. Manet and the Family Romance offers an entirely new set of arguments about the cultural forces that shaped these alluring paintings.

"French Paintings of Childhood and Adolescence, 1848-1886" Anna Green, 2017-07-05
The premise of Anna Green's timely and original book is that nineteenth-century representations of childhood and adolescence in paintings but also in other forms of visual culture and in diverse written discourses of the period are critical for understanding modernity. Whilst such well-worn signifiers for modernity as the city, the dandy and the prostitute have been well-mined, childhood and adolescence have not. Paintings of the young produced in France from 1848 to 1886, Green contends, inform not only our understanding of modern life but also our perception of modernist or avant-garde painting. Figuring largely are Manet and the Impressionists as well as a gamut of more traditional painters of children who are crucial in providing context for the avant-garde. Because modernity is an essentially urban phenomenon, Green's focus is primarily on the city, usually Parisian child. The painted youth of her study are organized initially by class and gender. Then the chapters are structured according to themes: parent-child relations, modes of discipline, work, education and play, the spectacle, sexuality that straddle the congruences among the book's triple trajectory: the young, their modernist representations and the experience of modernity. Green's interdisciplinary approach ensures that this book will be of interest not only to art historians but to all those concerned with the cultural and social history of childhood.

Is Paris Still the Capital of the Nineteenth Century? Hollis Clayson,2017-07-05 Is Paris Still the Capital of the Nineteenth Century The question that guides this volume stems from Walter Benjamin s studies of nineteenth century Parisian culture as the apex of capitalist aesthetics Thirteen scholars test Benjamin s ideas about the centrality of Paris formulated in the 1930s from a variety of methodological perspectives Many investigate the underpinnings of the French capital s reputation and mythic force which was based largely upon the city s capacity to put itself on display Some of the authors reassess the famed centrality of Paris from the vantage point of our globalized twenty first century by acknowledging its entanglements with South Africa Turkey Japan and the United States The volume equally studies a broader range of media than Benjamin did himself from modernist painting and printmaking photography and illustration to urban planning The essays conclude that Paris did in many ways function as the epicenter of modernity s international reach especially in the years from 1850 to 1900 but did so only as a consequence of the idiosyncratic force of its mythic image Above all the essays affirm that the study of late nineteenth century Paris still requires nimble and innovative approaches commensurate with its legend and global aura

Gender, Space, and the Gaze in Post-Haussmann Visual Culture Temma Balducci,2017-03-27 Charles Baudelaire s fl neur as described in his 1863 essay The Painter of Modern Life remains central to understandings of gender space and the gaze in late nineteenth century Paris despite misgivings by some scholars Baudelaire s privileged and leisurely figure at home on the boulevards underlies theorizations of bourgeois masculinity and by implication bourgeois femininity whereby men gaze and roam urban spaces unreservedly while women lacking the freedom to either gaze or roam are wedded to domesticity In challenging this tired paradigm and offering fresh ways to consider how gender space and the gaze were constructed this book attends to several neglected elements of visual and written culture the ubiquitous male beggar as the true denizen of the boulevard the abundant depictions of well to do women looking sometimes at men the popularity of windows and balconies as viewing perches and the overwhelming emphasis given by both male and female artists to domestic scenes The book s premise that gender space and the gaze have been too narrowly conceived by a scholarly embrace of Baudelaire s fl neur is supported across the cultural spectrum by period sources that include art criticism high and low visual culture newspapers novels prescriptive and travel literature architectural practices interior design trends and fashion journals

Discomfort Food Marni Reva Kessler, 2021-02-02 An intricate and provocative journey through nineteenth century depictions of food and the often uncomfortable feelings they evoke At a time when chefs are celebrities and beautifully illustrated cookbooks blogs and Instagram posts make our mouths water scholar Marni Reva Kessler trains her inquisitive eye on the depictions of food in nineteenth century French art Arguing that disjointed senses of anxiety nostalgia and melancholy underlie the superficial abundance in works by Manet Degas and others Kessler shows how in their images food presented a spectrum of pleasure and unease associated with modern life Utilizing close analysis and deep archival research Kessler discovers the complex narratives behind such beloved works as Manet s Fish Still Life and Antoine Vollon s Internet famous Mound of Butter Kessler brings to these works an expansive historical review creating interpretations rich in nuance and theoretical implications She also transforms the traditional paradigm for study of images of edible subjects showing that simple categorization as still life is not sufficient Discomfort Food marks an important contribution to conversations about a fundamental theme that unites us as humans food Suggestive and accessible it reveals the very personal often uncomfortable feelings hiding within the relationship between ourselves and the representations of what we eat

Cézanne's Gravity Carol Armstrong, 2018-11-13 A transformative study freeing the artist from outdated art historical narratives and revealing his work as newly strange again C zanne s Gravity is an ambitious reassessment of the paintings of Paul C zanne 1839 1906 Whereas previous studies have often looked at the artist s work for its influence on his successors and on the development of abstraction Carol Armstrong untethers it from this timeline examining C zanne s painting as a phenomenological and intellectual endeavor Armstrong uses an interdisciplinary approach to analyze C zanne s work pairing the painter with artists and thinkers who came after him including Roger Fry Virginia Woolf Albert Einstein Maurice Merleau Ponty Rainer Maria Rilke R D Laing and Helen Frankenthaler Through these pairings Armstrong addresses diverse subjects that illuminate C zanne s painting from the nonlinear narratives of modernist literature and the ways in which space and time act on objects to color sensation and the schizophrenic mind C zanne s Gravity attends to both the physicality of the artist s works and the weight they bear on the history of art This distinctive serious doubts about the power of collectivism in art and life Fantin Latour's monumental group portraits and related works by his friends and colleagues from the 1850s through the 1880s represent varied visions of collective identity and test the limits of association as both a social and an artistic pursuit By examining the bonds and frictions that animated their social circles Fantin Latour and his cohorts developed a new pictorial language for the modern group one of fragmentation exclusion and willful withdrawal into interior space that nonetheless presented individuality as radically relational

"Manet, Wagner, and the Musical Culture of Their Time " Therese Dolan, 2017-07-05 How did the tumult caused by German composer Richard Wagner result in the first modernist painting In the first full length book dedicated to the study of Edouard Manet and music art historian Therese Dolan demonstrates that the 1862 painting Music in the Tuileries represents the progressive musical culture of his time heretofore read by scholars predominantly through the words of Charles Baudelaire Dolan sees in this painting's radical style the conceptual shift to modernism in both painting and music a transition that she convincingly argues received a strong impetus from Manet's Music in the Tuileries and Wagner's controversial Tannhäuser which premiered the previous year Supplemental to analysis of the painting Dolan incorporates discussion of texts by Theophile Gautier Champfleury and Baudelaire who are represented in the painting This book incorporates studies of the major artistic literary and musical figures of nineteenth century France It represents an important contribution to an understanding of French culture in the third quarter of the nineteenth century a period of intense literary artistic and musical activity that formed the crucible for modernism Representations, 2001

The Judgment of Paris Ross King, 2012-01-11 Another fascinating book by the author of Brunelleschi's Dome and Michelangelo and the Pope's Ceiling a saga of artistic rivalry and cultural upheaval in the decade leading to the birth of Impressionism If there were two men who were absolutely central to artistic life in France in the second half of the nineteenth century they were Edouard Manet and Ernest Meissonier While the former has been labelled the Father of Impressionism and is today a household name the latter has sunk into obscurity It is difficult now to believe that in 1864 when this story begins it was Meissonier who was considered the greatest French artist alive and who received astronomical sums for his work while Manet was derided for his messy paintings of ordinary people and had great difficulty getting any of his work accepted at the all important annual Paris Salon Manet and Meissonier were the Mozart and Salieri of their day one a dangerous challenge to the establishment the other beloved by rulers and the public alike for his painstakingly meticulous oil paintings of historical subjects Out of the fascinating story of their parallel careers Ross King creates a lens through which to view the political tensions that dogged Louis Napoleon during the Second Empire his ignominious downfall and the bloody Paris Commune of 1871 At the same time King paints a wonderfully detailed and vivid portrait of life in an era of radical social change When Manet painted Dejeuner sur l'herbe or Olympia he shocked not only with his casual brushstrokes but with his subject matter top hatted white collar workers and their mistresses were not considered suitable subjects for Art Ross King shows how benign as they might seem today these paintings changed the course of history The struggle between Meissonier and Manet to see their paintings achieve pride of place at the Salon was not just about artistic competitiveness it was about how to see the world Full of fantastic tidbits of information and a colourful cast of characters that includes Baudelaire Courbet and Zola with walk on parts for Monet Renoir Degas and Cezanne The Judgment of Paris casts new light on the birth of Impressionism and takes us to the heart of a time in which the modern French identity was being forged Picturing Children Marilyn R.

Brown, 2017-07-05 The representation of children in modern European visual culture has often been marginalized by Art History as sentimental and trivial For this reason the subject of childhood in relation to art and its production has largely been ignored Confronting this dismissal this unique collection of essays raises new and unexpected issues about the formation of childhood identity in the nineteenth century and makes a significant contribution to the development of interdisciplinary studies within this area Through a range of stimulating and insightful case studies the book charts the development of the Romantic ideal of childhood starting with Rousseau's Emile and attends to its visual social and psychological transformations during the historical period from which Freud's psychoanalytic theories eventually emerged Foremost scholars such as Anne Higonnet Carol Mavor Susan Casteras and Linda A Pollock uncover the means by which children became an important conduit for prevailing social anxieties and demonstrate that the apparently timeless images of them that proliferated at the time should be understood as complex cultural documents Over 50 illustrations enhance this rich and fascinating volume Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29
