Marias Century A Family Saga:

Maria's Century Hilda J. Born, 1997-01-01 For Adam's Sake: A Family Saga in Colonial New England Allegra di Bonaventura, 2013-04-22 Winner of the New England Historical Association's James P. Hanlan Book Award Winner the Association for the Study of Connecticut History's Homer D. Babbidge Jr. Award Incomparably vivid and enthralling a portrait of family life in colonial New England as we are likely to have Wall Street Journal In the tradition of Laurel Thatcher Ulrich's classic A Midwife's Tale comes this groundbreaking narrative by one of America's most promising colonial historians Joshua Hempstead was a well-respected farmer and tradesman in New London, Connecticut. As his remarkable diary kept from 1711 until 1758 reveals he was also a slave owner who owned Adam Jackson for over thirty years. In this engrossing narrative of family life and the slave experience in the colonial North Allegra di Bonaventura describes the complexity of this master-slave relationship and traces the intertwining stories of two families until the eve of the Revolution. Slavery is often left out of our collective memory of New England's history but it was hugely impactful on the central unit of colonial life: the family. In every corner the lines between slavery and freedom were blurred as families across the social spectrum fought to survive. In this enlightening study a new portrait of an era emerges.

Eating Like a Mennonite Marlene Epp, 2023-09-08 Mennonites are often associated with food both by outsiders and by Mennonites themselves. Eating in abundance, eating together, preserving food, and preparing so-called traditional foods are just some of the connections mentioned in cookbooks, food advertising, memoirs, and everyday food talk. Yet since Mennonites are found around the world from Europe to Canada to Mexico from Paraguay to India to the Democratic Republic of the Congo, what can it mean to eat like one? In Eating Like a Mennonite Marlene Epp finds that the answer depends on the eater, on their ancestral history, current home, gender, socio-economic position, family traditions, and personal tastes. Originating in central Europe in the sixteenth century, Mennonites migrated around the world even as their religious teachings historically emphasized their separateness from others. The idea of Mennonite food became a way of maintaining community identity even as unfamiliar environments obliged Mennonites to borrow and learn from their neighbours. Looking at Mennonites past and present, Epp shows that foodstuffs, cuisine, and foodways practices depend on historical and cultural context. She explores how diets have evolved as a result of migration, settlement, and mission; how food and gender identities relate to both power and fear; how cookbooks and recipes are full of social meaning; how experiences and memories of food scarcity shape identity; and how food is an expression of religious beliefs as a symbol in ritual and in acts of charity. From zwieback to tamales and from sauerkraut to spring rolls, Eating Like a Mennonite reveals food as a complex ingredient in ethnic, religious, and personal identities with the ability to create both bonds and boundaries between people.

The Red and the White: A Family Saga of the American West Andrew R. Graybill, 2013-10-07 Winner of the Labriola Center American Indian National Book Award One of the American West's bloodiest and least known massacres is searingly re-created in this generation-spanning history of native-white intermarriage.

National Book Award winning histories such as The Hemingses of Monticello and Slaves in the Family have raised our awareness about America's intimately mixed black and white past. Award winning western historian Andrew R Graybill now sheds light on the overlooked interracial Native white relationships critical in the development of the trans Mississippi West in this multigenerational saga. Beginning in 1844 with the marriage of Montana fur trader Malcolm Clarke and his Piegan Blackfoot bride Coth co co na Graybill traces the family from the mid nineteenth century when such mixed marriages proliferated to the first half of the twentieth when Clarke's children and grandchildren often encountered virulent prejudice. At the center of Graybill's history is the virtually unexamined 1870 Marias Massacre on a par with the more infamous slaughters at Sand Creek and Wounded Knee an episode set in motion by the murder of Malcolm Clarke and in which Clarke's two sons rode with the Second U S Cavalry to kill their own blood relatives.

Mennonite Women in Canada Marlene Epp, 2011-07-15 Mennonite Women in Canada traces the complex social history and multiple identities of Canadian Mennonite women over 200 years. Marlene Epp explores women's roles as prescribed and as lived within the contexts of immigration and settlement household and family church and organizational life work and education and in response to social trends and events. The combined histories of Mennonite women offer a rich and fascinating study of how women actively participate in ordering their lives within ethno religious communities.

Configuring Memory in Czech Family Sagas Marcin Filipowicz, 2021-11-09 Configuring Memory in Czech Family Sagas: The Art of Forgetting in Generic Tradition explores how literature may configure family memory. Family sagas can be viewed as a structure helping us to share our memories. Special attention will be paid to crucial generic motifs within family sagas as well as to elements of the narrative structure which hold powerful memory forming potential. The book proves that this potential can be fulfilled in two ways. The genre under analysis tends to strengthen the bad family memory and consider it as a burden and to encourage one to forget their family past. Despite the prevalence of the saga as a cultural form right across mass media the literary genre of the family saga has not attracted intensive critical acclaim. Readers of this book will not only learn more about the genre of family saga but also be encouraged to reflect on their own family memories.

The Family Saga in the South: Generations and Destinies Robert O. Stephens, 1995 Yearbook of German-American Studies, 1998 Canadian Books in Print.

Author and Title Index, 1975 Family Constellations in Contemporary Ibero-American and Slavic Literatures Anna Artwińska, Ángela Calderón, Jobst Welge, 2024-10-07 This volume examines Ibero American as well as Slavic literatures of the 21st century and studies how historical imaginaries in family narratives are functionalized for both individual and collective and post national identities. The analysis proceeds along three conceptual axes. What these narratives have in common is that they construct specific constellations of the historical imagination and of family whereby family is here conceived not so much as an organic micro unity but rather as changing multiple relations between individual members godparents first and second degree relatives non blood related family members present and absent members adopted children etc. Furthermore these novels are often grounded in trans generational memories They are written by members of a generation that as a rule did not directly experience these historical events It is also significant that these narratives are no longer conceived as representing national identities but paradigmatically speak for a collective that defines itself in regional ethnic religious or ideological terms It seems therefore that these narratives of family constellations are in need of more flexible typological rubrics and interpretive frameworks Intended as a sustained comparative study of these family narratives this volume is a contribution in understanding how historical caesura experiences and their literary representation work on the self understanding of the present
