After Every War, 2013-10-31 They are nine women with much in common all German speaking all poets all personal witnesses to the horror and devastation that was World War II Yet in this deeply moving collection each provides a singularly personal glimpse into the effects of war on language place poetry and womanhood After Every War is a book of translations of women poets living in Europe in the decades before and after World War II Rose Ausländer Elisabeth Langgässer Nelly Sachs Gertrud Kolmar Else Lasker-Schüler Ingeborg Bachmann Marie Luise Kaschnitz Dagmar Nick and Hilde Domin Several of the writers are Jewish and therefore also witnesses and participants in one of the darkest occasions of human cruelty the Holocaust Their poems as well as those of the other writers provide a unique biography of the time but with a difference These poets see public events through the lens of deep private losses They chart the small occasions the bittersweet family ties the fruit dish on a table the lost soul arriving at a railway station in other words the sheer ordinariness through which cataclysm is experienced and by which life is cruelly shattered They reclaim these moments and draw the reader into them The poems are translated and introduced with biographical notes on the authors by renowned Irish poet Eavan Boland Her interest in the topic is not abstract As an Irish woman she has observed the heartbreaking effects of violence on her own country Her experience has drawn her closer to these nine poets enabling her to render into English the beautiful ruminative quality of their work and to present their poems for what they are documentaries of resilience of language of music and of the human spirit in the hardest of times

Parables for Our Time Tania Olden, 2010-04-10 Over the centuries New Testament texts have often been read in ways that reflect and encourage anti-Semitism For example the parable of the wicked husbandmen who kill the son of their landlord in order to seize the land has been used to blame the Jews for the death of Christ Since the Holocaust Christian scholars have increasingly recognized and rejected this inheritance In Parables for Our Time Tania Oldenhage seeks to fashion a biblical hermeneutics that consciously works with memories of the Holocaust New Testament scholars have not directly confronted the horror of Nazi crimes Oldenhage argues but their work has nonetheless been deeply affected by the events of the Holocaust By placing twentieth century biblical scholarship within its specific historical and cultural contexts she is able to trace the process by which the Holocaust gradually moved into the collective consciousness of New Testament scholars both in Germany and in the United States Her focus is on the scholarly interpretation of the parables of Jesus She sets the stage with the work of Wolfgang Harnisch who exemplifies the problems surrounding Holocaust remembrance in the Germany of the 1980s and 1990s She then turns to Joachim Jeremias's eminent work on the parables first published in 1947 Jeremias's anti Jewish rhetoric she argues should be understood not only as a perpetuation of an age old interpretive pattern but as representative of German difficulties in responding to the Holocaust immediately after the war Oldenhage goes on to explore the way in which Jeremias's approach was challenged by biblical scholars in the U S during the 1970s In particular she examines the turn to literature and literary theory exemplified in the works of John Dominic Crossan and Paul Ricoeur Nazi atrocities became part of the cultural reservoir from which Crossan and Ricoeur drew she shows although they never engaged with the historical facts of the Holocaust In conclusion Oldenhage offers her own reading of the parable of the wicked husbandmen demonstrating how the turn from historical to literary criticism opens up the text to interpretation in light of the Holocaust If the parables are to be meaningful in our time she contends we must take account of the troubling resonances between these ancient Christian stories and the atrocities of Auschwitz

Women Writers in German-Speaking Countries Elke P. Frederiksen, Elizabeth G. Ametsbichler, 1998-02-28 Women have contributed to the literature of German speaking countries since the Middle Ages and they continue to write important works at the close of the 20th century While research on texts by women writers in German speaking countries has increased substantially most of these authors remain virtually unknown to English speaking scholars and students The first work of its kind in English this reference book contains alphabetically arranged entries for 54 Austrian German and Swiss women writers such as Hrotsvit von Gandersheim Louise Aston Elfriede Jelinek and Erica Pedretti from the tenth century to the present day Each entry includes a biography a discussion of major themes a survey of criticism and a bibliography of primary and secondary sources An introductory essay overviews the history of literature by women in German speaking countries and an extensive bibliography concludes the volume Women have actively shaped literature in German speaking countries from the Middle Ages to the present day These authors continue to enrich the world of letters and an increasing amount of scholarly attention is given to their writings In spite of their contributions however most of these writers are virtually unknown to English speaking scholars and students And though one of the explicit goals of feminist literary and cultural studies has been to provide a voice to a multitude of diverse authors feminist research still seems to focus heavily on texts by authors such as Christa Wolf Ingeborg Bachmann and Bettina von Arnim or on certain periods in 19th and 20th century German literature and culture As a result many other women authors have faded into obscurity Through entries written by expert contributors this reference book provides insights into the life and writings of 54 women authors from German speaking countries Entries are arranged alphabetically to facilitate use while an appendix lists the writers chronologically Included are profiles of authors from the tenth century to the present day such as Hrotsvit von Gandersheim Louise Aston Elfriede Jelinek and Erica Pedretti Each entry includes a biography a discussion of major themes and stylistic features a survey of criticism and a bibliography of primary and secondary sources An introductory essay overviews the history of literature by women in German speaking countries and provides a theoretical context for the work and an extensive bibliography of secondary sources concludes the volume
