Indonesia's Delimited Maritime Boundaries Vivian Louis

Forbes, 2014-05-06 This book examines the delimited maritime boundaries of Indonesia with its neighbours. It features carefully drawn maps based on the geographical coordinates of the defined maritime boundaries, the reproduction of a complete set of the primary documents with direct relation to the boundaries, and a comprehensive narrative on the geography and the historical development of the archipelagic State. Indonesia has an immense maritime domain that encompasses much of the sea between Australia and the Asian mainland. In addition, Indonesia is itself made up largely of water, in excess of 17 000 islands. Indonesia's archipelagic and territorial waters together form about three fifths of the country's sovereign territory. This book offers readers clear, accessible information on the maritime boundaries of the world's largest archipelagic state.

Southeast Asia Transformed

Chia Lin Sien, 2003 Southeast Asia with a total population of 520 million remains a region characterized by fragmentation, diversity, and considerable internal conflict, despite the unifying influence of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) formed some thirty-five years ago. In the new millennium, it has lost the distinction of being one of the world's faster growing groups of economies since the 1997 financial crisis. While it has benefited from the winds of globalization, it has now to cope with the painful adjustments to problems that stem from the inadequacies of good governance and structural changes.

Resources & Environment in Asia's Marine Sector

It considers both the marine mineral and fish stocks in Asian waters. This extensive volume examines official statistics with an objective eye and provides an overview of fish stock with much focus on the access and management of tuna. It considers global economic issues concerning fishing rights, looks at joint ventures between nations, and considers law enforcement efforts. The volume devotes a section to sea lanes and another to off-shore mineral deposits. It also considers current and growing problems and possible solutions regarding pollution.

Blue Security in the

Indo-Pacific Ian Hall, Troy Lee-Brown, Rebecca Strating, 2024-11-14 This book advances a holistic conceptualisation of maritime security under the term Blue Security and situates it in states across the Indo-Pacific. The Indo-Pacific encompasses a vast space incorporating two of the planet's biggest oceans, the Indian Ocean and Pacific Ocean, as well as littoral and hinterland states home to half the world's population. Security challenges abound across the maritime Indo-Pacific, ranging from the risk of inter-state war at sea to so-called blue crimes like piracy, smuggling, and illegal fishing. Climate change and marine pollution, as well as the over-exploitation of scarce and sometimes fragile resources, also pose threats to human security, sustainability, and biodiversity. Using the concept of Blue Security, this book assesses these various challenges and analyses the approaches to their management used by Indo-Pacific states. It argues that we should embrace a holistic understanding of maritime security, incorporating national, regional, international, human, and environmental dimensions. To that end, it explores the Blue Security strategies of 18 Indo-Pacific states, examining their changing perceptions of threat, their approaches to managing those challenges and their capabilities The volume makes an innovative contribution to our knowledge of a region crucial to global security and prosperity This book will be of interest to students of maritime strategy security studies Asian politics and International Relations The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license
