Maritime Heritage:

Maritime Heritage Amelia Khatri, AI, 2025-03-19 Maritime Heritage unveils the often overlooked maritime history of Africa asserting its central role in global maritime heritage rather than a peripheral one The book challenges Eurocentric narratives by exploring ancient African shipbuilding traditions and extensive pre colonial trade networks It highlights the ingenuity of African societies in crafting vessels suited to various environments and reveals how these networks facilitated the exchange of goods ideas and cultural practices reshaping our understanding of early technological innovation A key insight is the significant contribution of African sailors in global exploration often overshadowed in mainstream historical accounts The book is structured into three major sections beginning with African Shipbuilding Traditions then Maritime Trade Networks and finally African Sailors in Global Exploration It uses a range of sources including archaeological findings and oral histories to give voice to African experiences By adopting an Afrocentric perspective Maritime Heritage challenges prevailing biases and promotes a more inclusive understanding of world history emphasizing the need to critically examine power dynamics that have shaped historical narratives and offering a more nuanced and accurate account of the past

Maritime Heritage in Crisis Richard M. Hutchings, 2016-12-08 Grounded in critical heritage studies and drawing on a Pacific Northwest Coast case study Maritime Heritage in Crisis explores the causes and consequences of the contemporary destruction of Indigenous heritage sites in maritime settings Maritime heritage landscapes are undergoing a period of unprecedented crisis these areas are severely impacted by coastal development continued population growth and climate change Indigenous heritage sites are thought to be particularly vulnerable to these changes and cultural resource management is frequently positioned as a community s first line of defense yet there is increasing evidence that this archaeological technique is an ineffective means of protection Exploring themes of colonial dislocation and displacement Hutchings positions North American archaeology as neoliberal statecraft a tool of government designed to promote and permit the systematic clearance of Indigenous heritage landscapes in advance of economic development Presenting the institution of archaeology and cultural resource management as a grave threat to Indigenous maritime heritage Maritime Heritage in Crisis offers an important lesson on the relationship between neoliberal heritage regimes and global ecological breakdown

P. Rajendran, 2025-07-15     Documenting Maritime Heritage at Risk Elizabeth Shotton, Oriol Prizeman, 2024-01-05

Documenting Maritime Heritage at Risk addresses the risks posed to coastal piers and quays due to climate change the urgent need for documentation and attendant questions regarding long term conservation and the role communities could have in this endeavour Case studies from communities researchers and national agencies offer insights into the documentation and analysis of coastal heritage guidance on survey methodologies and the potential of digital tools Communities living along the coast who are deeply attached to their heritage are facing these threats very directly and often with a sense of having little agency in the discussions or decisions being taken Yet as the book demonstrates they could have a central role to play as first hand observers of the impact of climate change on their heritage The collection offers an overview of the invaluable role of different participants working collectively in the documentation and management of endangered maritime heritage Documenting Maritime Heritage at Risk provides a vital resource for researchers and students engaged in the study of maritime heritage It will also be of great interest to practitioners such as local heritage or conservation officers and marine engineers who bear the primary responsibility for recording and maintaining maritime heritage

Revisiting the Coast: New Practices in Maritime Heritage Joan Lluís Alegret Tejero, Eliseu Carbonell Camós, 2014-07 The texts in this book examine the processes that are currently transforming maritime features into cultural heritage More than the state of maritime culture per se the book focuses on the way in which this heritage is being constructed and used today The authors set out their respective approaches based on ethnographic and historical case studies from all over the Iberian Peninsula Catalonia Galicia Andalusia and the Basque Country and from Yucatan Mexico and Brittany France The aim of presenting these different outlooks on maritime culture as heritage is to help bring together the theory and the practice of maritime heritage

Threats to Our Ocean Heritage: Deep Sea Mining Charlotte Jarvis, 2025-10-21 This open access brief is a pioneering work that is one of the first book publications to cover underwater cultural heritage and deep seabed mining Bringing together a variety of perspectives the work is designed to serve several purposes and educate a few different types of readers The work introduces and offers a history on deep seabed mining the legal context and how it fits into the new UN Convention on Law of the Sea on the Conservation and Sustainable Use of Marine Biological Diversity of Areas beyond National Jurisdiction BBNJ treaty the International Seabed Authority DSM governing body and the ecological impacts of deep seabed mining The brief is also aimed at marine ecologists and other ocean scientists who may already be aware of the DSM and the ecological impacts but not of the cultural heritage at risk It introduces deep water archaeology to them and a few case studies of heritage at risk like in New Zealand or polluting wrecks Finally the book offers suggestions for steps forward and case studies of cultural heritage being included in environmental impact assessments By the end of the book all parties should feel educated enough to begin championing a ban on or more regulations for seabed mining One additional strength of the book is that it gives voice to those without a traditional academic background Intangible cultural heritage has been a hotbed issue in mining regulations and many indigenous voices especially from the Pacific have been loudly outspoken at the ISA While writing thousand word academic journal articles was not in their wheelhouse they have given permission for their speeches to be transcribed and included in the book This will bring a new set of voices into the scientific discourse on the issue The book is also set up to have many images to de mystify the deep and show readers the beauty that must be protected
