Marketing Identities:

Marketing Identities David A. Brenner, 2018-02-05 A study of the first Jewish magazine to explore ethnic identity in early twentieth century Germany Marketing Identities analyzes how Ost und West East and West the first Jewish magazine 1901 1923 published in Berlin by westernized Jews originally from Eastern Europe promoted ethnic identity to Jewish audiences in Germany and throughout the world Using sophisticated techniques of modern marketing such as stereotyping the editors of this highly successful journal attempted to forge a minority consciousness Marketing Identities is thus about the beginnings of ethnicity as we know it in the late twentieth century An interdisciplinary study Marketing Identities illuminates present day discussions in Europe and the Americas regarding the experience and self understanding of minority groups and combines media and cultural studies with German and Jewish history Marketing Identities Through Language E. Martin, 2005-11-30 Elizabeth Martin explores the impact of globalization on the language of French advertising showing that English and global imagery play an important role in tailoring global campaigns to the French market with media companies undeterred by the attempts through legislation to curb language mixing in the media Identities Across Media and Modes Giuliana Garzone, Paola Catenaccio, 2009 The recognition that identity is mutable multi layered and subject to multiple modes of construction and de construction has contributed to problematizing the issues associated with its representation in discourse which has recently been attracting increasing attention in different disciplinary areas Identity representation is the main focus of this volume which analyses instances of multimedia and multimodal communication to the public at large for commercial informative political or cultural purposes In particular it examines the impact of the increasingly sophisticated forms of expression made available by the evolution of communication technologies especially in computer mediated or web based settings but also in more traditional media press cinema TV The basic assumption shared by all contributors is that communication is the locus where identities either collective social or individual are deliberately constructed and negotiated In their variety of topics and approaches the studies collected in this volume testify to the criticality of representing personal professional and organizational identities through the new media as their ability to reach a virtually unlimited audience amplifies the potential political cultural and economic impact of discursive identity constructions They also confirm that new highly sophisticated media can forge identities well beyond the simply iconic or textual representation generating deeply interconnected webs of meaning capable of occupying an expanding and adaptable discursive space Mormon Identities in Transition Douglas Davies, 2016-10-06 This collection of interdisciplinary essays explores the prime concern of Mormon Studies the relationship between knowledge and spirituality and how that relationship has been defined and reinterpreted over time Beginning with an examination of the international prospects for Mormonism at the turn of the century the volume s overarching theme from sociological anthropological and theological approaches is the examination of changing Mormon identities The contributors review the expansion of Mormonism the emotional and social contexts of its historic and contemporary manifestations the distinction between Utah Mormons and the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and issues in Mormon feminism concluding with a valuable review of the sources and documents available for studying Mormonism

Understanding Branding in Higher Education

Anthony Lowrie, 2017-10-25 This book provides a critical theory of branding in higher education The author argues for a higher education for all and positions higher education as a human right necessary for the well being of citizens and democracy Firstly the book introduces the concept of desire as an underpinning for brand theory The author then uses an explication of the concept of relevance linked with desire to further our understanding of higher education as an emancipatory project Chapter 4 explores brand identity which is shown to be a retroactive investment of naming Mathemes are used to illustrate the theory of naming in identity formation Finally the author also examines the idea of the liberal arts and provides an ethnographic and critical discourse analysis of the liberal arts college

The Information Superhighway and Private Households Walter Brenner, Lutz Kolbe, 2012-12-06 Wolfgang Glatthaar International Business Machines IBM Gennany The rapid developments in information technology IT will continue through the coming years New application areas will be added Whereas the use of information technology in the past decade has been concentrated primarily on business and public administration in future the suppliers of information technology will develop an increasing number of applications for the private household see fig 1 Traditional perspective New perspective IT solutions for the IT solutions for the company private household Fig 1 New perspective on information technology This development has already generated considerable market dynamics Latest forecasts for the USA suggest that by 1996 at the latest the private household will present greater sales potential for home computers than business and public administration VI Preface Up to now the use of information technology in the private household has not been regarded as highly significant by either business or science even though PCs have become widespread in the private sphere In the ESPRIT framework there have been individual projects dealing with home networks and in a number of Asian and European countries as well as America experiments with interactive television are taking place Internet and commercial online services are experiencing rapid growth This application area for information technology in the private household which is generating increasing business attention must also be the subject of appropriate research activities

German-Jewish Cultural Identity from 1900 to the Aftermath of the First World War

Elisabeth Albanis, 2013-04-09 By illustrating the quintessentially different self perceptions of three German writers of Jewish background all born in or around 1880 in Berlin this book examines a range of German Jewish identities in a socio cultural context in Wilhelmine Germany Moritz Goldstein 1880 1977 the conflict of his dual identity and the interplay between being a German writer and a cultural Zionist is covered first Particular attention is given to the genesis of his essay Deutsch j discher Parna with its call for Jews to vacate their seats in German literary culture The range of positions unfolding in the debate following its publication in Der Kunstwart in 1912 serves to illustrate the spectrum of German Jewish self definition at the time In the second part the writings of Julius Bab 1880 1955 are examined in so far as they shed light on his advocacy of a synthesis of Deutschtum and Judentum The far side of the spectrum of German Jewish self definition is represented by Ernst Lissauer 1882 1937 who propagated complete assimilation considering the Jewish element as an obstacle which had to be overcome on the road to Deutschtum This study depicts how external cultural and political influences shaped the transformation of their ideas of what it meant to be Jewish in Germany and how they responded to increasing anti-Semitism By recognising the way in which the individual's cultural identity was constantly refashioned in the face of external challenges a fuller understanding of the evolving self perception of German Jews is reached

Pop Culture and Power Dawn H. Currie, Deirdre M. Kelly, 2022-03-01 Literacy education has historically characterized mass media as manipulative towards young people who as a result are in need of close reading skills By contrast Pop Culture and Power treats literacy as a dynamic practice shaped by its social and cultural context It develops a framework to analyse power in its various manifestations arguing that power works through popular culture not as everyday media Pop Culture and Power thus explores media engagement as an opportunity to promote social change Seeing pop culture as a teaching opportunity rather than as a threat Dawn H Currie and Deirdre M Kelly worked with K 12 educators to investigate how pop culture can support teaching for social justice Currie and Kelly began the research for this project with a teacher education seminar in media analysis where participants designed classroom activities using board games popular film music videos and advertisements These activities were later piloted in participants classrooms enabling the authors to identify and address practical issues encountered by student learners Case studies describe the design implementation and retrospective assessment of activities engaging learners in media analysis and production Following the case studies the authors consider how their approach can foster ethical practices when engaging in the digital environment Pop Culture and Power offers theoretically informed yet practical tools that can help educators prepare youth for engagement in our increasingly complex world of mediated meaning making
