Political Struggles In Laos 1930-1954:

Political Struggles in Laos, 1930-1954 Geoffrey C. Gunn, 1988      Contesting Visions of the Lao Past Christopher E. Goscha, Søren Ivarsson, 2003 Laos's emergence as a modern nation state in the 20th century owed much to a complex interplay of internal and external forces. Arguing that the historiography of Laos needs to be understood in this wider context, this study considers how the Lao have written their own nationalist and revolutionary history on the inside while others, the French, Vietnamese, and Thais have attempted to write the history of Laos from the outside for their own political ends. As nationalist historiography like the formation of the nation state does not emerge within a nationalist vacuum but rather is created and contested from inside and out, this incisive volume's approach has applications and implications far beyond Laos.

The Quest for Balance in a Changing Laos Søren Ivarsson, Thommy Svensson, Stein Tønnesson, 1995      Post-war Laos Vattana Pholsena, 2006 Three decades after the conclusion of the civil war that brought the communist Pathet Lao to power, the leaders of the Lao People's Democratic Republic are still searching for a compelling and unifying national identity. As detailed in Postwar Laos, a rigorously researched, cogently argued, and pathbreaking book, Laotian nationalism is caught between the rhetoric of preservation and the desire for modernity. Using fine-grained analysis of substantial ethnographic and archival material, Vattana Pholsena sheds light on the politics of identity, the geographies of memory, and the power of historical narrative in contemporary Laos. Pholsena pays particular attention to the country's ethnic minorities who had been marginalized politically, administratively, and symbolically by the French colonial government which ruled for fifty years, and by its Royal Lao successor. Many members of these minorities fought for the Lao People's Liberation Army in the country's civil war, 1960-1975, though and were thus exposed to the processes of modern politics. The first book to examine the impact of such forces on Laos's ethnic minorities and their perception of Laotian nationalism, Postwar Laos also refines established theories of nationalism. Pholsena addresses a weakness common to all: the tendency to deny agency to individuals who may in fact interpret their relationship to and place within the nation in a variety of ways that change according to time and circumstance. Postwar Laos offers a new perspective on the history of Southeast Asia and more broadly on the formation of national identity that will be welcomed by historians, political scientists, sociologists, ethnographers, and cultural anthropologists alike.

Thailand and the Southeast Asian Networks of The Vietnamese Revolution, 1885-1954

Christopher E. Goscha, 2013-09-05 Christopher Goscha resituates the Vietnamese revolution and war against the French into its Asian context. Breaking with nationalist and colonial historiographies which have largely locked Vietnam into Indochinese or Nation state straightjackets, Goscha takes Thailand as his point of departure for exploring how the Vietnamese revolution was intimately linked to Asia between the birth of the Save the King Movement in 1885 and the Battle of Dien Bien Phu in 1954. But his study is more than just a political history. Goscha brings geography to bear on his subject with a passion. While he considers the little-known political movements of such well-known faces as Phan Boi Chau and Ho Chi Minh across
